Nation's Eyes On Michigan Primary

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN
Associated Press Writer

Light voting was reported in Detroit and in one Upper Peninsula area in the first two hours of voting in the state's presidential primary today, while brisk balloting was reported in President Ford's hometown area of Grand Rapids. The election is seen as crucial for President Ford, who faces a strong challenge and seeks to end a string of primary defeats at the hands of Ronald Reagan. The Detroit vote in the opening two hours was 18,365, compared with 28,441 at the same hour in the 1972 presidential primary.

Detroit City Elections Director George Dunbar called the light turnout "surprising." "It is quite cool out there," he said, noting early morning temperatures of near 50. "and this may have held the vote down and they will be out later in the day."

Skies were sunny in Detroit and over most of the rest of the state, with temperatures generally in the 40s or low 50s. In East Grand Rapids, home town of President Ford, city clerk John Wiersma forecast that 6,000 of the community's 8,000 voters would make it to the polls.

Balloting was reported average to brisk in the adjacent city of Grand Rapids, where there are 118,150 voters. It was even stronger in the city's suburbs. There are 180,000 voters in metropolitan Grand Rapids, an area which sent Ford to Congress in every term starting in 1948 before he rose to the presidency.

In the Ironwood-Gribble County area in the state's Upper Peninsula, a check showed only five persons voted in Ironwood in the first hour, while the nearby community of Bessemer reported only one or two votes in each of its five wards in the opening hour.

More than 1.8 million voters were expected at the polls, which close at 8 p.m. Ford, who represented Grand Rapids in Congress for nearly 26 years, was facing his first statewide test in Michigan. He campaigned on a theme of "peace, prosperity and trust," saying he has brought the economy out of recession during his 21 months in office.

The President, who has lost five of the past six state primaries to Reagan, appealed to residents of his home state for support, saying at one point "this is a crusade, and the chips are down." Ford's campaign manager, Rogers C.B. Morton, said a loss in Michigan would be devastating. But both he and Ford predicted the President would win a majority of the votes and 84 GOP convention delegates.

Beirut Rocket Duel Boosts Bloody Toll

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Moslem and Christian armies fought another dusk-to-dawn duel with rockets and artillery, police said today, leaving at least 207 persons killed and 346 wounded.

"Our morgue is full with unidentified bodies, we have no room for more," said a spokesman for one of Beirut's largest Moslem hospitals.

By police estimates, nearly 500 persons have been killed in the past three days, marking it as one of the bloodiest periods in Lebanon's 13½-month-old civil war that has taken nearly 20,000 lives.

Moslem leftists and their Palestinian allies sent hundreds of Soviet-made rockets slamming into Christian residential areas. Christian gunners answered with barrages of 155mm and 120-mm artillery fire.

Dozens of office buildings in the commercial center and port area were ablaze. Flying shrapnel kept fire brigades out of the zones.

Tanks manned by renegade Christian and Moslem officers from Lebanon's disintegrated 18,000-man army reportedly were locked in combat for control of several ski resorts overlooking a beleaguered Christian enclave north of the capital.

Police reported Moslems on the slopes fired shells into the pine forests surrounding Bkirki, 10 miles north of Beirut and traditional seat of the patriarch of the Maronite Christians.

The Maronites, a Roman Catholic sect and the largest Christian faction in Lebanon, have dominated the presidency and the nation's top army posts since the country gained independence from France 32 years ago.

Libyan Prime Minister Maj. Abdul Salam Jalloud, who arrived on a surprise visit to try his hand at mediating an end to the fighting, appeared to have made little progress. He planned to leave for Syria and then go on to Iraq.

Jalloud's main goal was to reconcile Syria and the Moslem-Palestinian alliance rather than step into the Moslem-Christian warfare. Leftist sources said he had failed to bridge the differences.

A leftist Beirut newspaper, Moharrer, claimed two Syrian army battalions with the soldiers disguised as Syrian-based Palestinian guerrillas, had crossed into northern Lebanon overnight. There was no independent confirmation of the report.

Syrian pressure last month halted a Moslem and Palestinian offensive that had driven Christian forces steadily backward. The intervention led to loud Moslem protests and clashes between Syrian-based Salqa Palestinian units and Lebanese leftists and their Palestinian allies.

Syrian President Hafez Assad has sent thousands of the Salqa Palestinians into Lebanon to try to enforce the cease-fire negotiated by Syria.

Libya's radical leftist regime reportedly provides generous support to the most militant Moslem and Palestinian factions.

Libya joined the ranks of Syria, France, the United States, Saudi Arabia, the Arab League and the Vatican in trying to mediate an end to the war.

Jalloud, accompanied by Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat, arrived Monday from Damascus, where he had met with Assad.

The Libyan official met with Moslem Premier Rashid Karami, and with Arafat and Kamal Jumblat, over-all leader of the Moslem-leftist alliance. Karami said Jalloud "aims at supporting the Palestinian cause and unifying the efforts and ranks that support this cause."

The Moslems are fighting for a greater share of power in Lebanon, dominated since the country was formed after World War II by Christians who are now a 40 per cent minority. The Christians want assurances that the government will control Palestinian refugees and their guerrilla armies in Lebanon.

Bela Kennedy Will Run For Re-Election

State Rep. Bela E. Kennedy (R-Bangor) today announced that he will be a candidate for re-election to the Michigan House of Representatives from the 45th legislative district. Kennedy was first elected to the House in 1971 to fill a vacancy following the death of Rep. Edison V. Root, Jr. He was re-elected in 1972 and 1974. During the current session he is serving as vice-chairman of the retirement committee and as a member of the education, elections and public health committees.

Prior to his election to the House, Kennedy owned and operated a fruit and grain farm near Bangor and was district sales manager for the Haviland Agricultural Chemical Co. Kennedy now lists his occupation as a full-time legislator and has sold a large part of his farm, retaining the part where his centennial home is located.

Kennedy said he is a supporter of the concept of career education and seeks to gain more recognition for the problems of farmers as well as control state spending, improve the state's business climate and better control welfare spending.

"I started my career as a farm laborer. I learned early in life that one can get into a heap of trouble when you spend more than you have coming, therefore, our top priority, in my judgment, must be to put a lid on state spending. Talk of an income tax increase is irresponsible and does not have my support at this time. I am convinced that the taxpayers, and that includes me, have been pushed to the brink and want the state to live within its

"At the same time, we must work for welfare reform. Not to take away from those in real need, but to remove the riders from the welfare train. . . those persons who don't belong there

Milliken Spells Out Plans For Extra State Revenue

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan will get $75 million extra in revenue next fiscal year, but Gov. William Milliken has cautioned the legislature not to start looking for ways to spend it.

Milliken spelled out for state lawmakers Monday where the money should go, and warned against enacting a budget much above his recommended $3.275 billion for the 1976-77 fiscal year.

Milliken said the improving economy will yield additional tax revenue to the state, providing some $20 million above previous estimates from corporate profits.

In addition, he said, the state lottery can be estimated to yield an extra $10 million, and a shift of construction programs to the current fiscal year has reduced the capital outlay requirement by $10 million.

Milliken also recommended that $34.6 million in the Detroit Public School Employees Retirement System be used to finance the current year state appropriation to the retirement system, freeing up a similar amount of money for other areas.

Milliken said the $34.6 million reflects a cost-of-living reserve fund and contingency reserve funds in the city's retirement system which are not required by state law.

But, Milliken said, he has already decided where the extra money must be spent — or at least $66.2 million of it. He warned the legislature it must reduce the size of budget bills now under consideration, which, he said total some $200 million more than his recommendations.

"I am concerned . . . at the level of spending that is being proposed," Milliken said, "and will not hesitate to use my veto where necessary and possible. It is inevitable that there will be adjustments to the bills as proposed, but we cannot open the floodgates to increased spending."

Additional requirements not forecast in his original budget recommendations include, Milliken said:

—An additional $19.2 million for the City of Detroit to help it avert a budget crisis;

—$17 million extra for the Department of Social Services.

—A $30 million shortfall in school aid which results from an overestimation by two per cent of the state's equalized valuation.

The total needed extra money, Milliken said, totals $66.2

Friday They Find Out What's Good For GM

Economic conditions during the past two years have lent support to the late Charles E. Wilson's assertion that "What is good for the country is good for General Motors and vice versa." During the recession year of 1974, GM suffered severe monetary losses. But its fortunes improved in 1975, paralleling the improvement of the economy as a whole. The giant corporation's net income was $300-million greater in 1975 than in 1974.

GM's troubles — and those of other U.S. automobile manufacturers — were initially caused by the gasoline shortage of early 1974 and the resulting drop in demand for big model cars that required large amounts of fuel. To recoup its losses, GM last year embarked on a program of cutting costs and improving production efficiency. Despite higher prices, more cars were sold in 1974, resulting in a $4-billion gain in GM sales.

General Motors employs about 681,000 persons — more than any other

U.S. manufacturing concern. But the employees who benefited most from last year's turnaround were the corporation's top executives. Board Chairman Thomas Murphy and President E. M. Estes each were paid more than $500,000 in 1975, almost double their earnings from the previous year, according to the proxy statement GM issued in April.

The good economic news of 1975 will be welcomed at General Motors' 1976 annual meeting, to be held Friday, May 21, in Detroit. Twenty-three of the corporation's present directors have been nominated for re-election by shareholders. There is one new nominee — John B. deButts, the chairman and chief executive of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. Since most signs point to continuing recovery of the U.S. economy in 1976, GM shareholders and executives presumably will be hoping that their company will reap its share of the nation's good fortune.

Venerable English Plot Of Ground For Sale

American historical and architectural buffs have been fighting one brush war after another to preserve buildings and bits of acreage from the bulldozers and the real estate developers.

In common with such contests, the buffs will win one engagement only to be rendered hors de combat somewhere else.

Not too long ago a group of New Orleans citizens headed off the Louisiana highway from running an interstate spur through town which would for practical purposes have brought an end to the French Quarter. However, at Gettysburg, Penn., Civil War purists failed to halt a promoter from putting up a modern Eiffel Tower from which one can see the entire battleground. They based their protest on the claim of the tower being an architectural affront to the national memory.

Some years ago we lost a contest to prevent the old lighthouse on Lake Boulevard from being torn down for a city parking lot. We managed to stall the project for a year, but failed to generate a march on city hall to save the oldtimer.

Cutting Off His Own Nose!

Transit Chief Beams Plea At St. Joe Township Voters

Editor,
It is blindfold time again. The people of the metro twin cities are again asked to endorse a program without having the facts. I guess no matter what the importance of a program, you can't get any fact out of the local Dial-A-Ride office. I mean by facts, a published statement by a C.P.A. that will put some basis for trust into its statement. It seems that the Department of Transportation gives out statements and forms that are designed to keep the taxpayer ignorant.

If the people in charge will not attempt to tell the taxpayer where the money goes, and will not attempt to say in dollars and cents what it will cost each community then maybe I can shed a little light on a deep secret. As you know, in a previous letter I quoted from a press release from Dial-A-Ride and figured that at the rate of 40¢ average per ride, they took in $280 per day and paid out approximately $1,400 per day, but I will give them the benefit of the doubt and set their budget

To go on from there, the Dial-A-Ride says that it will study a plan to portion the participating amounts according to ridership. This is a salvo to keep the voters of St. Joseph township, the only one with the matter on a ballot before it has to be renewed or disapproved, from deciding that a population percentage rate of $300,000 is too high a price to pay for what they get. So now they inform the people that vote that they will study a plan to get a more even method to determine participation costs. So all things progress and come to pass (at least in story books) now the cost to participate is within a price stated as the maximum that St. Joseph township will donate, $19,200. This is so 13 people per day can ride Dial-A-Ride (the thinking involved here is 15 people go and 15 people return, makes 30 people per day x 300-day operation equals 9,000 people that ride Dial-A-Ride from St. Joseph township last year).

To get back to the problem of figuring out a cost that Dial-A-Ride could publish, this will leave $280,000 to be financed by Benton Harbor, Benton township, and St. Joseph.

According to the propaganda by Dial-A-Ride, the state will participate for the third year operation. NOT TRUE. The state participation is 100 per cent the first year, 30 per cent the second year, and 0 per cent the third year, so that will mean much more money than any politician is willing to admit.

To get back to figures admitted, $45,000 from fare boxes still leaves $235,000 from Benton Harbor (47 per cent or approximately $94,000), Benton township (30 per cent or $70,500) and St. Joseph (15 per cent or $35,000). This is just a fast and rough outline because the actual costs are kept in deep secret or put out in such dismembered order that it does not alarm the

The New Political 'Organization'

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Ex-Governor Jimmy Carter's success to date rests primarily on one asset — organization. So does ex-Governor Ronald Reagan's.

Not the old-line organization which depended on party bosses and endorsements by prominent politicians. But the new-type party organization which depends heavily on inexperienced but enthusiastic amateurs led by hard-headed, unsentimental pragmatic types.

Sen. George McGovern demonstrated the technique in his upset capture of the Democratic nomination the last year-round. However, vague and wobbly the McGovern ideas on foreign affairs, defense and economics, his drive for the candidacy was led by tough-minded men, and fleshed out with an army of hard-driving nonpoliticians — loyal to McGovern rather than the party. Some of the McGovern men have since shown their own ability at winning elections for themselves, against tough opposition, using these same methods.

It has been the tendency of established "traditional" candidates of late to depend on the party apparatus, on labor organizations, on so-called party bosses largely stripped of their own old powers, influence and personal contacts. There are few big names with influence any more.

Ford may still have the inside track on the nomination, because his men signed up delegate states — committed and uncommitted — in big population states, with heavy representation at the Republican convention neglected by the Reagan team. But in those states where Reagan men organized, and Ford men appealed to the apparatus and the big names, the Reagan vote came through and the Ford vote did not. Though Reagan entered late, his workers had been busy for some time.

Carter began especially early in building his own organization. He did not care whether his men and women were in the apparatus or out, whether they were Democrats, Independents or Republicans; whether they were rich, poor or middle. His organizers were like vacuum cleaners; they sought workers wherever workers were — friends of old friends, friends and associates from his Navy days, from his business days in the South and from his days in the legislature and State House in Georgia. And friends of friends of friends.

I have seen this system work time and again in local elections. The amateur, too inexperienced to know his system won't work, defeats the professionals — with their experienced techniques.

In a sense it is like guerrilla war, the experts with their established channels are overwhelmed by numbers of hit-and-run operators; the top party men have never heard or seen before.

The conventional wisdom attributes the Carter and Reagan upsets to a nationwide reaction against Washington and all its ilk. But there's nothing new in this. I cannot remember any time when my neighbors, in whatever state I lived, trusted Washington, or any state government either.

In fact, in my youth if there was any government, my elder and my peers mistrusted more than Washington, it was the government of their state, especially the governor. Both Carter and Reagan, of course, are ex-governors, subject to as much criticism while in office as President Ford the Republican and Presidents Johnson and Kennedy, Democrats.

Parties Undergo A Revolution

Nothing could be more fitting in this Bicentennial year than that we should have another revelation — for that is what we are now witnessing in both of our major political parties.

Mr. James Reston of the New York Times is the perfect voice of the establishment. He actually continues to refer to Jimmy Carter as "Wee Jimmy," which may arouse 300 or so people in Georgetown but is otherwise absurd. Reston also seems to think that Ronald Reagan is an actor and not to be taken seriously.

The twin Democratic and Republican revolutions had long been anticipated, though no one foresaw exactly the form they would take.

Fundamentally, the Carter and Reagan insurrections reflect two large facts: First, the political, economic, and even religious dynamism of the vast South-Southwest "sunbelt" region. And, second, the weakness of the rival Democratic and Republican establishments, neither of which proved capable of assimilating the sunbelt phenomenon.

The Democratic establishment in recent years has been dominated by upper middle-class liberals increasingly out of touch with popular feeling in America.

The Republican establishment appears to understand economics, and President Gerald Ford does deserve high marks for his economic decisions of the past 18 months, but the Republicans seem to understand little else. On the whole, they have been content to preside as caretakers of the Great Society programs and agencies, making no assault upon busing, quotas, government by bureaucracy and judge.

Both establishments failed to comprehend what has been taking place. Indeed, had they understood it, they would have moved to forestall it.

Consider Carter. Who would have predicted last February that the 1976 Democratic nominee would be a man from Plains, Georgia, who disapproves of forced busing, condemns abortion on moral grounds, thinks we ought to have a higher defense budget and must retain "practical" control of the Panama Canal, opposes special aid to New York City, praises "ethnic" neighborhoods, thinks we have been swindled by Henry Kissinger's management of détente, and is the most conspicuously religious individual to run for the presidency since William Jennings Bryan?

Carter is reshaping the Democratic constituency. The statistics show that his support is less urban and more suburban and rural than past Democratic constituencies. He is shifting the demographic center of gravity of the party South and Southwest, and its ideological center rightward.

Consider Reagan. Because the Republican establishment now controls the White House, Reagan's insurgency initially ran into more resistance than Carter's. But the handwriting was on the wall when Reagan scored better than 40 per cent in these early primaries. When he dropped the "eleventh commandment" and went on the attack, the battlelines of the establishment began to tremble and sway. Then came Reagan's storming of the Bastille: North Carolina, Texas, Georgia, Alabama, Indiana, Oklahoma, Louisiana. The Reagan revolution rolls in from the sunbelt, and, as in the Democratic Party, gathers momentum.

Whatever its ultimate destiny, the Reagan insurrection has demonstrated the vulnerability of the present Republican establishment. The pattern of the emerging Reagan vote, moreover — his ability to combine traditional Republican voters with conservative Democrats and Independents — points to the way the Republican Party must go if it is to have any long range future at all.

Friday They Find Out What's Good For GM

Economic conditions during the past two years have lent support to the late Charles E. Wilson's assertion that "What is good for the country is good for General Motors and vice versa." During the recession year of 1974, GM suffered severe monetary losses. But its fortunes improved in 1975, paralleling the improvement of the economy as a whole. The giant corporation's net income was $300-million greater in 1975 than in 1974.

GM's troubles — and those of other U.S. automobile manufacturers — were initially caused by the gasoline shortage of early 1974 and the resulting drop in demand for big model cars that required large amounts of fuel. To recoup its losses, GM last year embarked on a program of cutting costs and improving production efficiency. Despite higher prices, more cars were sold in 1974, resulting in a $4-billion gain in GM sales.

General Motors employs about 681,000 persons — more than any other

U.S. manufacturing concern. But the employees who benefited most from last year's turnaround were the corporation's top executives. Board Chairman Thomas Murphy and President E. M. Estes each were paid more than $500,000 in 1975, almost double their earnings from the previous year, according to the proxy statement GM issued in April.

The good economic news of 1975 will be welcomed at General Motors' 1976 annual meeting, to be held Friday, May 21, in Detroit. Twenty-three of the corporation's present directors have been nominated for re-election by shareholders. There is one new nominee — John B. deButts, the chairman and chief executive of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. Since most signs point to continuing recovery of the U.S. economy in 1976, GM shareholders and executives presumably will be hoping that their company will reap its share of the nation's good fortune.

Venerable English Plot Of Ground For Sale

American historical and architectural buffs have been fighting one brush war after another to preserve buildings and bits of acreage from the bulldozers and the real estate developers.

In common with such contests, the buffs will win one engagement only to be rendered hors de combat somewhere else.

Not too long ago a group of New Orleans citizens headed off the Louisiana highway from running an interstate spur through town which would for practical purposes have brought an end to the French Quarter.

However, at Gettysburg, Penn., Civil War purists failed to halt a promoter from putting up a modern Eiffel Tower from which one can see the entire battleground. They based their protest on the claim of the tower being an architectural affront to the national memory.

Some years ago we lost a contest to prevent the old lighthouse on Lake Boulevard from being torn down for a city parking lot. We managed to stall the project for a year, but failed to generate a march on city hall to save the oldtimer.

Cutting Off His Own Nose!

Transit Chief Beams Plea At St. Joe Township Voters

Editor,
It is blindfold time again. The people of the metro twin cities area are again asked to endorse a program without having the facts. I guess no matter what the importance of a program, you can't get any fact out of the local Dial-A-Ride office. I mean by facts, a published statement by a C.P.A. that will put some basis for trust into its statement. It seems that the Department of Transportation gives out statements and forms that are designed to keep the taxpayer ignorant.

If the people in charge will not attempt to tell the taxpayer where the money goes, and will not attempt to say in dollars and cents what it will cost each community then maybe I can shed a little light on a deep secret. As you know, in a previous letter I quoted from a press release from Dial-A-Ride and figured that at the rate of 40c average per ride, they took in $280 per day and paid out approximately $1,400 per day, but I will give them the benefit of the doubt and set their budget

To go on from there, the Dial-A-Ride says that it will study a plan to portion the participating amounts according to ridership. This is a salve to keep the voters of St. Joseph township, the only one with the matter on a ballot before it has to be renewed or disapproved, from deciding that a population percentage rate of $300,000 is too high a price to pay for what they get.

So now they inform the people that vote that they will study a plan to get a more even method to determine participation costs. So all things progress and come to pass (at least in story books) now the cost to participate is within a price stated as the maximum that St. Joseph township will donate, $19,200. This is so 15 people per day can ride Dial-A-Ride (the thinking involved here is 15 people go and 15 people return, makes 30 people per day x 300-day operation equals 9,000 people that rode Dial-A-Ride from St. Joseph township last year).

To get back to the problem of figuring out a cost that Dial-A-Ride could publish, this will leave $280,000 to be financed by Benton Harbor, Benton township, and St. Joseph.

According to the propaganda by Dial-A-Ride, the state will participate for the third year operation, NOT TRUE. The state participation is 100 per cent the first year, 30 per cent the second year, and 0 per cent the third year, so that will mean much more money than any politician is willing to admit.

To get back to figures admitted, $45,000 from fare boxes still leaves $235,000 from Benton Harbor (47 per cent or approximately $94,000), Benton township (30 per cent or $70,500) and St. Joseph (15 per cent or $35,000). This is just a fast and rough outline because the actual costs are kept in deep secret or put out in such dismembered order that it does not alarm the

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Ex-Governor Jimmy Carter's success to date rests primarily on one asset — organization. So does ex-Governor Ronald Reagan's.

Not the old-line organization which depended on party bosses and endorsements by prominent politicians. But the new-type party organization which depends heavily on inexperienced but enthusiastic amateurs led by hard-headed, unsentimental pragmatic types.

Sen. George McGovern demonstrated the technique in his upset capture of the Democratic nomination the last go-round. However vague and wobbly the McGovern ideas on foreign affairs, defense and economics, his drive for the candidacy was led by tough-minded men, and fleshed out with an army of hard-driving nonpoliticians loyal to McGovern rather than the party. Some of the McGovern men have since shown their own ability at winning elections for themselves against tough opposition, using these same methods.

It has been the tendency of established traditional candidates of late to depend on the fading party apparatus, on labor organizations, on so-called party bosses largely stripped of their own old powers, influence and personal contacts. There are few big names with influence any more.

Ford may still have the inside track on the nomination, because his men signed up delegate slates — committed and uncommitted — in big-population states with heavy representation at the Republican convention neglected by the Reagan team. But in those states where Reagan men organized, and Ford men appealed to the apparatus and the big names, the Reagan vote came through and the Ford vote did not. Though Reagan entered late, his workers had been busy for some time.

Carter began especially early in building his own organization. He did not care whether his men and women were in the apparatus or out, whether they were Democrats, independents or Republicans, whether they were rich, poor or middle. His organizers were like vacuum cleaners; they sought workers wherever workers were — friends of old friends, friends and associates from his Navy days, from his business days in the South and from his days in the legislature and State House in Georgia. And friends of friends of friends.

I have seen this system work time and again in local elections. The amateur, too inexperienced to know his system won't work, defeats the professionals with their experienced techniques.

Judge Declines To Halt BH Recall Vote

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

Voting in Benton Harbor's recall election was underway today after Berrien Circuit Judge Julian Hughes Monday denied an attempt to halt the election.

Hughes declined to issue a restraining order against the election after an eleven-hour suit was filed by Mayor Charles Joseph and four city commissioners, all of whom are on recall ballots today.

Polls at the city's 10 precincts will remain open until 8 o'clock tonight.

No hearing on the suit was held in open court. Hughes denied the restraining order after a conference with counsel for Joseph, and Commissioners Barbara Huckaby, Charles Shepherd, Winston Minott and Alfred Williams.

Hughes said the motion was denied because the suit "failed to show any irreparable damage would arise." The plaintiffs had contended they would suffer irreparable harm because they contended the election is of "questionable legality relative to some of the recall petitions."

The five also claimed they would suffer financial loss because of an election that might have to be challenged, and that the citizens of Benton Harbor might have to bear the costs of an additional election if today's should prove constitutionally impermissible.

The suit was initiated in circuit court by Kalamazoo Atty. Alvin R. Davidson.

On the recall election ballots are the members of the city commission who voted Dec. 29 not to renew the contract of Charles A.

Morrison as city manager.

The recall ballots charge Joseph and the four commissioners with malfeasance, encroaching upon the responsibility of the city manager, interfering with administration of the city, encouraging situations which create conflicts of interest, nepotism and patronage.

The five commission members deny the charges and all, except Williams, contend that Morrison submitted his resignation last June.

At left, first row, is BMI Church D. Howlett, Jr., Nashville, Tenn., who received Achievement medal for rescue of three people from overturned sailboat four miles north of St. Joseph June 13. St. Joe Board Approves Closing Of Milton School

The St. Joseph Board of Education last night voted 5 to 2 to close Milton junior high school, move all ninth graders into the senior high school and put all seventh and eighth graders in Upton junior high school.

The action was taken during a special meeting in the cafeteria of Upton junior high school before approximately 250 parents, teachers, students and administrators.

A companion motion specified that the board of education retain control of the building and a special committee recommend what disposition should be made of the 60-year-old structure located on Niles avenue at Winchester in St. Joseph.

Pleas to keep the building open came from the St. Joseph Improvement association in a statement read by Atty. John Crow, and from individuals. Two junior high school students presented petitions advocating the building be kept open until a smooth transition could be worked out.

There was a definite split in sentiment among the audience toward closing the building. Supt. Burton Aldrich said he thought it was evenly split based on applause following statements pro and con.

Dr. Joseph Naines commented: "economics surfaced the issue and academics resolved it." He made the three-part motion to close the school at the end of the present school year and re-distribute students.

John Pleimier supported Dr. Naines' motion and offered a plan setting up a committee to recommend the disposal of future use of the building.

Voting to close the school were President Ray Dumke, Secretary Linda Griswold, and trustees Freda Sparks, Pleimier and Dr. Naines.

Vice president James Mason and trustee Beverly Linn voted against closing. Mrs. Linn suggested a one mill tax for one year be put on the ballot to give the school district time to make the transition.

Mrs. Sparks said she could not support a bid to ask taxpayers to pay an additional one mill to finance a school "we do not need...." Chad McLelland, 15, Upton eighth grader, submitted a petition signed by 138 of the 188 Upton eighth graders asking the Milton closing be postponed so the transition between junior and senior high schools could be studied.

Kim Johnson, 12, Milton seventh grader, obtained 158 signatures from residents living around her home at 732 Pearl street also urging that Milton not be closed at this time.

Pleimier moved that a committee composed of one resident living within a block of Milton, a realtor, a member of the advisory council, a person designated by the St. Joseph city commission and a delegate from business and professional interests write the recommendations for the committee to determine the use of the building.

The original section of the building was constructed in 1916 and an addition that included the boys' gymnasium was added in 1936. The building housed the high school until the present senior high was built in 1959. It was named for a former principal, Clare Milton.

In other action last night, the board accepted the resignation of Larry Ernst, a music teacher who is retiring after 30 years of teaching, 27 of them in the St. Joseph system.

The board also approved a 1976-77 calendar that calls for teachers to work 185 days from Aug. 31 to June 10. Students will go to school from Sept. 7 to June 9.

PROTESTS MILTON CLOSING: Atty. John Crow reads letter on behalf of St. Joseph Improvement association urging that Milton junior high school be kept open, during special school board meeting

Monday night at Upton junior high. Board later voted 5 to 2 to close Milton at end of present school year, move all ninth graders to the senior high and all seventh and eighth graders to Upton. (Staff photo)

Chalk Up House No. 3 For St. Joe

Purchases Billed For New Office District

The St. Joseph city commission last night voted to buy a house at 306 Church street for $16,500 in preparation for future development of an office district. The house was the third purchased in a three block area that is marked for redevelopment into an office district. City Manager Gerald W. Hepler said that area is bordered by Pleasant, Broad, Wayne and Main streets.

In approving the purchase of the house at 306 Church, owned and occupied by Jerry and Peggy Webb, the commission also instructed Hepler to investigate the possibility of the St. Joseph Housing corporation managing the rental of the house.

The St. Joseph Housing corporation is a non-profit organization consisting of five members including Hepler and City Atty. Arthur C. Preston Jr.

Hepler said the purpose of the housing corporation is to improve the housing in St. Joseph. The corporation presently owns one house it rents with revenue going to the city.

Hepler said the house at 306 Church street will be rented until private development of the office district gets underway. Hepler said the house will then be demolished. According to Hepler, the Webbs plan to move out of the single-family dwelling now that it is sold.

The two other houses purchased were located behind the Pine Pub, 715 Broad street and at the corner of Church and Broad streets. Both have been torn down, according to Hepler. He said the one at Church and Broad was purchased for $20,500 and money from the federally-funded Community Development program was used to buy it.

The house behind the Pine Pub was bought for $10,500. It was bought with city money as will be the one approved for purchase last night.

Hepler said the two houses purchased with city money came from a special development fund. He said part of the money for the purchase of the house at 306 Church came from the sale of four lots on South State street for a total of $20,000. He added that money the city receives from renting the single family dwelling at 306 Church would go back into the fund.

In other business, the commission heard former Mayor Thomas Sparks speak in favor of the I-94 penetrator. Sparks told the commission that he was on the commission around 1962 when it went on record supporting the I-94 penetrator as part of an agreement with the state highway department to get Niles avenue widened.

City Manager Hepler said last week he could not recall a city commission resolution formally supporting the penetrator.

Also last night the commission: —Approved direct grants for housing repairs for $631 for Edna Sturges, 922 Wolcott avenue, and for $1,173 for Olga Kiewitt, 1114 Michigan avenue.

—Approved the second reading of an appropriation ordinance to implement the $3.3 million budget for 1976-77.

The meeting was chaired by Mayor Pro Tem Joseph Hanley in the absence of Mayor Franklin Smith, who along with Police Chief Tom Gillespie, is in Royal Oak for the Michigan Week exchange of officials.

St. Joseph Atty. Carl Burdick also sat in Preston who is in Alaska on vacation.

Also next week's meeting will be held at 11 a.m. on Monday because Commissioners Lee Selent and Warren Gast will be at a University of Michigan alumni meeting and Commissioner William Gillespie will be attending a church meeting.

HOUSE PURCHASED BY CITY: St. Joseph city commission last night approved purchase of this house at 306 Church street for $16,500. House is to be eventually torn down to make room for office district which will be built in three-block area centered at Court and Pleasant streets. (Staff photo)

Township Okays More Boat Slips

St. Joseph township board of trustees last night overturned an earlier decision and granted a permit to build 36 new boat slips. Whispering Willows marina, on Hickory creek.

Noting that Gus Wesner, owner of the marina, has corrected many of the faults found in earlier inspections by trustees, the board voted unanimously to grant the building permit which was denied at a meeting two weeks ago.

In the audience, last night were Gus and Arden Wesner and several members of the Michiana Yacht club, which operates out of the marina. Yacht club members told of clean-up activities now taking place at the marina.

Trustee Sally Maltz said that she visited the facility last week and found it greatly improved. On April 23, the board visited the marina and suggested improvements ranging from employing trash on a regular basis to disposing of inoperable vehicles and unused boats.

Yacht club members told the board last night that every marina around Lake Michigan has problems similar to those at Whispering Willows. The board also decided to form a committee and meet with representatives of the yacht club regarding further improvements at the marina.

Also last night the board accepted a recommendation from the building committee for a revised $288,700 township hall and approved use of township funds to resurface a portion of Calfax avenue and dig drainage ditches along Nelson road.

Supervisor Orval Benson explained that 18-inch ditches are necessary along Nelson road to connect with a newly constructed storm drain serving Nelson road. The road is now being paved.

Benson said the cost of about $5,000 for the ditches will be shared equally by the township, county road commission and county drain commission. The work will involve digging up lawns, installing tubes under driveways and restoring the effects of construction. Benson said property owners along Nelson won't be assessed for the ditches. However, they are as-essed for the trunk storm drain.

The board also approved payment of the township's share of the $16,800 cost of resurfacing Calfax avenue from Napier avenue north to the Benton Harbor city limits.

St. Joseph and Benton townships will each pay one-quarter of the cost, Benson said, because Calfax is the dividing line between the two. The county road commission will match the townships' funds. St. Joseph township's portion, approved last night, will be about $4,225, said Benson.

The revised plan for a township hall calls for spending about $200,000 less than estimates announced last month at the annual township meeting. The board's unanimous vote to accept the township building committee's recommendation gives the architect permission to complete structural plans and specifications. A public hearing will be held before bids are let, Benson added.

The board also voted to let bids to extend water service to Eaton park. The cost is expected to be about $6,800, Benson told trustees.

Attends 'Operation Bentley'

Anne Dumke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Dumke, 900 Greenwood, St. Joseph, and a junior at St. Joseph high school, attending "Operation Bentley" at Olivet college that started Sunday and continues through May 27. Bart Kruse, a social sciences teacher at St. Joseph high school, said "Operation Bentley" is a two-week course in government from the county to the national scene. Some 100 students are selected from all parts of Michigan to attend.

"Operation Bentley" is sponsored by the Bentley Foundation named after the late congressman from Owosso.

Craig Connors, formerly of St. Joseph, has been named manager of the 160-room Hospitality Motor Inn at Cascade road and I-96, Grand Rapids. Connors is a 1966 graduate of St. Joseph high school and a 1970 graduate of Michigan State university with a degree in economics. He and his wife, the former Sandra Hunt, of St. Joseph, are the parents of two children. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Connors, 1129 Hillcrest avenue, St. Joseph.

Shooting Victim's Condition Critical

A Chicago man was wounded critically late Monday in a shooting at the Ponderosa bar, 426 Territorial road, Benton Harbor police reported.

Listed in "critical" condition today after surgery for a bullet wound in the stomach at Mercy hospital was Robert Flenny, 26, Chicago. Another man who sustained a head cut was treated and released. Police identified him as Andrew Butler, 25, of 106 Olsen street, Benton Harbor. Flenny reportedly came to Benton Harbor to visit Butler, police said.

Police said there were conflicting statements about the incident reported at 11:20 p.m. and an investigation is underway. There were no immediate arrests.

Police said a .38 caliber revolver and 12-gauge shotgun were confiscated at the scene. The incident apparently resulted from an argument among three men, police reported.

Judge Declines To Halt BH Recall Vote

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

Voting in Benton Harbor's recall election was underway today after Berrien Circuit Judge Julian Hughes Monday denied an attempt to halt the election.

Hughes declined to issue a restraining order against the election after an eleventh-hour suit was filed by Mayor Charles Joseph and four city commissioners, all of whom are on recall ballots today.

Polls at the city's 10 precincts will remain open until 8 o'clock tonight.

No hearing on the suit was held in open court. Hughes denied the restraining order after a conference with counsel for Joseph, and Commissioners Barbara Huckaby, Charles Shepherd, Winston Minott and Alfred Williams.

Hughes said the motion was denied because the suit "failed to show any irreparable damage would arise." The plaintiffs had contended they would suffer irreparable harm because they contended the election is of "questionable legality relative to some of the recall petitions."

The five also claimed they would suffer financial loss because of an election that might have to be challenged, and that the citizens of Benton Harbor might have to bear the costs of an additional election if today's should prove constitutionally impermissible.

The suit was initiated in circuit court by Kalamazoo Atty. Alvin R. Davidson.

On the recall election ballots are the members of the city commission who voted Dec. 29 not to renew the contract of Charles A.

Morrison as city manager.

The recall ballots charge Joseph and the four commissioners with malfeasance, encroaching upon the responsibility of the city manager, interfering with administration of the city, encouraging situations which create conflicts of interest, nepotism and patronage.

The five commission members deny the charges and all, except Williams, contend that Morrison submitted his resignation last June.

St. Joe Board Approves Closing Of Milton School

The St. Joseph Board of Education last night voted 5 to 2 to close Milton junior high school, move all ninth graders into the senior high school and put all seventh and eighth graders in Upton junior high school.

The action was taken during a special meeting in the cafeteria of Upton junior high school before approximately 250 parents, teachers, students and administrators.

A companion motion specified that the board of education retain control of the building and a special committee recommend what disposition should be made of the 60-year-old structure located on Niles avenue at Winchester in St. Joseph.

Pleas to keep the building open came from the St. Joseph Improvement association in a statement read by Atty. John Crow, and from individuals. Two junior high school students presented petitions advocating the building be kept open until a smooth transition could be worked out.

There was a definite split in sentiment among the audience toward closing the building. Supt. Burton Aldrich said he thought it was evenly split based on applause following statements pro and con.

Dr. Joseph Naines commented: "economics surfaced the issue and academics resolved it." He made the three-part motion to close the school at the end of the present school year and re-distribute students.

John Pielmeier supported Dr. Naines' motion and offered a plan setting up a committee to recommend the disposal or future use of the building.

Voting to close the school were President Ray Dumke, Secretary Linda Griswold and trustees Freda Sparks, Pielmeier and Dr. Naines.

Vice president James Mason and trustee Beverly Linn voted against closing. Mrs. Linn suggested a one mill tax for one year be put on the ballot to give the school district time to make the transition.

Mrs. Sparks said she could not support a bid to ask taxpayers to pay an additional one mill to finance a school "we do not need...."

Chad McLelland, 15, Upton eighth grader, submitted a petition signed by 138 of the 188 Upton eighth graders asking the Milton closing be postponed so the transition between junior and senior high schools could be studied.

Kim Johnson, 12, Milton seventh grader, obtained 158 signatures from residents living around her home at 732 Pearl street also urging that Milton not be closed at this time.

Pielmeier moved that a committee composed of one resident living within a block of Milton, a realtor, a member of the advisory council, a person designated by the St. Joseph city commission and a delegate from business and professional interests write the recommendations for the committee to determine the use of the building.

The original section of the building was constructed in 1916 and an addition that included the boys' gymnasium was added in 1936. The building housed the high school until the present senior high was built in 1959. It was named for a former principal, Clare Milton.

In other action last night, the board accepted the resignation of Larry Ernst, a music teacher who is retiring after 30 years of teaching, 27 of them in the St. Joseph system.

The board also approved a 1976-77 calendar that calls for teachers to work 185 days from Aug. 31 to June 10. Students will go to school from Sept. 7 to June 9.

PROTESTS MILTON CLOSING: Atty. John Crow reads letter on behalf of St. Joseph Improvement association urging that Milton junior high school be kept open, during special school board meeting

Monday night at Upton junior high. Board later voted 5 to 2 to close Milton at end of present school year, move all ninth graders to the senior high and all seventh and eighth graders to Upton. (Staff photo)

Chalk Up House No. 3 For St. Joe

Purchases Billed For New Office District

The St. Joseph city commission last night voted to buy a house at 306 Church street for $16,500 in preparation for future development of an office district. The house was the third purchased in a three block area that is marked for redevelopment into an office district. City Manager Gerald W. Hepler said that area is bordered by Pleasant, Broad, Wayne and Main streets.

In approving the purchase of the house at 306 Church, owned and occupied by Jerry and Peggy Webb, the commission also instructed Hepler to investigate the possibility of the St. Joseph Housing corporation managing the rental of the house.

The St. Joseph Housing corporation is a non-profit organization consisting of five members including Hepler and City Atty. Arthur G. Preston Jr.

Hepler said the purpose of the housing corporation is to improve the housing in St. Joseph. The corporation presently owns one house it rents with revenue going to the city.

Hepler said the house at 306 Church street will be rented until private development of the office district gets underway. Hepler said the house will then be demolished. According to Hepler, the Webbs plan to move out of the single-family dwelling now that it is sold.

The two other houses purchased were located behind the Pine Pub, 715 Broad street and at the corner of Church and Broad streets. Both have been torn down, according to Hepler. He said the one at Church and Broad was purchased for $20,500 and money from the federally-funded Community Development program was used to buy it.

The house behind the Pine Pub was bought for $10,500. It was bought with city money as will be the one approved for purchase last night.

Hepler said the two houses purchased with city money came from a special development fund. He said part of the money for the purchase of the house at 306 Church came from the sale of four lots on South State street for a total of $20,000. He added that money the city receives from renting the single family dwelling at 306 Church would go back into the fund.

In other business, the commission heard former Mayor Thomas Sparks speak in favor of the I-94 penetrator. Sparks told the commission that he was on the commission around 1962 when it went on record supporting the I-94 penetrator as part of an agreement with the state highway department to get Niles avenue widened.

City Manager Hepler said last week he could not recall a city commission resolution formally supporting the penetrator.

Also last night the commission:

—Approved direct grants for housing repairs for $631 for Edna Sturgis, 922 Wolcott avenue, and for $1,173 for Olga Kiewitt, 1114 Michigan avenue.

—Approved the second reading of an appropriation ordinance to implement the $3.3 million budget for 1976-77.

The meeting was chaired by Mayor Pro Tem Joseph Hanley in the absence of Mayor Franklin Smith, who along with Police Chief Tom Gillespie, is in Royal Oak for the Michigan Week exchange of officials.

St. Joseph Atty. Carl Burdick also sat in Preston who is in Alaska on vacation.

Also next week's meeting will be held at 11 a.m. on Monday because Commissioners Lee Selent and Warren Gast will be at a University of Michigan alumni outing and Commissioner William Gillespie will be attending a church meeting.

HOUSE PURCHASED BY CITY: St. Joseph city commission last night approved purchase of this house at 306 Church street for $16,500. House is to be eventually torn down to make room for office district which will be built in three-block area centered at Court and Pleasant streets. (Staff photo)

Township Okays More Boat Slips

St. Joseph township board of trustees last night overturned an earlier decision and granted a permit to build 36 new boat slips. Whispering Willows marina, on Hickory creek.

Noting that Gus Wesner, owner of the marina, has corrected many of the faults found in earlier inspections by trustees, the board voted unanimously to grant the building permit which was denied at a meeting two weeks ago.

In the audience last night were Gus and Arden Wesner and several members of the Michiana Yacht club, which operates out of the marina. Yacht club members told of clean-up activities now taking place at the marina.

Trustee Sally Mutz said that she visited the facility last week and found it greatly improved. On April 23, the board visited the marina and suggested improvements ranging from emptying trash on a regular basis to disposing of inoperable vehicles and unused boats.

Yacht club members told the board last night that every marina around Lake Michigan has problems similar to those at Whispering Willows. The board also decided to form a committee and meet with representatives of the yacht club regarding further improvements at the marina.

Also last night the board accepted a recommendation from the building committee for a revised $288,700 township hall and approved use of township funds to resurface a portion of Colfax avenue and dig drainage ditches along Nelson road.

Supervisor Orval Benson explained that 18-inch ditches are necessary along Nelson road to connect with a newly constructed storm drain serving Nelson road. The road is now being paved.

Benson said the cost of about $8,000 for the ditches will be shared equally by the township, county road commission and county drain commission. The work will involve digging up lawns, installing tubes under driveways and restoring the effects of construction. Benson said property owners along Nelson won't be assessed for the ditches. However, they are assessed for the trunk storm drain.

The board also approved payment of the township's share of the $16,900 cost of resurfacing Colfax avenue from Napier avenue north to the Benton Harbor city limits.

St. Joseph and Benton townships will each pay one-quarter of the cost, Benson said, because Colfax is the dividing line between the two. The county road commission will match the townships' funds. St. Joseph township's portion, approved last night, will be about $4,225, said Benson.

The revised plan for a township hall calls for spending about $200,000 less than estimates announced last month at the annual township meeting. The board's unanimous vote to accept the township building committee's recommendation gives the architect permission to complete structural plans and specifications. A public hearing will be held before bids are let, Benson added.

The board also voted to let bids to extend water service to Eaton park. The cost is expected to be about $6,800, Benson told trustees.

Shooting Victim's Condition Critical

A Chicago man was wounded critically late Monday in a shooting at the Ponderosa bar, 426 Territorial road, Benton Harbor police reported.

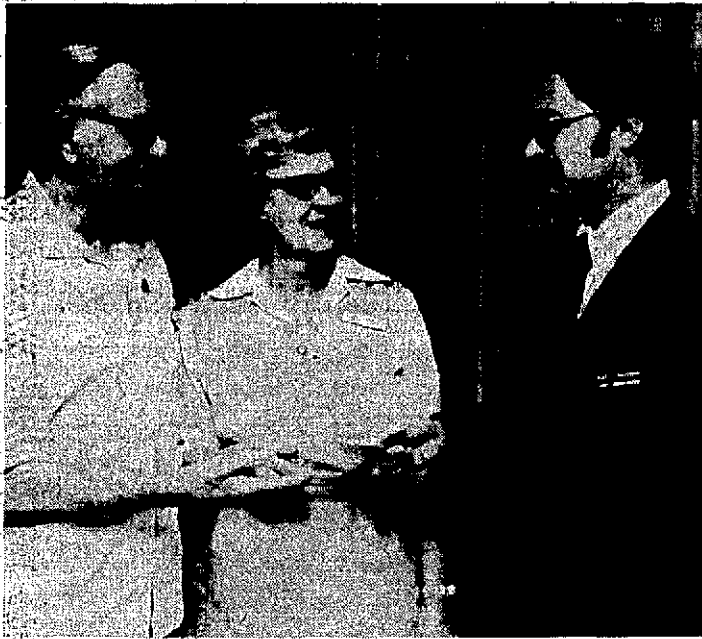

Listed in "critical" condition today after surgery for a bullet wound in the stomach at Mercy hospital was Robert Flenoy, 26, Chicago. Another man who sustained a head cut was treated and released. Police identified him as Andrew Butler, 25, of 106 Oden street, Benton Harbor. Flenoy reportedly came to Benton Harbor to visit Butler, police said.

Police said there were conflicting statements about the incident reported at 11:20 p.m. and an investigation is underway. There were no immediate arrests.

Police said a .38 caliber revolver and 12-gauge shotgun were confiscated at the scene. The incident apparently resulted from an argument among three men, police reported.

As the newly installed president of Memorial hospital auxiliary, Mrs. William (Patt) Johnson will direct the work of nearly 500 volunteers — almost a full time job.

She had already been initiated into the office several months earlier when she assumed the duties from Mrs. Richard (Linda) Lewis who has moved to Indiana.

Among her first official duties for the new term included presiding at the annual awards recognition tea held May 13 in the Forum at the hospital.

Among the awards presented by Walter Laetz, member of the board of trustees of the St. Joseph hospital, were two $,000-hour pins.

Mrs. Lee (Hollis) Hill was recipient of one of the $,000-hour pins and the other was given posthumously to Mrs. Raymond (Laura) Dunham who was corresponding secretary for the auxiliary at the time of her death April 17, 1976.

Mrs. Hill began her work with the auxiliary in 1963, working with the mobile shopping cart service. With the installation of the auxiliary-sponsored gift shop, she has been treasurer of the gift shop where she also works.

Mrs. Dunham began work with the auxiliary in 1965. She served in many capacities, including working at the information desk, assisting with admission of new patients, and serving as a sub wherever needed.

Mrs. Johnson has been a volunteer for three years and has served as scholarship chairman and first vice president for the auxiliary. She has been trained in several services which the auxiliary performs for the hospital but presently (in addition to her presidential duties) works as a tour guide and in the coffee shop which the auxiliaries maintain.

She is also a member of First United Methodist church, St. Joseph; Women's Service League, Monday Musical club, and the St. Joseph schools advisory council.

She and her husband and their three children reside at 4350 Tanglewood Trail, St. Joseph.

Serving with Mrs. Johnson will be Mrs. Robert (Betty) Braun, first vice president; Mrs. Charles (Dorothy) Johnson, second vice president; Mrs. Robert (Carol) Starks, recording secretary; Mrs. Blake (Virginia) Patton, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. John (Virginia) Globensky, treasurer. Other husband and wife teams included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Cy Soeber, each earning 100-hour pins.

In addition, 22 volunteers received 500-hour guards and 95 were awarded 100 pins for service during the past year.

In the annual report made to the hospital and auxiliaries at the end of April, it was reported that the current 489 members contributed $1,934 hours to the hospital, equivalent to nearly $200,000 in wages, according to Robert A. Bradburn, administrator at Memorial.

During the past year the auxiliary contributed $18,000 to the hospital toward purchase of the $42,000 xeroradiography unit which has been recognized as this country's leading method for early detection of breast cancer. The equipment was installed and put into operation last August.

The auxiliary also contributed $1,000 for two Bird respirators and stands partly from funds received by the auxiliary from a Julius Reinking memorial fund.

The Identifoto service of the auxiliary also gave $2,687.36 to the hospital toward the infant care center and an examination light, as well $290 for a film strip.

The auxiliary derives its funds primarily from the Round Table Gift shop, the Lantern Coffee shop, the annual November Christmas carnival, and the Identifoto department.

Robert A. Bradburn, in his message to the auxiliaries noted that last year the auxiliary celebrated 25 years of service to the patients of Memorial hospital and that it now enters into a new era, continuing the many programs established in the past while expanding services in the present. "At the same time," he said, "the auxiliary is providing new medical equipment which enables Memorial hospital to provide the means to accomplish the latest proven diagnostic and treatment techniques."

Lester Tiscornia, president of the Memorial hospital board of trustees, commended the auxiliaries at the annual luncheon as ambassadors for the hospital to the community.

WHAT IS A SPHYGMOMANOMETER?

It is a device that is used to measure your blood pressure. First, a cuff with a rubber tube is wrapped around your arm and the tube is inflated to constrict the flow of blood.

Then a stethoscope is placed on the inside crook of your arm and the pressure is slowly released. At the first beat heard, a reading is taken on the dial attached to the cuff, this is the high point. Another reading is taken at the last beat heard and this is the low point. Your physician then interprets the two readings to determine whether your blood pressure is normal.

Ford Ochampaugh and the former Martha Johnson were married May 8, 1926, at the home of the bride in Watervliet by the Rev. Parker. The couple has resided in this area all of their lives.

Ochampaugh is retired from Michigan Bell Telephone Company and Mrs. Ochampaugh is a homemaker.

The couple has seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Helps Produce Crisper Crust

Brushing a loaf of yeast bread with slightly beaten egg white before it goes in the oven helps produce a crisp crust.

Because you need only a small amount of the egg white, you can pour the rest of it into a small jar and put it in the freezer for use another time.

WHAT IS A SPHYGMOMANOMETER?

It is a device that is used to measure your blood pressure. First, a cuff with a rubber tube is wrapped around your arm and the tube is inflated to constrict the flow of blood.

Then a stethoscope is placed on the inside crook of your arm and the pressure is slowly released. At the first beat heard, a reading is taken on the dial attached to the cuff, this is the high point. Another reading is taken at the last beat heard and this is the low point. Your physician then interprets the two readings to determine whether your blood pressure is normal.

Named 'Club Of The Year'

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman Woman's club has been named "Club of the Year" by the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Bridgman club received the honor during the state Federation's convention held in Grand Rapids.

Two awards are given by the Federation, one to the club with over 40 members and the other, which the Bridgman club received, to a club with under 40 members.

The Bridgman club previously received the state honor in 1960-61, 1962-63 and 1963-64.

Mrs. Robert Schaffert is the current president of the Bridgman Woman's club.

There are 273 federated clubs in the state. To qualify for the honor of "Club of the Year," the club must first be chosen to the 100 per cent club which means participation in the many departments promoted by the state Federation.

Mrs. Schaffert says detailed reports are sent to the district president who makes the choice of the clubs in the district and sends her recommendation to the state chairman, who gives the award to the club who reported the best all around program for the year.

Mrs. Schaffert accepted the award at the convention and a 100 per cent ribbon for receiving 100 points.

The Bridgman club also won the state first place award in the Veteran's Division and a first place certificate of awards in its district for donating the most per capita to "Girlstown."

Mrs. Schaffert placed first in the daytime sewing award and in the afghan division in crafts.

Attending the convention from the Bridgman club in addition to Mrs. Schaffert, were Mrs. August Essler, Mrs. Melvin Andrus, Mrs. Lillian Heyn, Mrs. Robert Roth and Mrs. Albert Petruschke.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Diet Plan Slims Wallet

Dear Ann Landers: I need to lose 20 pounds. So does a girl I work with. We decided instead of eating lunch we'd split an apple and play gin-rummy.

The problem is, I lost $7 last week and $9 this week, and it's only Thursday. I suggested that we play for lower stakes but she says it's no fun unless there's "real money" involved.

This girl is a much better gin player than I am and I know it. But I don't want to go back to eating lunch and I can't afford these terrible losses. I'd appreciate a real solution to this problem. — Thinner But Poorer

Dear Ann: I'm a young woman (25) and work at an interesting job. I'm the youngest of three girls. My two sisters are both married to men my mother can't stand. (They are college graduates, very successful in business and have proven to be wonderful husbands.)

My mother refuses to meet any of the men I now date. She hides in the bedroom under the pretext of "a sick headache."

All my previous friends she has picked to pieces. This one didn't have a good enough family background and that one was very homesick. ("What will your children look like?")

I'm now seeing a man I am quite fond of. When I asked Mother to meet him she flew into a rage and screamed, "Stop seeing him. It's getting too serious. The next thing you know you'll be getting married!"

I've thought of moving out, but she becomes hysterical whenever I mention it. "No nice girl lives alone when she has a mother in the city."

Any advice? I am — Sick Of It. All

Dear S.O.I.A.: It's time you flow the coop, honey. If you need professional help to replace the macaroni in your spine with more solid stuff, get it. And good luck to you. You're going to need it.

Mother worried

Dear Ann Landers: My 40-year-old husband and his 14-year-old daughter have a relationship I once thought was great, but now I'm beginning to wonder.

Almost every evening after supper Rhonda and Dad have a little wrestling match. They roll around on the floor and get into the weirdest positions. Rhonda is fully developed. In my opinion she shouldn't be horsing around like this.

We have a 16-year-old son who is virtually ignored by his father. I have suggested that it would make more sense if he wrestled with his son and left his daughter alone. He accused me of being jealous and then said, "You have a sick mind." What about it, Ann? — Mother

On The Sidelines

Dear Mother: No 14-year-old girl (fully developed yet) should be rolling around on the floor with any man — least of all her father. The horseplay which may have started in complete innocence could trigger unexpected sensations in both parties.

Your husband's attitude toward his son, as well as his daughter, suggests that he could use some counseling. He needs to gain some insight into his feelings toward his children. I hope he moves soon. It's awfully late in the game.

How young is too young for a child to learn about sex? That's just one thing you'll find in Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." Send 50 cents in coin, along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

It required no real celebration on the part of South to know that East would show up with practically all the missing high cards. Therefore, after winning the spade lead in dummy, South promptly cashed dummy's ace of trumps.

East's king dropped and South stopped to consider how to go about taking care of West's four trumps. He finally decided that he had to leave the trumps entirely alone until after developing some minor suit tricks.

He led a club and continued the suit after East ducked. East took the second club and played his queen of spades.

Back in dummy, South led a low diamond. East rose with the king and led a third spade which South ruffed with the nine.

West did the best he could. He discarded his last diamond but South was now in full control. He led a low heart toward dummy and West could take is jack of trumps but that was all.

This is a tough one. We would bid one spade (you hate to overlook a chance to bid the ranking suit,) but two diamonds is certainly a good second choice. Either call may be the winner.

FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

From time to time you tend to be overly generous with persons who really don't merit it. You later regret it. You may repeat your pattern today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Your friends will not find you too much fun today, if you exaggerate or boast. It's better to understate your case.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Don't be liberal with the possessions of another today, such as lending something that was loaned to you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

Be realistic in evaluating situations today so you don't interpret them as being more beneficial than they are.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

To get someone else to help you today, you make make some rather lavish promises. Be sure to honor them when they come due.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Manage your resources wisely today. Don't dip into reserves just to cater to extravagant whims. Save what you have for a rainy day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22)

Make the most of what's offered you today, being wary of attempting last-minute changes. Stick to the original plan.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Think twice before making any luxury purchases today. You're still too free with your resources. That's not at all like you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Don't try to win friends and influence people with bribes or gifts today. You'll earn more respect with a straightforward approach.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

You should view things as they are today, not as you'd like them to be. Use your logic instead of depending on hunches.

Conditions are going to be generally favorable for you this coming year. Things should be better than you've had for some time, but don't coast and let opportunity pass you by.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Diet Plan Slims Wallet

Dear Ann Landers: I need to lose 20 pounds. So does a gal I work with. We decided instead of eating lunch we'd split an apple and play gin-rummy.

The problem is, I lost $7 last week and $9 this week, and it's only Thursday. I suggested that we play for lower stakes but she says it's no fun unless there's "real money" involved.

This gal is a much better gin player than I am and I know it. But I don't want to go back to eating lunch and I can't afford these terrible losses. I'd appreciate a cool solution to this problem. — Thinner But Poorer

Dear Thin But Poor: Find another fatty who will play just for the fun of it. Then tell the card shark you can no longer afford the pleasure of her company.

Move Out

Dear Ann: I'm a young woman (25) and work at an interesting job. I'm the youngest of three girls. My two sisters are both married to men my mother can't stand. (They are college graduates, very successful in business and have proven to be wonderful husbands.)

My mother refuses to meet any of the men I now date. She hides in the bedroom under the pretext of "a sick headache." All my previous friends she has picked to pieces. This one didn't have a good enough family background and that one was very homely. ("What will your children look like?")

I'm now seeing a man I am quite fond of. When I asked Mother to meet him she flew into a rage and screamed, "Stop seeing him. It's getting too serious. The next thing you know you'll be getting married!"

I've thought of moving out, but she becomes hysterical whenever I mention it. "No nice girl lives alone when she has a mother in the city."

Any advice? I am — Sick Of It All

Dear S.O.I.A.: It's time you flew the coop, honey. If you need professional help to replace the macaroni in your spine with more solid stuff, get it. And good luck to you. You're going to need it.

Mother worried

Dear Ann Landers: My 40-year-old husband and his 14-year-old daughter have a relationship I once thought was great, but now I'm beginning to wonder.

Almost every evening after supper Rhonda and Dad have a little wrestling match. They roll around on the floor and get into the weirdest positions. Rhonda is fully developed. In my opinion she shouldn't be horsing around like this.

We have a 16-year-old son who is virtually ignored by his father. I have suggested that it would make more sense if he wrestled with his son and left his daughter alone. He accused me of being jealous and then said, "You have a sick mind." What about it, Ann? — Mother

It required no real cerebration on the part of South to know that East would show up with practically all the missing high cards. Therefore, after winning the spade lead in dummy, South promptly cashed dummy's ace of trumps.

East's king dropped and South stopped to consider how to go about taking care of West's four trumps. He finally decided that he had to leave the trumps entirely alone until after developing some minor suit tricks.

He led a club and continued the suit after East ducked. East took the second club and played his queen of spades.

Back in dummy, South led a low diamond. East rose with the king and led a third spade which South ruffed with the nine.

West led the best he could. He discarded his last diamond but South was now in full control. He led a low heart toward dummy and West could take a jack of trumps but that was all.

FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
From time to time you tend to be overly generous with persons who really don't merit it. You later regret it. You may repeat your pattern today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Something opportune might get past you because you don't care to pursue it properly. You're only hurting yourself if you're lethargic today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Your friends will not find you too much fun today, if you exaggerate or boast. It's better to understate your case.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Don't be liberal with the possessions of another today, such as lending something that was loaned to you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Be realistic in evaluating situations today so you don't interpret them as being more beneficial than they are.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
To get someone else to help you today, you make make some rather lavish promises. Be sure to honor them when they come due.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Manage your resources wisely today. Don't dip into reserves just to cater to extravagant whims. Save what you have for a rainy day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Make the most of what's offered you today, being wary of attempting last-minute changes. Stick to the original plan.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You're a slow starter today and likely to do more talking than work. Avoid lazy companions. They'll add to your problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Think twice before making any luxury purchases today. You're still too free with your resources. That's not at all like you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Don't try to win friends and influence people with prizes or gifts today. You'll earn more respect with a straightforward approach.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
You should view things as they are today, not as you'd like them to be. Use your logic instead of depending on hunches.

Resolution Urges Return Of Female Medic's Medal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The House passed a resolution Monday urging Congress to return the Congressional Medal of Honor to a female Civil War army doctor who withstood male "harassment."

The House approved the resolution on a voice vote Monday and sent it to the Senate.

Dr. Mary Edwards Walker of Oswego, N.Y., had no links with Michigan. But Rep. John Markes, D-Westland, said he backs posthumous restoration of the medal in this Bicentennial year because "She deserves it."

Markes said as far as he knows, Dr. Walker is the only woman to receive the medal, but it was later taken from her.

Dr. Walker, an assistant Army surgeon with the Union Army, was awarded the medal by President Andrew Johnson on Nov. 11, 1865.

According to the Markes resolution, she remained dedicated to her duty "in the face of continuous harassment from her male counterparts," and four months imprisonment by the Confederate Army.

In 1917, the Adverse Action Medal of Honor Board revoked her medal on the grounds that nothing in the records showed the specific acts on which the award was based.

Also, Markes said, the board made a ruling that only people who had carried a gun into the field of battle could be medal winners. A number of men also had their medals revoked, he said.

"A surgeon wouldn't be carrying a gun or firing one, nor a medic," he noted.

Since then, he claimed, numerous people who never carried a gun have received the medal for courage.

"The reason she got the medal was because she was a surgeon and performed under fire in the Civil War. This was the one way they had to take away from her the only thing they could,"

Markes said he learned through national newspaper articles that there is a move in Congress to restore the medal.

"I just knew it was going on during this 200th year and thought this was one of the more sparkling things being done," he said.

Markes said Dr. Walker was also a lawyer, an inventor, and an author.

"She was almost a century ahead of her time," Markes added. "It was her presence that threatened the male establishment of the day. She was an outspoken proponent of women's rights."

Markes introduced a resolution recommending restoration of the medal. If the resolution is approved in both chambers of the legislature, it will be sent to Congress.

Legislature OKs Measure To Pay Primary Bill

By MARY STEVENSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Just in time for primary day, the House has passed and sent the governor legislation for paying the bill.

The House Monday gave final legislative approval to the measure sponsored by Rep. Alfred Sheridan, D-Taylor, 76-0. The bill would become law immediately upon signing by Gov. William Milliken, who has not publicly stated his feelings on total state funding of the contest.

However, Milliken has said he believes the state may have to share at least some of the cost with local governments.

The measure had been returned from the Senate for concurrence in minor amendments.

The Senate was not in session and will not return until Wednesday.

Under the primary funding bill, the state must reimburse local units of government for the estimated $2.5 million cost of holding the primary.

Local governments would have to submit their bills to the state within 90 days of the election. The state would not pay for any additional local issues placed on the ballot by local governments.

The actual money for paying the bill will be included in a separate measure. The House Appropriations Committee has included $2 million towards paying the cost in a budget bill it is studying.

Earlier this year, township and municipal clerks filed suit to try to force the state to pay for the primary. They argued the state could not force local governments to hold the election and then refuse to pay for it.

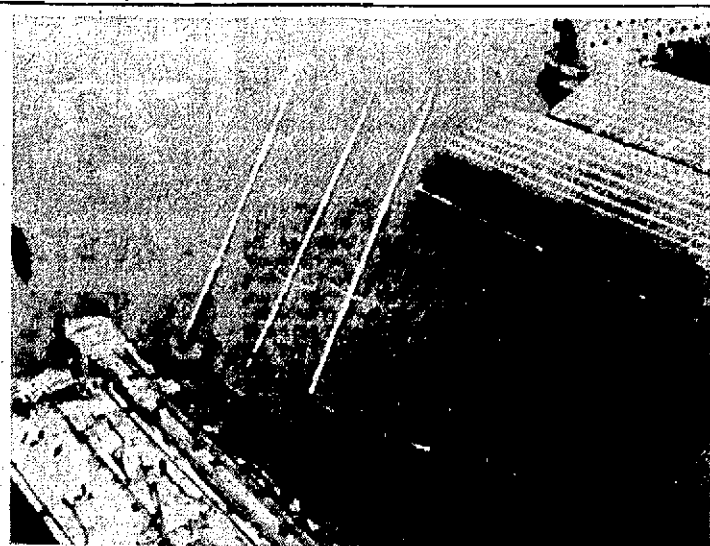

An Ingham County Circuit Court judge temporarily held up the election, but the state Supreme court later ruled the primary valid. The high court said the state can mandate any program it wants to without saying how it will be financed.

The Tuesday primary is only the second such contest to be held in Michigan in about 50 years.

In other action, the House advanced a measure giving handicapped people sweeping protection against discrimination. The measure, which protects the physically handicapped from discrimination in employment, housing, public accommodations and education, is in position for a final vote that could come this week.

The House reconvenes Tuesday at 2 p.m. Members have been asked by House leaders to vote in the primary by absentee ballot so that they can work here on budget bills.

Union, Firestone Continue Talks

CLEVELAND (AP) — United Rubber Workers and the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. tried once again Monday to tackle the economic issues which have kept 60,000 union members on strike since April 21.

An additional 2,400 union members working for General Tire & Rubber Co. were given a reprieve when both sides agreed to continue negotiating although their contract expired at midnight Saturday. Those talks are being held in Canton, Ohio.

The URW, in its talks here, hopes that a settlement with Firestone will set the pattern for pacts with the Goodyear, Goodrich and Uniroyal tire and rubber companies.

The URW has asked for a total pay package that will grant them a 42 per cent increase, a boost the union says it needs to keep pace with the United Auto Workers.

Another major issue centers on how a cost of living adjustment is calculated.

The strikers will have to do with a reduced strike benefit check this week.

URW Peter Bonmarito has decided to cut strike benefits from $35 a week to $23 in order not to deplete the union's strike fund too quickly.

Curfew Clamped On West Bank

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli security forces clamped curfews today on two more West Bank towns near the Palestinian refugee camp where an Arab youth was slain by soldiers during a rock-throwing riot. The government radio reported curfews were ordered at Ramallah and El Bira. Curfews imposed Monday on three other West Bank towns were continued. Abdullah Mustafa Hawas, 21, was killed Monday when Israeli soldiers in a truck fired after rioters attacked the vehicle. He was the ninth Arab to be killed since anti-Israeli demonstrations erupted last February on the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River. Military sources reported that the army chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Mordechai Gur, had personally taken charge of the investigation into the death Sunday of a teen-age girl from Nablus. The victim was a distant relative of former Jordanian Premier Suleiman Nabulsi.

Automatic Gas Bills

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Public Service Commission is studying recommendations that would help stabilize automatic gas bill charges that have confused customers in the past. The PSC made 16 recommendations for changes in gas companies' billing of customers for their gas supply costs. The commission said it hopes to act on the recommendations within two weeks. Under the proposals, companies would have to tell customers on their bills exactly how much they are being charged that month for higher gas costs. Setting one formula to apply to all eight gas companies in Michigan would also help stabilize the automatic monthly charges, which vary widely from one month to the next for some companies. But Don Bateman, head of the PSC's gas section, acknowledged the proposals will be unpopular with gas companies. They would force the companies to wait about two months before recovering from customers the costs of the purchased gas supplies. He also said the changes would not necessarily lower any customer's gas bill, but might eliminate wide differences in the bill's size each month.

Joining Foundation

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — Dr. Robert Sparks, chancellor of the University of Nebraska Medical Center, will leave that post about Sept. 1 to become program director for health affairs at the W. K. Kellogg Foundation. His acceptance of the new job was announced Monday by Russell Mayby, president of the foundation. The 46-year-old foundation is one of the 10 largest in the country. Sparks' new salary was not announced. He now makes $49,400 annually.

Griffin's Undecided

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., says he has not decided whether he will support Ronald Reagan if the former California governor wins the Republican nomination. "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it," Griffin said Monday while plane-hopping around southern Michigan with President Ford's state campaign chairman looking for last-minute votes in today's state presidential primary. Pressed by reporters on the question of supporting Reagan, Griffin said he did not expect to have to confront the problem. "President Ford will get the nomination and win in November," he insisted. Griffin called today's Ford-Reagan confrontation in the President's home state "a horse race. It could be close." But he said he believed Ford's campaigning in Michigan Saturday and Sunday generated enough interest and votes to see Ford through.

Veto Draws Rebuke

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has vetoed a bill that would have lightened regulation of Michigan doctors, drawing a rebuke from a group of physicians which pushed for the legislation. The measure was aimed at cutting the cost of malpractice insurance by weeding out incompetents through annual reviews of files to be kept on each doctor. The files would have included verified complaints from patients, records of felony convictions, disciplinary actions by hospitals and results of malpractice lawsuits. But Milliken Monday said some of the bill's provisions were "excessive." The Physicians Crisis Committee said, however, that the veto "will prevent fair and honest regulation of physicians and much-needed protection of the public." Milliken said it would take too much time and effort by the state Medical Practice Board to annually review the 16,000 doctors it licenses, particularly since the "vast majority" of the files "would contain little or no information."

GOP Disavows Leaflet

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Republicans have disavowed any connection with a mysterious leaflet printed in Detroit over the weekend calling on Democrats to cross over to President Ford in today's primary. "It's unbelievable," William McLaughlin, state GOP chairman, said the 150,000 leaflets appeared to be designed for distribution in white neighborhoods "to get people riled up about Ford." "We don't condone it. We condemn it." Frank Seymour, head of a Detroit advertising agency, said he had the 150,000 leaflets printed after receiving a telephoned order from H.B. Barnum of California. Seymour said he was told by Barnum that the President Ford Committee wanted the leaflets printed. The President Ford Committee in California, however, denied that it had retained Barnum. Barnum, who operates a California entertainment agency that handles black rock and roll stars, was unavailable for comment Monday.

A Few Dissidents

DETROIT (AP) — A few dissident members of Teamsters Local 243 continued picketing at United Parcel Service offices Monday in Detroit, despite tentative agreement on a national contract. Otherwise, operations at UPS offices in Michigan began getting back to normal, even though many offices said they were able only to operate on a limited basis. A federal court injunction and a promise of amnesty was expected to get the dissidents back to work shortly. Nearly 14,000 Teamsters in 13 Midwest states struck UPS on May 1.

Two Endorsements

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — The Hillsdale Daily News on Monday endorsed President Ford for the Republican nomination and Jimmy Carter for the Democratic in today's Michigan presidential primary election.

Fewer Numbers Required

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill reducing the number of landowners who must petition to have a highway improved has been signed into law by Gov. William Milliken. The law cuts from 65 per cent to 51 per cent the number of owners of land fronting a highway who must ask a township board to improve the road before the board can act. But the law also provides that an improvement cannot automatically be made if 20 per cent of the frontage land owners object. In that case, a public hearing must be held.

Six Out Of Twenty-Two

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Serious fire and health hazards exist in six of 22 state-run youth homes which should be closed within 30 days if the deficiencies are not corrected, a state official said Monday. Joseph LaRosa, state Department of Social Services deputy director, said emergency inspections at the homes are uncovering health and safety violations "I didn't believe existed." LaRosa said not one of the 22 homes for delinquent, neglected and troubled children met state licensing standards. But he said violations at 16 homes were not serious enough to warrant shutting them. Emergency inspections were triggered after an inspection prompted by an anonymous phone call at the Jefferson Intake Center in Detroit found numerous hazardous conditions. LaRosa said conditions at some of the other homes were as bad as those at Jefferson. The state Department of Social Services says it has neither enough money nor sufficient personnel to inspect the homes adequately.

Giscard Vows Friendship

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Preparing to address a joint session of Congress, French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing says his country is "a dependable friend" in prosperity and adversity.

He told President Ford in a toast at a White House dinner Monday night that relations between the United States and France are at their best.

There has never been a time when contacts "have been more frequent, consultation more sustained and cooperation more good-willed," Giscard said. "Though our methods may sometimes differ, our final objectives are inspired by that same ideal of liberty, peace and justice."

Giscard speaks at a joint session of Congress today.

He and Ford took time out between formal talks on matters including nuclear non-proliferation to spend Monday evening dining, dancing, listening to jazz pianist Earl "Fatha" Hines at the White House party for 157 guests, including Hollywood and sports stars.

Giscard, here to celebrate the Bicentennial, found one of his ancestors given a place of honor in the White House State Dining Room.

It was French Admiral Charles Henri d'Estaing, who brought the first French fleet to America's aid in the Revolutionary War.

Ford said that a bust of the admiral had long resided at the White House, and it was brought out for display for the occasion.

"Unfortunately, Gen. Washington never met Admiral d'Estaing," Ford said. "I count it a special privilege as the 38th President that I can welcome one of his descendants to this house and personally express our long overdue thanks for the distinguished contribution that was made by one of your predecessors in our struggle for our independence."

Giscard wore the scarlet sash of the French Legion of Honor with his white tie and tails. His wife, Anne-Aymone, wore a pale, egg-green, pearl-decorated Dior gown.

Sitting at the huge White House grand piano, Hines played for 40 minutes, including two encores of such well-known jazz numbers as "You Can Depend on Me" and "Boogie Woogie on St. Louis Blues."

He drew loud applause from both Ford and Giscard. Vocalist Marvin Joste sang her opening number seated at the rear of the audience.

Say CIA Domestic Files Smack Of 'Secret Police'

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Taking "a step toward the dangers of a domestic secret police," the CIA amassed files on thousands of Americans, including information gathered by electronic eavesdropping, mail opening and undercover agents, a Senate staff report said today.

The files were collected as part of Operation CHAOS despite then CIA Director Richard Helms' written warning to the White House in 1969 that "this is an area not within the charter of this agency," according to the Senate intelligence committee staff report. The CIA charter bars it from internal security functions.

Operation CHAOS began in response to demands from Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson and Richard M. Nixon to uncover any foreign influence behind domestic unrest. It continued despite repeated findings that disturbances at home were not controlled or financed from abroad, the Senate report added.

The 52-page document, which revealed few new details about Operation CHAOS, provided extensive descriptions of three related projects — MERRIMACK, RESISTANCE and Project 2.

MERRIMACK "began in 1967 as an effort to infiltrate dissident groups in Washington, D.C., to obtain advance information about demonstrations against CIA facilities. Using construction workers and tradesmen as part-time agents, MERRIMACK was gradually expanded to include any information about the plans and attitudes of such groups as the Women's Strike for Peace, the Washington Peace Center, the Congress of Racial Equality, and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

In some instances, photographs were taken and persons were followed to their homes, the report said. MERRIMACK, which by the CIA's own testimony exceeded the agency's legitimate security interests, lasted until September 1970.

RESISTANCE, which lasted from 1967 to 1973, compiled information about radical groups around the country, particularly on campuses," the report said.

The project developed an estimated 800 to 700 files consisting mainly of newspaper clippings but also including "information" from confidential sources in the local community such as campus officials and police authorities, according to the report.

Project 2 began in 1970 as a separate operation in which agents entered American universities in preparation for undercover assignments abroad.

While preparing for their future assignments, they provided considerable information on their associates, dissident organizations, demonstration plans and sometimes personal information," the report said.

Information gathered from all three projects went into a computerized index of some 300,000 American names kept by Operation CHAOS.

Say CIA Domestic Files Smack Of 'Secret Police'

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taking "a step toward the dangers of a domestic secret police," the CIA amassed files on thousands of Americans, including information gathered by electronic eavesdropping, mail opening and undercover agents, a Senate staff report said today.

The files were collected as part of Operation CHAOS despite then-CIA Director Richard Helms' written warning to the White House in 1969 that "this is an area not within the charter of this agency," according to the Senate intelligence committee staff report. The CIA charter bars it from internal security functions.

Operation CHAOS began in response to demands from Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson and Richard M. Nixon to uncover any foreign influence behind domestic unrest. It continued despite repeated findings that disturbances at home were not controlled or financed from abroad, the Senate report added.

The 52-page document, which revealed few new details about Operation CHAOS, provided extensive descriptions of three related projects — MERRIMACK, RESISTANCE and Project 2.

MERRIMACK "began in 1967 as an effort to infiltrate dissident groups in Washington, D.C., to obtain advance information about demonstrations against CIA facilities. Using construction workers and tradesmen as part-time agents, MERRIMACK was gradually expanded to include "any information about the plans and attitudes" of such groups as the Women's Strike for Peace, the Washington Peace Center, the Congress of Racial Equality, and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

In some instances, photographs were taken and persons were followed to their homes, the report said. MERRIMACK, which by the CIA's own testimony exceeded the agency's legitimate security interests, lasted until September 1970.

RESISTANCE, which lasted from 1967 to 1973, "compiled information about radical groups around the country, particularly on campuses," the report said.

The project developed an estimated 600 to 700 files consisting mainly of newspaper clippings but also including "information from confidential sources in the local community such as campus officials and police authorities," according to the report.

Project 2 began in 1970 as a separate operation in which agents entered American universities in preparation for undercover assignments abroad.

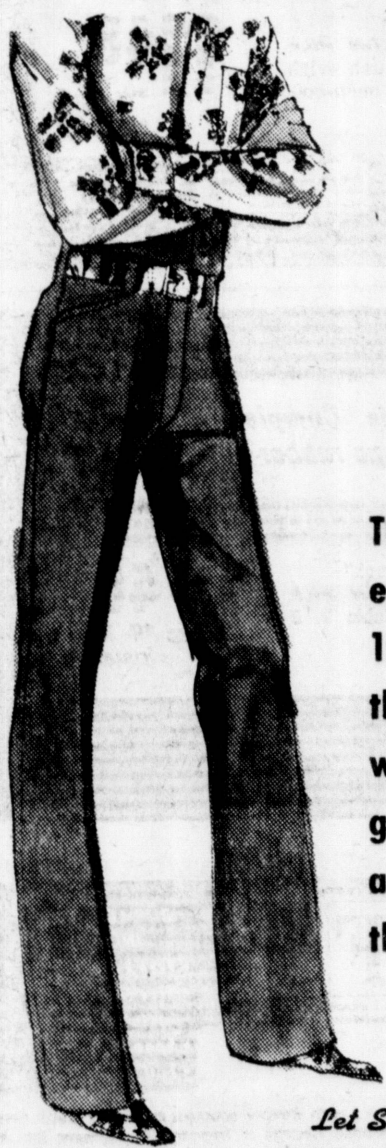

"While preparing for their future assignments ... they provided considerable information on their associates, dissident organizations, demonstration plans and sometimes personal information," the report said.

Information gathered from all three projects went into a computerized index of some 300,000 American names kept by Operation CHAOS.

Giscard Vows Friendship

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preparing to address a joint session of Congress, French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing says his country is "a dependable friend" in prosperity and adversity.

He told President Ford in a toast at a White House dinner Monday night that relations between the United States and France are at their best.

There has never been a time when contacts "have been more frequent, consultation more sustained and cooperation more good-willed," Giscard said. "Though our methods may sometimes differ, our final objectives are inspired by that same ideal of liberty, peace and justice."

Giscard speaks to a joint session of Congress today.

He and Ford took time out between formal talks on matters including nuclear non-proliferation to spend Monday evening dining, dancing, listening to jazz pianist Earl "Fatha" Hines at the White House party for 157 guests, including Hollywood and sports stars.

Giscard, here to celebrate the Bicentennial, found one of his ancestors given a place of honor in the White House State Dining Room.

It was French Admiral Charles Henri d'Estaing, who brought the first French fleet to America's aid in the Revolutionary War.

Ford said that a bust of the admiral had long resided at the White House, and it was brought out for display for the occasion. "Unfortunately, Gen. Washington never met Admiral d'Estaing," Ford said. "I count it a special privilege as the 38th President that I can welcome one of his descendants to this house and personally express our long overdue thanks for the distinguished contribution that was made by one of your predecessors in our struggle for our independence."

Giscard wore the scarlet sash of the French Legion of Honor with his white tie and tails. His wife, Anne-Aymone, wore a pale, sea-green, pearl-decorated Dior gown.

Sitting at the huge White House grand piano, Hines played for 40 minutes, including two encores of such well-known jazz numbers as "You Can Depend on Me" and "Boogie Woogie on St. Louis Blues."

He drew loud applause from both Ford and Giscard. Vocalist Marva Josie sang her opening number seated at the rear of the audience.

'Eleanor And Franklin' Wins Top Emmy Honors

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" was the big winner on the air but it was "Eleanor and Franklin," a two-part drama about the Roosevelt marriage, that emerged as the most honored program of the 1975-76 television season at the 28th annual Emmy Awards.

While "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" was named best comedy series for the second year in a row and captured four other Emmys besides, "Eleanor and Franklin" won four Monday night to add to the seven it had received last weekend.

The four-hour ABC drama grabbed Emmys in four prestigious categories during ABC's national telecast from the Shubert Theater — best comedy or dramatic special, best original screenplay for a special (James Costigan), best direction of a special (Daniel Petrie) and best supporting actress in a special (Rosemary Murphy).

In addition, "Eleanor and Franklin" had picked up seven Emmys in ceremonies held in Los Angeles last Saturday to honor the craft categories — for art direction and scenic design, costume design, makeup, cinematography, film editing, film sound mixing and an individual achievement award for hairstyling.

The other big winner Monday was "NBC's Saturday Night," a brash, satirical comedy show which won four awards, including best comedy-variety series.

Other top honors went to Peter Fulk of "Columbo" as best actor in a dramatic series, Michael Learned of "The Waltons" as best actress in a dramatic series, and Jack Albertson of "Chico and the Man" as best actor in a comedy series.

"Police Story" was chosen as best dramatic series and "Upstairs, Downstairs," the English import shown on the Public Broadcasting Service, won its third Emmy in as many years as best limited series.

In addition to being named best comedy series, "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" also topped honors for three of its stars, including Miss Moore as best actress in a comedy series — her third such Emmy on this show and her fifth over-all.

Honored in supporting categories were Ted Knight, the show's egocentric newscaster, and Betty White, the devilish host of a homemaking program. It was the second Emmy for each. Writer David Lloyd also got an Emmy for an episode of the CBS series.

Edward Asner didn't win as Mary's gruff newsroom boss, as he has in previous years, but he did win an Emmy as outstanding lead actor for a single drama or comedy appearance, awarded for his stunning performance as the bitter father of the two Jordache brothers in "Rich Man, Poor Man."

That was one of the few bright spots for ABC's 12-hour dramatization of the Irwin Shaw novel. "Rich Man, Poor Man" had received a record 23 Emmy nominations, but wound up winning just four — Asner, Fionnula Flanagan as best supporting actress, David Greene for direction and best music composition for a series.

"NBC's Saturday Night" won Emmys for its writers and director and for comedian Chevy Chase as best supporting actor in a variety or musical show.

In walking to the podium to accept his acting award, Chase did an elaborate, funny fall — the trademark with which he opens each installment of "Saturday Night." He then proceeded to tell the audience, "Needless to say, this (award) is totally expected on my part."

By ARTHUR L. GAYSHON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization may consider removing Italy from NATO's nuclear and intelligence systems if Communists gain a significant position in the Italian government, diplomatic sources said today.

Italy is to have national parliamentary elections June 20.

Most member governments of the 15-nation Atlantic alliance have publicly adopted a wait-and-see attitude to avoid charges of interfering in Italy's internal affairs.

But senior allied diplomats said Italy's wobbly political situation will dominate the regular spring conference of NATO foreign ministers in Oslo later this week — even though it's not on the formal agenda.

Informants said the attitude of major NATO governments, including the United States, Britain and West Germany, has been shaped during months of informal consultations.

They said the allied leaders have not drafted formal plans inside NATO to meet the contingency of a Communist entry into Italy's government. Italy now is represented at all levels within the NATO structure.

Informal consultations, according to a senior informant, have dealt with the central issue: Can Italy's Communist party, associated with the Soviet Communist party, be trusted to contribute to the collective defense of the West?

The Roman Catholic church in Italy, meanwhile, stepped up its anti-Communist activity. Prominent Catholics who have agreed to run on the Communist ticket were warned of possible excommunication by Antonio Cardinal Poma, head of the Italian Episcopal Conference.

South Haven Gets 'Austerity' Budget

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — An "austerity" budget of $1,262,315, which anticipates a reduction in local tax income has been proposed for the City of South Haven in fiscal 1976-77.

The budget, which takes effect July 1, will be presented to city council at its May 25 meeting. The budget is available for public inspection at the city clerk's office in city hall.

The proposed budget is only $6,421 more than acting City Manager Howard McDougall has estimated the city will spend during the current fiscal year. The current year's adopted budget is $1,246,892, but expenditures are now projected to be $1,255,894. Income for the current year is projected to be $1,258,532, as compared to a budgeted $1,246,882.

Most of the departmental increases reflect a six per cent salary hike due union employees July 1. The budget lacks significant capital outlay projects with the exception of the normal vehicle replacements.

Two departments — airport and streets — face sizeable cutbacks. The street department budget was trimmed from $249,164 to $206,947, while the airport expenditures were sliced from $24,100 to $8,100.

Major street construction project expenses have been reduced from $149,796 to $105,800 while local street improvement programs have been increased from $66,119 to $106,000.

Street improvements have been proposed for Van Buren street between Monroe and Maple streets; Cook street between Jones avenue and Blue Star highway; Cherry street between Superior and South Haven place; and St. Joseph street between Aylworth avenue and Elkenburg street.

Local property taxes are expected to increase from $411,904 to $418,507, but personal property taxes are predicted to decline from $132,126 to $140,583 of the removal of business inventory covered by the state's new single business tax.

The city-owned electric utility will be asked to pay $162,882 in lieu of taxes and contribute another $143,000 to the general fund.

Proposed departmental budgets with the current year's in parentheses are: city council $9,300 ($9,600); city manager $33,800 ($28,631); election $6,850 ($3,215); assessor $24,004

($18,852); clerk $20,292 ($18,721); accounting department $36,602 ($18,340); treasurer $19,974 ($14,288); cemetery $59,194 ($58,886); city hall and grounds $8,900 ($6,700); promotional $6,100 ($6,330); police $306,994 ($288,895); fire $180,383 ($171,282); building inspector $23,195 ($21,137); city engineer $15,873 ($15,398); highways and streets $305,947 ($346,164); airport $8,100 ($24,100); health $44,800 ($44,590); parks $58,999 ($42,517); recreation $41,350 ($35,000); planning commission $1,250 ($2,150); insurance and bonds $24,000 ($36,870); and contingencies $28,388 ($20,000).

The budget projects federal revenue sharing funds of $102,500 as opposed to $135,000 for the current year.

The municipal marina is expected to generate revenue of $28,150 against $21,150 for the current year.

Taxes Going Up In Berrien Springs

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
BERRIEN SPRINGS — Tax bills for Berrien Springs properly owners will go up by two mills this year as a result of action taken by the village council last night.

The council voted to boost the village tax levy from last year's 13.3-mill rate to 15.3 mills for this year.

Dale Moon, chairman of the finance committee of the council, said that the levy will include 14.8 mills for general operating expenses and a half-mill for the library. Because the half-mill library levy is a special tax, the village will remain under a 15-mill limit set by state law, he added.

Moon said the increased millage was needed to help pay for the village's share of the salaries of two Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police department employees who were dropped from the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) payroll. He said the village's share would be about $10,000.

The two-mill hike will also cover increased operating expenses due to inflation and uncertain estimates of state and federal revenue, Moon said.

The council also approved a 1976-77 operating budget calling for estimated expenditures of $300,381.

Moon said the the 15.3 mills would raise $151,573, out of total revenue estimated at $318,819. The remaining funds would come from village licenses and fees; state funds; and federal funds including revenue sharing, he said.

The budget would leave an estimated balance of $78,893. Moon said the balance was needed because the village's fiscal years are from February in February, but most state funds are not returned to the village until the fall.

In other areas, the council said the village's ordinance banning parking on tree lawns would be enforced effective June 1. Moon said the council has received complaints of parking on tree lawns, the space between curbs and sidewalks.

Clerk Wade Gorham was instructed by the council to sign a contract with Systematics, Inc., Little Rock, Ark., for the firm to provide a computer printout of village tax rolls at a cost of $150.

A request from the Berrien Springs band boosters to sell food from a pavilion at Indian Fields park during the village's July 4 program was approved.

Referred to the Greater Berrien Springs area parks and recreation board was a request from Fred Mason, representing the central Berrien county senior citizens center at Berrien Springs. He asked the council to pay for installation of shuffleboard courts at either Memorial park or near the old Berrien county courthouse.

South Haven Hospital Chief's Pay Hiked

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — A $3,000 salary increase for Wayne C. Eagleson, South Haven Community hospital administrator, was approved by the hospital board last night.

The hike, which is retroactive to Jan. 1, brings Eagleson's annual salary to $24,000. He has been administrator of the 92-bed facility for three years.

In other matters, the board noted it would be willing to negotiate the sale of a portion of property the hospital owns for construction of a medical office.

Dr. David Fenske, a South Haven physician, has indicated an interest in purchasing a 2.4 acre tract east of the hospital. Eagleson reported that the hospital is having difficulty developing a financing plan for a proposed $1 million construction program at the hospital. The work would expand the hospital's out-patient facilities.

The hospital is attempting to convince the federal government that it should relinquish its claim as the first lien holder for bonds financed through the government for a hospital addition in 1963.

The federal government would rather the hospital pay off the remaining $308,000 due on the loan, but the hospital isn't in a great hurry since the money was borrowed at three and one-half percent. Eagleson said there are enough funds accumulated to nearly pay off the debt which isn't due to be retired until 1983.

The hospital board feels that financing arrangements would be more attractive to investors if they could become the first lien holder.

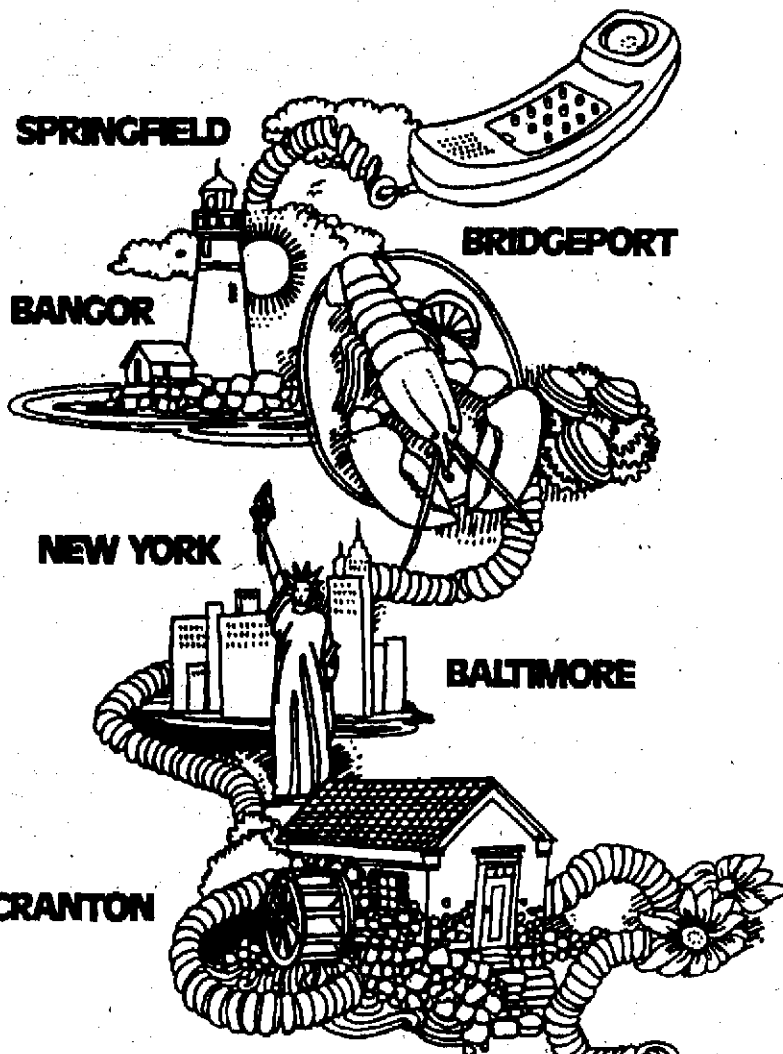

Improved patient occupancy last month resulted in a $15,849 operating fund surplus, according to Eagleson. The surplus reduced an accumulated fiscal year deficit to $27,321.

Eagleson noted a significant increase in patient occupancy in the intensive care unit. Occupancy last month in the unit was 87.3 per cent compared to 14.7 per cent for the same period a year ago.

he board approved the purchase of monitoring equipment worth $10,246 for the intensive care unit and analyzing apparatus valued at $5,700 for the laboratory.

To File, Or Not To File

SOUTH HAVEN — A special South Haven city council meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in city hall to discuss whether the city will file a final application for a community development block grant with the federal government.

Council was informed at its May 3 meeting that a pre-application for $286,500 in public works, housing rehabilitation and code enforcement projects had been approved.

Council delayed authorizing preparation of the final application until it received further information as to the city's responsibilities. Deadline for filing the application is June 15.

Berrien Township Negotiating One-Year Ambulance Contract

BERRIEN CENTER — A proposed one-year contract with Action Ambulance service to provide emergency ambulance service to the township would cost $3,883, or $323 a month, Supervisor Lowell Bruce told the Berrien township board last night.

The subsidy would result in ambulance fees being reduced to $40 a call, about half their present rate, Bruce said.

The total cost of $3,883 is based on a rate of about 83 cents per township resident, Bruce said. There are an estimated 4,176 township residents, he said. That is the same amount per capita that the village of Berrien Springs and Oronoko township have contracted for, Bruce said.

The board tentatively agreed to the terms of the contract last night and instructed Bruce to call a special meeting so formal action can be taken as soon as final agreement on the wording of the contract is reached.

Bruce said he expected to complete the negotiations and call the special meeting within a week. The negotiations have been underway for the past three months, he said.

In other areas, the board allocated $8,493 of federal revenue sharing funds for road improvements and voted permission to the fire board to paint the oldest pumper truck at an estimated cost of $900.

Baroda Township Urges Cut In Cleveland Speed

BARODA — The Baroda township board last night agreed to join Baroda village officials in an effort to have the 50 mile per hour speed limit on Cleveland avenue reduced.

Board members said they too would meet with the Berrien county road commission and ask that the speed limit be reduced or perhaps that a no passing zone be posted, according to Emil Nitz, township clerk.

The action was taken after Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mattner, 8821 Cleveland avenue, told the board the present speed limit is unsafe. On May 2, a 14-year-old boy was killed on the road when a car struck him while he was riding his bicycle along the shoulder.

In other areas, the board voted to appoint the village of Baroda as lead applicant for a

Joseph law firm of Ryan, McQuillan, VanderPloeg & Fette as city attorneys for one year for a $10,000 retainer fee. Stanard and Tullas, again voted against the measure.

The commission granted the Bridgman American Legion permission to hold a parade May 30 in the city.

The commission accepted the resignation of Nancy Askin from the zoning board of review, and named James Faulkner to its zoning board of appeals.

It was announced that Weko beach will be dedicated Aug. 1 as a Bicentennial Park project to qualify it for matching government development funds. Boat and park stickers for Weko beach are now required.

Bridgman Invites Lake Twp. To Public Session June 14

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman city commission last night unanimously approved requesting Lake township and city officials meet in public session June 14 to discuss establishing a "line of communication" between the two governmental units.

The city's request for the meeting will be made via letter. The request is in response to the township's reply to a similar city request two weeks ago.

In the reply the township said it would not be able to meet with the city unless the meeting was public and was announced one week ahead of time, according to a township resolution passed in February, 1975.

Commissioner James Bembenek who made the in-tion, said further arrangements for the meeting would be ironed out at a later date.

In other areas, the commission by a 5 to 2 vote adopted a policy saying annexation would not be required to supply water and sewer to the proposed new Bridgman middle school. Voting against the motion were Commissioners Vernon Stanard and Alfred Tullas. The city commission urged the school board to look further into the possibility of hooking up to city water and not just sewer.

Voting in favor of the measure were Mayor Ronald Gelesko, Charles Gilmore, Marilyn Stanard, Jim Catania and Bembenek.

South Haven Gets 'Austerity' Budget

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — An "austerity" budget of $1,262,315, which anticipates a reduction in local tax income has been proposed for the City of South Haven in fiscal 1976-77.

The budget, which takes effect July 1, will be presented to city council at its May 25 meeting. The budget is available for public inspection at the city clerk's office in city hall.

The proposed budget is only $6,421 more than acting City Manager Howard McDougall has estimated the city will spend during the current fiscal year. The current year's adopted budget is $1,246,882, but expenditures are now projected to be $1,255,894. Income for the current year is projected to be $1,259,532 as compared to a budgeted $1,248,882.

Most of the departmental increases reflect a six per cent salary hike due union employees July 1. The budget lacks significant capital outlay projects with the exception of the normal vehicle replacements.

Two departments — airport and streets — face sizeable cutbacks. The street department budget was trimmed from $349,164 to $305,647 while the airport expenditures were sliced from $24,100 to $8,100.

Major street construction project expenses have been reduced from $149,796 to $105,800 while local street improvement programs have been increased from $85,119 to $108,000.

Street improvements have been proposed for Van Buren street between Monroe and Maple streets, Cook street between Jones avenue and Blue Star highway, Cherry street between Superior and South Haven place and St. Joseph street between Aylworth avenue and Elkenburg street.

Local property taxes are expected to increase from $411,304 to $418,507, but personal property taxes are predicted to decline from $152,126 to $140,583 of the removal of business inventory covered by the state's new single business tax.

The city-owned electric utility will be asked to pay $162,882 in lieu of taxes and contribute another $143,000 to the general fund.

Proposed departmental budgets with the current year's in parentheses are: city council $9,300 ($9,600), city manager $33,800 ($28,631), election $6,850 ($3,215), assessor $24,606

($18,952), clerk $20,292 ($18,721), accounting department $26,602 ($18,340), treasurer $19,974 ($14,289), cemetery $59,704 ($58,886), city hall and grounds $8,900 ($8,700), promotional $6,100 ($6,350), police $306,994 ($288,895), fire $180,393 ($171,282), building inspector $23,195 ($21,137), city engineer $15,673 ($15,398), highways and streets $305,647 ($349,164), airport $8,100 ($24,100), health $44,800 ($44,550), parks $56,999 ($42,517), recreation $41,350 ($35,000), planning commission $1,250 ($2,150), insurance and bonds $24,000 ($36,670) and contingencies $28,386 ($20,000).

The budget projects federal revenue sharing funds of $102,500 as opposed to $135,000 for the current year.

The municipal marina is expected to generate revenue of $26,150 against $21,150 for the current year.

Let's remember at this time that the state has spent $570,000 and the system still is not the answer to the metro area transportation problem. They do not handle the following functions:

1. Emergency calls from local industry.

2. Western Union messages and telephone company messages.

3. Airport and bus stations.

4. Baggage.

5. Blood.

6. Radioactive material.

7. Air freight and bus freight.

8. Point-to-point courier service.

9. People who shop and have more than two bags (that Dial-A-Ride will not let on their bus).

10. Laundromats.

11. Holiday transportation of public.

12. All public transportation between 6:30 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Now I would like to state that my business and the local taxi business have suffered greatly by a venture that would be labeled socialistic and condemned by the public in another country. As a fellow taxpayer that does not have a chance to pick up the axe and strike a blow for my cause, I ask the voters of St. Joseph township to do it for me. Taxpayers of the world, unite.

Lakeshore Okays Raises For Drivers, Custodians

BY AL AREND
Staff Writer

Lakeshore school board last night ratified wage agreements with its school bus drivers and custodians for 1976-77.

Under the agreement, already approved by bus drivers and custodians, bus drivers will receive a 35 cents per hour pay hike and custodians a 30 cents per hour hike. Starting bus drivers will now make $3.85 per hour and $4.45 after their 90-day probationary period. Custodians starting pay will now be $4.15 per hour. In other areas, the board approved job descriptions for administrative and supervisory personnel, including a description for an additional assistant principal at the senior high, if needed.

The board accepted the low bid of $8,201, including trade-in, from John Deere company, South Bend, for a new tractor-pulver. It was the lowest of six bids submitted. The tractor will be used for snow removal of school sidewalks and parking lots, replacing the school's eight-year-old tractor.

The board approved paying its yearly dues of $1,313 to the Michigan Association of School Boards. The annual dues are based on a school system's enrollment, according to Supt. Fred Schmidt.

Four curriculum council recommendations from the fine arts, language arts, vocational-technical skills, and math committees were tabled, pending a review of the 1976-77 budget.

'Clean Slate' Doesn't Mean Same Thing For Lakeshore Schools, Benton Harbor

It appears the term "clean slate" has developed an opposite meaning locally. At last night's Lakeshore school board meeting, Supt. Frederick Schmidt in announcing the North Central Association report on Lakeshore public schools said: "Once again we have been given a clean slate...whoops I guess I could have used a better description." Schmidt's statement caused an outburst of laughter from the some 25 people in attendance. Benton Harbor Mayor Charles Joseph and his "Clean Slate" ticket commissioners are the targets of a recall attempt today.

BH Delays Vote On Bid To Sell Building To Firm

The Benton Harbor city commission Monday night postponed action on a request from Monitor Sound Systems, Inc., that the city sell the firm the building it is renting at 59 Wall street for a total price of $1.

Also postponed was action on an alternate request from Monitor Sound that its present one-year lease be re-written "on a firm five-year basis" with terms basically the same as the present rental of $178 a month.

Absent from the 30-minute meeting on the eve of the city's recall election were Mayor Charles Joseph and Commissioners Charles Shepherd and Barbara Hucksby, all targets of the recall effort. It was the fourth consecutive meeting Mrs. Hucksby has missed.

The Monitor Sound proposals were read in the form of separate letters from James A. Anderson, general manager of the electronics firm. Anderson later told The Herald-Palladium the firm is its former level of 45 workers over the next 90-120 days.

He said the company started production of battery-operated intercom units in January, but was forced to halt production in late February because of financial problems.

Anderson said under terms of the current one-year lease with the city, Monitor Sound is occupying the building at 59 Wall street rent-free until June and will pay $178 a month rent for the final six months of the lease, which expires Nov. 1.

In requesting sale of the building by the city, Anderson said it would return the building to the city tax rolls and permit the firm to list the building as an asset on its books.

Either sale or a five-year lease would allow the firm to project, operating costs on a long-term basis and invest in improvements in the building, he said.

Monitor Sound was launched with the help of a $25,000 loan of federal funds through the United Community Development Corporation and workers were trained under a Michigan department of Labor grant using federal CETA funds.

In March, corporate summonses were issued against the firm charging failure to pay wages to three employees, but the case has not yet been resolved in court.

In postponing action on the requests, commissioners indicated they would discuss the matter in a workshop session before a possible meeting with O.J. Patti, president of the firm.

The commission also heard from City Manager James Peoples Jr. and Citizen Advisory Board Chairman Arnold Smith that federal Department of Housing and Urban Development officials in Detroit have indicated HUD will approve the city's revised $14 million Community Development grant application.

The revised application was approved by the commission last week after HUD ruled that nine projects totalling $500,000 in the original grant application were ineligible for funding, including provisions for a mayor's newsletter and a city ombudsman.

Commissioners also heard a request from Berrien County Action, Inc., for use of a two-lot site in the city at no cost for locating a temporary medical facility. BCA hopes to obtain from the Family Health Center of Kalamazoo.

Peoples said he would report next week on possible locations for the facility, which BCA will operate as a neighborhood medical center with federal funding, if approved.

In other business last night, the commission:

—Gave formal approval to tax exemption certificates for Michigan Standard Alloys and Superior Steel Castings under Industrial Development and Rehabilitation District Acts that qualifies the two companies for 50 per cent tax reduction for 12 years on some $3.5 million in new equipment at their plants.

—Approved new signs designation Benton Harbor as a Bicentennial city that will be erected at the city limits.

—Approved letters of condolences to the families of the late Rev. E.H. Culpepper and former Benton Harbor Fire Chief Ralph Hetherington.

—Set June 1 as the date of the commission meeting that normally would be held on May 31, Memorial day.

In 1966-1970 he served in the Marine Corps reserve, and after discharge was named national sales manager for Ad-A-Day company, Taunton, Mass. For the past year, he has been employed with TV Fanfare publications in northern Indiana.

Hartford Approves Job Descriptions

HARTFORD — Job descriptions for three classroom aides were approved by the Hartford school board in a special meeting last night.

Supt. Gary Waterkamp said the job description approval does not mean the district plans to hire a teacher aide, a playground aide and a library aide for next fall.

The board has already notified 28 teachers they may not be rehired next year unless the school's financial picture improves. Waterkamp said the same financial standard applies to the aides.

In other action, the board

June 1 for an open house at the new middle school; and announced the board is accepting applications for job of cheerleader sponsor, an extra duty that carries a two per cent of annual salary wage.

Van Buren Republicans Convene On May 27

Monitor Sound was launched with the help of a $25,000 loan of federal funds through the United Community Development Corporation and workers were trained under a Michigan department of Labor grant using federal CETA funds.

In March, corporate summonses were issued against the firm charging failure to pay wages to three employees, but the case has not yet been resolved in court.

In postponing action on the requests, commissioners indicated they would discuss the matter in a workshop session before a possible meeting with O.J. Patti, president of the firm.

The commission also heard from City Manager James Peoples Jr. and Citizen Advisory Board Chairman Arnold Smith that federal Department of Housing and Urban Development officials in Detroit have indicated HUD will approve the city's revised $1.4 million Community Development grant application.

The revised application was approved by the commission last week after HUD ruled that nine projects totalling $530,000 in the original grant application were ineligible for funding, including provisions for a mayor's newsletter and a city ombudsman.

Commissioners also heard a request from Berrien County Action, Inc., for use of a two-lot site in the city at no cost for locating a temporary medical facility. BCA hopes to obtain from the Family Health Center of Kalamazoo.

Peoples said he would report next week on possible locations for the facility, which BCA will operate as a neighborhood medical center with federal funding, if approved.

In other business last night, the commission:

— Gave formal approval to tax exemption certificates for Michigan Standard Alloys and Superior Steel Castings under Industrial Development and Rehabilitation District Acts that qualifies the two companies for 50 per cent tax reduction for 12 years on some $3.5 million in new equipment at their plants.

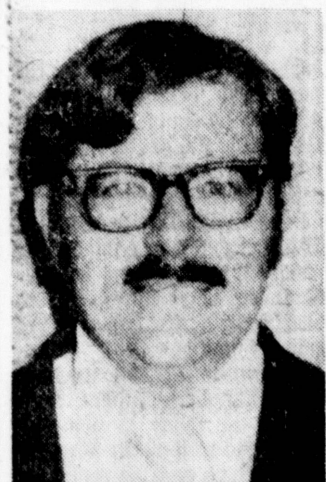

— Approved new signs designation Benton Harbor as a Bicentennial city that will be erected at the city limits.

— Approved letters of condolences to the families of the late Rev. E.H. Culpepper and former Benton Harbor Fire Chief Ralph Hetherington.

— Set June 1 as the date of the commission meeting that normally would be held on May 31, Memorial day.

Hartford Approves Job Descriptions

HARTFORD — Job descriptions for three classroom aides were approved by the Hartford school board in a special meeting last night.

Supt. Gary Waterkamp said the job description approval does not mean the district plans to hire a teacher aide, a playground aide and a library aide for next fall.

The board has already notified 28 teachers they may not be rehired next year unless the school's financial picture improves. Waterkamp said the same financial standard applies to the aides.

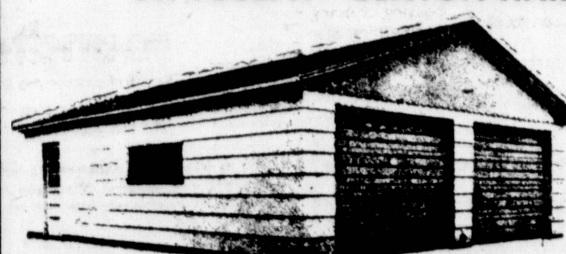

In other action, the board tabled for a third time this year a request by school athletic director James Wallace that the board begin a high school inter-mural wrestling program; set

Typhoon Kills 8

AGANA, Guam (AP) — Typhoon Pamela roared across Truk Island today, causing mudslides that killed at least eight persons and injured an unknown number, authorities here said. The storm packed winds up to 150 miles an hour and torrential rains.

Donald Weiland Gets Dowagiac School Position

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac school board last night appointed a Benton Harbor resident as its new business affairs manager, a post paying $20,000 a year. Given a one-year contract was Donald Weiland, 53, of 199 West Ridgeway road, Benton Harbor. He is to start work June 1.

DONALD W. WEILAND
Business affairs manager

Weiland came to the Dowagiac school district from the Twin Cities Chamber of Commerce where he was director of manpower planning for the past two years.

Prior to that he was employed by Benton Harbor Mallesle Industries where he served 22 years in positions including executive vice president, general manager, treasurer, and controller.

In his new position, Weiland will oversee all financial matters including purchasing and budgeting.

He replaces R. Gordon Anderson who resigned earlier this year to return to classroom teaching.

Weiland and his wife, Shirley, are the parents of two married daughters.

In other business, a high school mathematics teacher was appointed athletic director, Richard Dorgan was named athletic director for 1976-77 and will continue to teach math part-time. No salary was announced.

He replaces Terry Davissun who last month announced that he wished to return to full-time classroom teaching.

The board approved a summer school program, including migrant classes, to run from June 17 to July 30.

The program, as presented by Paul Fuss, director of curriculum, is in two sections. The state-funded migrant program will cost an estimated $26,417. An estimated 100 pupils will be taught on full-day sessions.

The regular summer school sessions will cost an estimated $6,592 from local funds. About 80 to 100 pupils will attend classes on half days.

The board approved new boundary lines for all the district's six elementary schools. The revisions were made to adjust student populations to conform to the new system going into effect in September under which the Patrick Hamilton school will be used exclusively for all pupils in grades 5 and 6 throughout the district.

The other five elementary schools will house grades K-4. Approximately 25 parents were present last night to question various phases of the new elementary districts. They were told the board had no choice but to implement the adjustments in view of the rejection last November of a $3.5 million building proposal.

Several parents said they disapproved of fifth and sixth graders being bused to a central location rather than attending their neighborhood schools.

The board voted to purchase 24 lights for the high school football field at a cost of $5,100 from the Crescent electric company, Smith Bend, the low bidder among three.

At the same time, the board approved the removal of all baseball field lights because of their condition. The lights were installed in 1937, and some have been falling off the poles recently, board members said.

Milliken Tells Plans

million — not counting possible pay raises for State Police troopers or state employees and any additional school, aid requirements for the July September quarter.

Another potential cost, Milliken said, is the order handed down by U.S. District Judge Robert E. DeMasco in the Detroit housing case, directing the state Board of Education to pay half the cost of programs to develop reading and communications skills, testing programs, in-service training and counseling and career guidance.

The state's share has been estimated at $10 million, Milliken said, but Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley is appealing the decision.

TO RENEW TIES

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India announced today it would exchange ambassadors with Pakistan beginning sometime during the week of July 17-24.

Reagan campaigned only briefly in Michigan, saying it would be "something of a miracle" if he defeated Ford on his home turf. In an appearance before the Detroit Economic Club last week he warned pending government regulation would cost 200,000 jobs in the auto industry. Unemployment in the state averaged 12.5 per cent in 1975.

Reagan's campaign manager conceded Monday that a victory here "is still very much a long shot," but added: "Political lightning may strike." Wallace carried 51 per cent of the Michigan Democratic vote in 1972, when he was the beneficiary of a massive suburban antibusing movement. The U.S. Supreme Court later ruled out a metropolitan school integration plan for Detroit, and Wallace's appearances in the state over the past two weeks drew tiny crowds in comparison to those of four years ago.

Some of Wallace's former supporters are expected to cross party lines to vote for Reagan, who has asked for backing from Democrats and independents as well as Republicans. Supporters of the President countered with a similar appeal for crossovers. There is no party registration in Michigan, and voters decide in the polling booth which line to mark.

Udall campaigned exhaustively in Michigan, hoping his liberal, pro-labor record would give him an advantage in this heavily industrial state. But United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, other top UAW officials and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young endorsed Carter.

Udall aides say a poll they took about 10 days ago showed Carter beating Udall by a 2-1 margin. They said they believe Udall subsequently narrowed the gap, but was still trailing.

Udall aides said Monday they were uncertain of the impact of a dispute which developed over the weekend after Detroit's black mayor made a statement linking Udall to the racist policies of the Mormon Church.

Udall, who said he broke with the church over its racial beliefs 30 years ago, demanded an apology from Young. But the Detroit mayor refused, calling Udall a "crybaby." Carter and Udall were in Michigan on Monday, making last-minute bids for voter support.

Sen. Robert Griffin campaigned on behalf of the President, who campaigned vigorously in Michigan over the weekend, and former California Gov. Reagan was represented by his campaign manager, Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada. Speaking at a shopping center in the Detroit suburb of Livonia on Monday, Carter criticized Ford for telling a young heckler that the man could get a job if he went out and looked for one.

"But 12-and-a-half per cent of the people in the work force in Michigan are unemployed," Carter said, "and for the President to instruct that anybody in the country can find one (a job) shows he's been in Washington too long. And just because he got appointed to his job and has been in Washington 30 and 35 years shows he's been out of touch with what's going on in this country."

The President's angry rebuke of the heckler came in Battle Creek on Saturday during a whistlestop train tour of southern Michigan. Ford was describing what he has done to improve the economy when the heckler called out: "Yeah, you blew it." Ford shut back: "We blew it in the right direction, young man, and if you'd go out and look for a job, you'd get one."

Carter also lashed out at Reagan for failing to make full disclosure of income taxes in recent years, but didn't mention his Democratic rivals. Udall, still campaigning for rank-and-file union support, made an appearance at the Rouge overpass where UAW leaders fought a battle with Ford Motor Co. security guards during the union-organizing days nearly 40 years ago.

"Is the Democratic party going to nominate a candidate who is frightened on the great issues facing our nation, or are we going to settle for a smile and a promise?" he said, taking a jibe at Carter. Udall said the nation needs a federal full employment policy, break-up of the major oil companies and repeal of right-to-work legislation which "stifles legitimate union organizing and helps Georgia steal plants and jobs from Michigan."

He said Carter was slow to endorse Democratic legislation for full employment and has made conflicting statements on breaking up the oil companies and right-to-work laws. "Instead of support for the progressive positions we have fought so long to bring to reality, he asks for our trust and promises never to tell a lie," Udall said of Carter.

Manna Wants To Help Ford

Manna Woodworth, long-time director of the House of David orchestra, expressed his "sincere and important desire to be of service" during the campaign of President Gerald Ford. In a letter written to the President, Woodworth volunteered to take part "in any function, anywhere, any time, that could help the success of your campaign." Last week in Berrien Springs, the 80-year-old Benton Harbor man sang a campaign song which he wrote for Ford. The audience, present to hear a speech by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, applauded the song, and Butz shook Woodworth's hand.

Teacher Group At South Haven Salutes Seven

By TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven educators paid tribute to several of their peers for distinguished service last night during the annual spring banquet of the South Haven Education association at Frielman's resort. Miss Janis Holmes, director of guidance at the senior high and a teacher in the South Haven system for 30 years, was named the system's Teacher of the Year.

She was credited for serving as "a listening post to more people in South Haven than probably any other member on the faculty."

Miss Alice Wisely, the 1975 honoree who presented the award to Miss Holmes, noted that her rapport with young people is something that "lasts and extends far beyond their years in school."

The teachers also paid tribute to Mrs. Winifred Gillett, a retired teacher for the past five years who now donates her time several days a week to help children with learning disabilities. Mrs. Gillett was recently honored by the South Haven Kiwanis club for her community service.

Two retiring teachers were honored. Mrs. Maxine Drenth is ending 25 years as an educator, the last 12 as junior high librarian, while Mrs. Dorothy Bennett is retiring after 21 years service in the South Haven system as an early elementary teacher. She is presently a first grade teacher at Lullapla school.

Recognized for having achieved 25 years of teaching were Mrs. Bess Goff, kindergarten teacher at Indiana school; Mrs. Aldona Stephenson, fourth grade teacher at Central school; and Mrs. Rachel Sunday, junior high English teacher.

$25,000 In Antiques Are Stolen

SOUTH HAVEN — Antique weapons valued by the owner at $25,000 were reported stolen in a break-in of the Mariners Inn restaurant, 38 North Shore drive, last night, according to South Haven city police.

The weapons, described as guns and swords dating back to as far as 1800, were removed from a gun case in the restaurant which has an old English theme.

Police said they were alerted by an alarm system at 10:35 p.m., but that the intruders had fled when the first patrol car arrived within two minutes.

Police theorized the intruders devised a way to override the system. Officers said a door window had been removed. Items taken included six rifles and handguns, including an 1800 Colt "frontier rifle," and three swords. The owner was identified as Hawley Smith, of Chicago.

It is the second burglary of a South Haven business since last Friday. Watches valued at $800 were taken in the burglary of Arkin's news agency late Friday or early Saturday.

Donald Weiland Gets Dowagiac School Position

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac school board last night appointed a Benton Harbor resident as its new business affairs manager, a post paying $20,000 a year. Given a one-year contract was Donald Weiland, 58, of 199 West Ridgeway road, Benton Harbor. He is to start work June 1.

DONALD W. WEILAND
Business affairs manager

Weiland comes to the Dowagiac school district from the Twin Cities Chamber of Commerce where he was director of manpower planning for the past two years.

Prior to that he was employed by Benton Harbor Malleable Industries where he served 22 years in positions including executive vice president, general manager, treasurer, and comptroller.

In his new position, Weiland will oversee all financial matters including purchasing and budgeting.

He replaces R. Gordon Anderson who resigned earlier this year to return to classroom teaching.

Weiland and his wife, Shirley, are the parents of two married daughters.

In other business, a high school mathematics teacher was appointed athletic director. Richard Dorgan was named athletic director for 1976-77 and will continue to teach math part-time. No salary was announced.

He replaces Terry Davison who last month announced that he wished to return to full-time classroom teaching.

The board approved a summer school program, including migrant classes, to run from June 17 to July 30.

The program, as presented by Paul Foss, director of curriculum, is in two sections.

The state-funded migrant program will cost an estimated $26,417. An estimated 100 pupils will be taught on full-day sessions.

The regular summer school sessions will cost an estimated $6,592 from local funds. About 80 to 100 pupils will attend classes on half days.

The board approved new boundary lines for all the district's six elementary schools.

The revisions were made to adjust student populations to conform to the new system going into effect in September under which the Patrick Hamilton school will be used exclusively for all pupils in grades 5 and 6 throughout the district.

The other five elementary schools will house grades K-4.

Approximately 25 parents were present last night to question various phases of the new elementary districts. They were told the board had no choice but to implement the adjustments in view of the rejection last November of a $3.5 million building proposal.

Several parents said they disapproved of fifth and sixth graders being bused to a central location rather than attending their neighborhood schools.

The board voted to purchase 24 lights for the high school football field at a cost of $5,100 from the Crescent electric company, South Bend, the low bidder among three.

At the same time, the board approved the removal of all baseball field lights because of their condition. The lights were installed in 1937, and some have been falling off the poles recently, board members said.

LEAVES FOR U.S. — TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Former Prime Minister Golda Meir left for the United States today and will meet President Ford during her visit.

Kennedy also said he is convinced a way must be found to bring about relief for our property taxpayers. He said the regressive tax, in many cases, hurts those least able to stand that hurt; those on fixed incomes and senior citizens.

"Finally, this legislature must take steps to pass legislation to improve Michigan's business climate. Our current so-called incentives are doing nothing to bring new business into our state or even to have existing businesses expand here," he said. "I am hopeful that current business tax structures can be revised to provide equity for all businesses. I also hope that we can bring about much-needed changes in the workers compensation and unemployment laws to provide increased benefits to those in need and to eliminate the areas of abuse which are sapping these funds almost to the point of insolvency."

Kennedy is a member of the Simpson United Methodist church and a 32nd degree Mason. He has participated in many community activities including the Michigan Pesticide association, as a board member of the Van Buren county Farm Bureau, a school board member, 4-H leader, member of the South Haven Community hospital board.

Kennedy is a graduate of Michigan State university. He and his wife, Eileen, have two daughters. Mrs. Dean Bishop of Detroit and Mrs. John Speeter of Kalamazoo.

The 45th legislative district is composed of parts of Allegan, Van Buren, Berrien and Barry counties.

million — not counting possible pay raises for State Police troopers or state employees and any additional school aid requirements for the July September quarter.

Another potential cost, Milliken said, is the order handed down by U.S. District Judge Robert E. DeMascio in the Detroit bus case, directing the state Board of Education to pay half the cost of programs to develop reading and communications skills, testing programs, in-service training and counseling and career guidance.

The state's share has been estimated at $10 million, Milliken said, but Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley is appealing the decision.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India announced today it would exchange ambassadors with Pakistan beginning sometime during the week of July 17-24.

Reagan campaigned only briefly in Michigan, saying it would be "something of a miracle" if he defeated Ford on his home turf. In an appearance before the Detroit Economic Club last week he warned pending government regulation would cost 200,000 jobs in the auto industry. Unemployment in the state averaged 12.3 per cent in 1975.

Reagan's campaign manager conceded Monday that a victory here "is still very much a long shot," but added: "Political lightning may strike." Wallace carried 51 per cent of the Michigan Democratic vote in 1972, when he was the beneficiary of a massive suburban anti-busing movement. The U.S. Supreme Court later ruled out a metropolitan school integration plan for Detroit, and Wallace's appearances in the state over the past two weeks drew tiny crowds in comparison to those of four years ago.

Some of Wallace's former supporters are expected to cross party lines to vote for Reagan, who has asked for backing from Democrats and independents as well as Republicans. Supporters of the President countered with a similar appeal for crossovers. There is no party registration in Michigan, and voters decide in the polling booth which line to mark.

Udall campaigned exhaustively in Michigan, hoping his liberal, pro-labor record would give him an advantage in this heavily industrial state. But United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, other top UAW officials and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young endorsed Carter.

Udall aides say a poll they took about 10 days ago showed Carter beating Udall by a 2-1 margin. They said they believe Udall subsequently narrowed the gap, but was still trailing.

Udall aides said Monday they were uncertain of the impact of a dispute which developed over the weekend after Detroit's black mayor made a statement linking Udall to the racist policies of the Mormon Church.

Udall, who said he broke with the church over its racial beliefs 30 years ago, demanded an apology from Young. But the Detroit mayor refused, calling Udall a "crybaby." Carter and Udall were in Michigan on Monday, making last-minute bids for voter support.

Sen. Robert Griffin campaigned on behalf of the President, who campaigned vigorously in Michigan over the weekend, and former California Gov. Reagan was represented by his campaign manager, Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada. Speaking at a shopping center in the Detroit suburb of Livonia on Monday, Carter criticized Ford for telling a young heckler that the man could get a job if he went out and looked for one.

"But 12-and-a-half per cent of the people in the work force in Michigan are unemployed," Carter said, "and for the President to insinuate that anybody in this country can find one (a job) shows he's been in Washington too long. And just because he got appointed to his job and has been in Washington 30 and 35 years shows he's been out of touch with what's going on in this country."

The President's angry rebuke of the heckler came in Battle Creek on Saturday during a whistlestop train tour of southern Michigan. Ford was describing what he has done to improve the economy when the heckler called out: "Yeah, you blew it." Ford shot back: "We blew it in the right direction, young man, and if you'd go out and look for a job, you'd get one."

Carter also lashed out at Reagan for failing to make full disclosure of income taxes in recent years, but didn't mention his Democratic rivals. Udall, still campaigning for rank-and-file union support, made an appearance at the Rouge overpass where UAW leaders fought a battle with Ford Motor Co. security guards during the union-organizing days nearly 40 years ago.

"Is the Democratic party going to nominate a candidate who is forthright on the great issues facing our nation, or are we going to settle for a smile and a promise?" he said, taking a jibe at Carter. Udall said the nation needs a federal full employment policy, break-up of the major oil companies and repeal of right-to-work legislation which "stifles legitimate union organizing and helps Georgia steal plants and jobs from Michigan."

He said Carter was slow to endorse Democratic legislation for full employment and has made conflicting statements on breaking up the oil companies and right-to-work laws. "Instead of support for the progressive positions we have fought so long to bring to reality, he asks for our trust and promises never to tell a lie," Udall said of Carter.

Manna Wants To Help Ford

Manna Woodworth, long-time director of the House of David orchestra, expressed his "sincere and important desire to be of service" during the campaign of President Gerald Ford. In a letter written to the President, Woodworth volunteered to take part "in any function, anywhere, any time, that could help the success of your campaign." Last week in Berrien Springs, the 80-year-old Benton Harbor man sang a campaign song which he wrote for Ford. The audience, present to hear a speech by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, applauded the song, and Butz shook Woodworth's hand.

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven educators paid tribute to several of their peers for distinguished service last night during the annual spring banquet of the South Haven Education association at Fidelity's resort. Miss Janis Holmes, director of guidance at the senior high and a teacher in the South Haven system for 30 years, was named the system's Teacher of the Year.

She was credited for serving as "a listening post to more people in South Haven than probably any other member on the faculty."

Miss Alice Wisely, the 1975 honoree who presented the award to Miss Holmes, noted that her rapport with young people is something that "lasts and extends far beyond their years in school."

The teachers also paid tribute to Mrs. Winifred Gillett, a retired teacher for the past five years who now donates her time several days a week to help children with learning disabilities. Mrs. Gillett was recently honored by the South Haven Kiwanis club for her community service.

Two retiring teachers were honored. Mrs. Maxine Drenth is ending 25 years as an educator, the last 12 as junior high librarian, while Mrs. Dorothy Bennett is retiring after 21 years service in the South Haven system as an early elementary teacher. She is presently a first grade teacher at Indiana school.

Recognized for having achieved 25 years of teaching were Mrs. Bess Goff, kindergarten teacher at Indiana school; Mrs. Aldona Stephenson, fourth grade teacher at Central school; and Mrs. Rachel Sunday, junior high English teacher.

It is the second burglary of a South Haven business since last Friday. Watches valued at $600 were taken in the burglary of Arkin's news agency late Friday or early Saturday.

Myron Southworth said he received a call about 3:30 p.m. yesterday from the hospital, informing him of the death of Charles Jackson, 56, of M-140. Although the hospital did not disclose the cause of death, Jackson's lawyer, Atty. Richard K. Burnham of Paw Paw, said Jackson had been hospitalized about two weeks ago suffering from cancer of the lymph nodes.

Jackson was arrested on May 25, 1975, charged with two counts of delivery of heroin. His bond was originally set at $150,000 by Judge Donald M. Goodwillie Jr. of Seventh District court, South Haven, but was later reduced to $22,500 by Circuit Judge David Anderson Jr. Jackson was free on the reduced bond, when he was again arrested March 9 and charged with two more counts of selling heroin.

Goodwillie at the time of Jackson's arraignment, criticized the delay in bringing Jackson to trial on the May, 19, 1975 charges and the reduction in bond which allowed him to go free.

Buchanan Approves Vote On 20.4 Mills

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan school board last night voted to put three property tax millage requests on the June 14 election ballot totaling 20.4 mills.

The largest proposal asks voters for the second time this year to approve the renewal of a 17-mill property tax levy for three years. That levy expired with the 1975 tax collection and its renewal was defeated at the polls March 8 as part of a 20-mill property tax package. The other part was also defeated.

The other proposals on the June ballot ask for 2.4 mills for one year to restore a variety of proposed program cuts and one mill for three years to finance building and equipment repairs.

If the 17-mill proposal passes, it would generate an estimated $2,774,868, said David Hanson, board president. That would allow the district to offer a "very bare program next year," he said.

If all three millage requests pass, the 1976 property tax rate would be about 28.7 mills. In 1975, the levy totaled 25.378 mills, which included allocated millage of 8.378 mills and extra voted millage of 17 mills.

The tentative budget approved last month for 1976-77 totals $3,152,280 and was based on a voted increase of 20 mills.

Hanson said that if the 2.4-mill proposal passes in June, the district will be able to restate several programs recommended to be cut before next fall.

Programs which might not have to be cut included high school athletics, full busing, allowing the Indian Hills elementary to remain open, field trips, activity sponsors, elementary art specialists, an instrumental music teaching position, equipment replacement and summer counseling and library activities.

The suggested cuts were recommended last month by a 42-member citizens committee appointed after the defeat of the 20 mills in March.

The committee was charged with trimming $240,000 from next year's budget and would up recommending cuts totaling $376,539.

The one mill on the June ballot, if approved, would be earmarked for a variety of repairs to buildings and equipment, Hanson said.

Priorities items in this area include fixing the Ottawa and Moccasin school roofs, replacement of old window frames at Moccasin, rewiring the high school stage, replacing the high school chimney and making necessary changes at all schools to satisfy state safety requirements.

In a related area, the board voted to thank the 42-member citizens committee for the work it did in recommending the proposed budget cuts. Singled out for board appreciation was the committee's chairman, Clyde Remmo.

Hanson noted that the committee's report had concluded with a statement saying that any cuts in program would be harmful.

SOUTH HAVEN — A Chicago man yesterday discovered that coming to the aid of a woman in distress doesn't have all the rewards the knight in shining armor would want you to believe.

Patrick Weiskircher, 22, state police at South Haven that his car was stolen by a gun-toting man who hid in his damsel's car which Weiskircher had stopped to assist on Interstate 196 near the Saugatuck exit in Allegan county.

Weiskircher said a young woman with blonde hair flagged him down as he returned from Spring Lake to his Illinois home about 2:45 p.m.

The victim told officers that as he approached the woman's car he was greeted by a man who had been hiding in the back seat. The man was armed with a .22 caliber handgun.

Weiskircher said he was forced to empty his pockets and then told to start walking. He said the supposed disabled car and his vehicle drove off in a southerly direction.

Police estimate it took the victim, nearly an hour to hithike in Holland where he reported the incident.

The victim's car was found abandoned in a field near 14th avenue and 77th street, South Haven township shortly after 5 p.m.

Fortunately for Weiskircher the vehicle as intact, including a CB radio. He reported that the robbers also came up without any of his money because he had hidden it in a swimming suit pocket that went unnoticed by the gunman.

The gunman was described as being 30 to 35 years of age while his female accomplice was said to be in her mid-20s. They were believed to be driving a dark green 1967 Pontiac with Indiana plates.

Paw Paw Schools Ask 18.4 Mills

PAW PAW — Paw Paw school district voters will decide in the annual school election June 14 whether to approve an 18.42 mill property tax levy for school operations for a period of one year.

The proposal, placed on the ballot last night by the board of education, calls for a renewal of 17.5 mills which expired with the 1975 tax collection, coupled with a .92 mill increase. If approved, the 18.42 voted mills plus 8.58 mills allocated to the district, would bring the system's operational millage to 27 mills.

Supt. Norval Bovee said the .92 mill increase is expected to generate an estimated $86,321 in additional revenue — $39,033 in local taxes and $47,288 in additional state aid. He said the 27 mill total is needed to balance the district's anticipated 1976-77 budget of $3,237,140.

Overall, the levy would produce about $725,000 in local taxes for school operations.

Paw Paw has not had a millage increase since 1971. Bovee said he had considered asking the board to submit the proposal for a period longer than one year. But, he said, he did not feel he could predict the district's needs beyond a year and that he felt the voters were more likely to approve a short-term levy.

The superintendent also announced that the district's SEV had climbed to some $42.4 million, about a 9.6 per cent increase over last year's $38.6 million. Although the increase is expected to bring in more local revenue, he said he expected it to be offset by a decrease in state aid.

Counselor Stan Pefley announced that Paw Paw's fourth and seventh graders in the 1975 state assessment passed 97.4 per cent of the reading objectives and 82.8 per cent of the math objectives at higher than the state level.

The board also heard a report from teacher Mrs. Mary McCray on student Bicentennial projects undertaken during the year: approved a one-year extension of the developmental kindergarten program; continued for another year its membership in the Michigan Association of School Boards, and extended indefinitely its association with the Kalamazoo Valley intermediate school district media center.

The board also learned that the system had received accreditation for 1975-76 from the North Central association.

Same Berrien Tax Split Is Proposed

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county tax allocation board yesterday voted tentatively to divide the annual county 15-mill property tax in the same shares as last year. The split was passed unanimously on the first ballot with no squabbles. County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke reported. The final determination will be made after public hearings on May 25 and 26 at the Berrien Intermediate school district headquarters in Berrien Springs.

* Each spring the board is required to divide 15 mills in property taxes among three governmental units — county, townships, and school districts. The constitutional limit is 15 mills. In making the tentative split, the board used a county equalized valuation figure of $1,146 billion, an increase of $120 million over the 1975 valuation. The new property value figure was adopted by the county board at its April meeting. Kesterke reported the 1976 millage shares are: County government, 5.425 mills; townships, one mill; Intermediate school district, 199 mill; and local school districts 8.376 mills. Also, the Colonia, Watervliet, and Niles school districts will get 8.376 mills because their districts cross county lines.

Hearings for objections to the proposed millage split will be at 1:30 p.m. on May 25 and 7:30 p.m. on May 26.

Stacey To Seek Another Term

Incumbent Berrien County Commissioner Ladd S. Stacey Monday filed nominating petitions with the Berrien clerk's office seeking re-election as commissioner from District 8.

Senior Citizens Day Wednesday

Senior Day will be held tomorrow at the Berrien County Council of Churches' Camp Warren — not Thursday as reported in The Herald-Palladium yesterday. All area senior citizens are invited to the event from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and are asked to bring a potluck lunch.

Lawton School Vote Set

LAWTON — The Lawton school board last night approved placing a request for an additional 2.27-mill property tax levy for school operations on the June 14 ballot.

Two weeks ago, the board mistakenly approved seeking renewal of 15 mills, but the next day learned the 15 mills didn't expire until after the 1976 tax collections. Last night the board rescinded its action of May 3.

Supt. George Dannecker said the 2.27 mills would bring in around $42,000 in local money and approximately $41,000 in state aid if approved. If approved the district's total operating millage would be 25.83 mills.

Lawton school district voters have turned down three successive requests for extra-voted operating millage.

In other areas, the board approved a one-year contract with non-teaching personnel, which represent a 5.5 per cent wage increase. Dannecker said total cost of the new contract is pegged at $183,180, compared to $171,839 for this year. He said 31 people are involved. He said fringe benefits were also improved for the bus drivers, custodians, cooks, secretaries, teacher aides and coaches.

The board authorized borrowing $30,000 in anticipation of state aid. The low bid of 4.25 per cent interest on the 153-day note from Michigan National bank of Battle Creek was accepted.

The board approved a service agreement with the Kalamazoo Valley intermediate school district for a computer payroll service. Dannecker said the service would save the district about $1,500 annually

New Buffalo Will Vote On 16.6 Mills

NEW BUFFALO — Two property tax levy proposals were put on the June 14 school election ballot last night by the New Buffalo school board.

One was the renewal of 14.624 mills (that expired with the last tax collections) for three years for general operations; and the other an additional 1.988 mills that would be used only for the maintenance and repair of the Central high school building and grounds.

If approved, the combined millages would bring in a maximum $713,481 and would raise the district's total tax levy to 27.138 mills.

The board in March voted to put tax issues on the June ballot but did not set the amount until last night.

Supt. Walter Schwarz said the 14.624 mills would by itself raise about $628,100 in local taxes towards the school's 1976-77 preliminary budget of $1,622,869.

The preliminary budget is about $58,500 lower

Tax Split Doesn't Please Van Buren

By DENNIS COGSWELL

PAW PAW — In a preliminary decision here yesterday, the Van Buren county tax allocation board voted to keep the division of the 15-mill non-voted property tax rate for county governmental bodies the same as last year.

Formal approval of the allocated millage split is expected to come at a meeting scheduled for May 27 at the Van Buren Intermediate school district offices here. Under the division, school districts would receive 8.58 mills except for two districts; townships one mill; the county 5.25 mills; and the intermediate district .17 mills.

Under the preliminary formula adopted, the South Haven and Gobles school districts will each receive one additional mill as they have in the past because both systems are city districts serving bi-county areas and are not part of township millage spreads as the other districts.

Monday's meeting was attended by a number of township supervisors, school superintendents, and county officials, just about all of whom complained that they needed a larger share of the 15-mill pie.

"There is no way for us to give everybody what they want or need," said Ivan Stein of South Haven, the allocation board chairman.

Jerry Sarno, Covert township supervisor, complained that the townships were being short-changed in the arrangement because they were getting only the minimum (one mill) required by law, while the schools were getting more.

James Schnake, South Haven township supervisor, also said the amount was too small, saying he felt his township would need 1.5 mills just to break even in its budget.

On the school side, Hartford Supt. Gary Waterkamp called this school year "one of the most dismal in which I've ever had to manage operations." He said his district has decided to terminate 28 employees because of a loss of $32,000 due to a decrease in state equalized valuation (SEV) and another $40,000 cut in state aid ordered by Gov. Milliken.

South Haven Supt. Harold Gaarde also urged the board not to make any cutbacks in the school's share, noting that Milliken's executive order cutting state aid had cost his district about $76,000.

The county, according to Commissioner Gerald Rendel, prepared its preliminary 1977 budget using a figure of 3.81 mills, but will have to settle for 5.25. The intermediate district requested .20 and received .17.

Townships requesting more than one mill and the amount asked were: Arlington, Hamilton, Hartford, and Waverly, all two; Covert 1.8, and Geneva 1.5. Stein said all the schools requested amounts in excess of the 8.58 mills granted, but that dollar amounts, rather than actual number of mills needed were submitted. A spokesman for the intermediate district said the dollar amounts in terms of extra mills had not yet been computed.

Buchanan Approves Vote On 20.4 Mills

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan school board last night voted to put three property tax millage requests on the June 14 election ballot totaling 20.4 mills.

The largest proposal asks voters for the second time this year to approve the renewal of a 17-mill property tax levy for three years. That levy expired with the 1975 tax collection and its renewal was defeated at the polls March 8 as part of a 20-mill property tax package. The other part was also defeated. The other proposals on the June ballot ask for 2.4 mills for one year to restore a variety of proposed program cuts and one mill for three years to finance building and equipment repairs. If the 17-mill proposal passes, it would generate an estimated $2,774,868, said David Hanson, board president. That would allow the district to offer a "very bare program next year," he said.

If all three millage requests pass, the 1976 property tax rate would be about 28.7 mills. In 1975, the levy totaled 25.376 mills, which included allocated millage of 8.376 mills and extra voted millage of 17 mills.

The tentative budget approved last month for 1976-77 totals $3,152,260 and was based on a voted increase of 20 mills.

Hanson said that if the 2.4-mill proposal passes in June, the district will be able to reinstate several programs recommended to be cut before next fall.

Programs which might not have to be cut included high school athletics, full busing, allowing the Indian Hills elementary to remain open, field trips, activity sponsors, elementary art specialists, an instrumental music teaching position, equipment replacement and summer counseling and library activities.

The suggested cuts were recommended last month by a 42-member citizens committee appointed after the defeat of the 20 mills in March.

The committee was charged with trimming $240,000 from next year's budget and would recommend cuts totaling $376,539.

The one mill on the June ballot, if approved, would be earmarked for a variety of repairs to buildings and equipment, Hanson said.

Priority items in this area include fixing the Ottawa and Moccasin school roofs, replacement of old window frames at Moccasin, rewiring the high school stage, replacing the high school chimney and making necessary changes at all schools to satisfy state safety requirements.

In a related area, the board voted to thank the 42-member citizens committee for the work it did in recommending the proposed budget cuts. Singled out for board appreciation was the committee's chairman, Clyde Remmo.

Hanson noted that the committee's report had concluded with a statement saying that any cuts in program would be harmful.

Buchanan Chamber To Present Awards

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan area Chamber of Commerce will stage its annual meeting, held in conjunction with Michigan week, Wednesday night at the St. Anthony Catholic church here at 509 West Fourth street. The chamber will name the winners of its man of the year and Red Bud service awards during the meeting scheduled to get underway with a 6 p.m. hospitality hour. Dinner starts at 7. Program speaker will be Robert L. Van Ausdall, manager of the northern central division of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Schwarz said in March that if the millage issues are approved, some of the 17 teachers sent layoff notices may be rehired in the coming year.

The proposal for an additional 1.988 mill property tax mill levy for one year would bring in a maximum $85,384 for Central high school repairs, he told the board.

That millage would be used for nothing else, he said.

In other business last night, the board sold two portable classrooms for $2,001 each to the New Buffalo Bible Baptist church and voted to deny a request for financial aid from Riverwood Mental health clinic, for "financial reasons."

High School Principal Ronald Morrison said commencement has been set for 8 p.m., June 4, in the high school gym.

He added that the school has also been accredited for this year by the North Central Accreditation association.

Lawton School Vote Set

BROOKS ROBINSON

Orioles Bench Robinson And Rusty .165 Bat

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Since he came up to stay during the 1959 All-Star break, Brooks Robinson has played in 2,509 of Baltimore's 2,675 games. Monday night wasn't one of them.

On the night before his 39th birthday, one of baseball's all-time great third basemen was benched because he had developed a rusty .165 bat to go with his perennial Gold Glove.

The new Brooks Robinson is 23-year-old Doug DeCinces, who collected a single and double and played errorless ball at third base as the Orioles rallied for three runs in the ninth and beat the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3.

"The fans will be looking for miracles, but I'm just going out and playing," he said.

Manager Earl Weaver said Robinson's benching was "not a permanent thing. I'll let him relax for a while. After we see what the others do, we'll decide how quick he'll be back in."

In other American League action, the Kansas City Royals nipped the Texas Rangers 8-7 in 12 innings, the Boston Red Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers 7-0, the Minnesota Twins edged the Oakland A's 5-4 in 11 innings and the California Angels pounded the Chicago White Sox 10-5. New York and Cleveland were rained out.

With Robinson watching from the bench, the Orioles won the game after Milwaukee reliever Ed Rodriguez walked three batters with one out in the ninth. Tony Muser tied the score with a two-run pinch single, and eventually scored the winning run on a wild throw by catcher Darrell Porter trying to complete what would have been an inning-ending double play.

Tom Piquette doubled home the winning run in the 12th inning after Al Cowens drew a two-out walk from Steve Fountall. The Royals had blown a 7-1 lead in the ninth inning as Jeff Burroughs of the Rangers started a six-run rally with a single and later singled home two runs to tie the score.

Steve Braye, who had only three hits in 32 previous at-bats this season, singled home Bob Randall in the bottom of the 11th. Billy Williams and Claudell Washington homered for the A's and Dan Ford for Minnesota while Rod Carew of the Twins stole home for the 14th time in his career. Minnesota relief ace Bill Campbell earned his fifth triumph with three scoreless innings.

Frank Tanana hurled a seven-hitter and Bill Melton, playing against his former teammates for the first time this season, drove in three runs with a triple and a pair of singles to lead the California Angels to victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Tanana, 4-3, didn't issue a walk, struck out eight and retired 13 batters in a row after he allowed a two-out double to Hugh Yanney and an infield single to Ducky Dent in the third inning.

Tanana lost his shutout bid in the eighth when Bill Stein reached first as shortstop Dave Chalk dropped Stein's infield pop fly for an error and Chel Lemon homered.

Melton singled home a run in the first inning, tripled another across in the third, walked and scored in the fifth and singled another run home in the sixth

Tiant Stops Tigers Coleman Again Belted In Boston Win

DETROIT (AP) — The way Joe Coleman has been pitching, he couldn't be elected dugout catcher in today's Michigan primary.

Detroit Tiger Manager Ralph Houk keeps giving him a vote of confidence, though, even Monday after Coleman was hit hard by Boston.

The Red Sox, behind Luis Tiant's five-hitter, belted Detroit 7-0 for their fifth victory in the last six games.

It was the second straight shutout loss for the Tigers, who fell to third in the American League East, one-half game behind Baltimore. Boston is still last, six games behind leader New York.

However, "I'll promise you this," Manager Darrell Johnson said, "we won't be last too long. But it'll take time to catch up. It won't be done overnight."

"Everything is starting to come together a little more," he said.

Dick Pole (1-1), the pride of Trout Creek in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, is scheduled to start tonight's game for the Red Sox against Detroit's Vern Riffe, 3-0. It's his first start in Detroit. He said he is leaving "about 30 passes" for friends and relatives.

Five Red Sox drove in runs against Coleman and reliever Bill Laxton, with Carl Yastrzemski knocking in two runs with a wind-aided single in the fourth and Grand Rapids' Rick Miller collecting a pair of RBIs.

Coleman, who fanned 2-3-3 in three innings after having gone just two innings Friday, lost his third straight game in a 2-3 record.

Tiant, meanwhile, is off to his best start with Boston and best overall since 1968 when he was with Cleveland. The herky-jerky right-hander was never in trouble in raising his record to 8-2.

"I thought he had better stuff today than his last time out," Houk said of Coleman. "They were just hitting him."

'M' Gets Cage Ace

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan basketball Coach Johnny Orr lost three times to Indiana's Bobby Knight last season — including the final game for the national title — but he's ahead on next season.

Orr announced Monday that Mark Lazier, one of the top high school athletes in Indiana, had signed a national letter of intent to enroll at Michigan this fall.

Lazier was an Associated Press All-State pick as a guard in basketball, an All-State quarterback in football and a three-year track letter winner at Logansport High School.

The blue chip prospect also is a member of the Indiana all-star basketball team which played against the Russians this spring and will take on the Kentucky all stars later this month.

"We've been watching Mark for two years," Orr said. "We are very impressed with him. He's a complete player. He reminds me of Steve Grote (current Michigan guard), and I'm sure he will fit into our style of play very well."

Lazier, a 6-foot-7, 180-pounder, averaged 17.8 points, 10 rebounds and six assists per game last season while leading Logansport to a 20-5 record.

During the 95 games he played in his four-year prep career, Lazier scored 1,385 points and directed the football team to a 15-5 mark over the last two seasons.

Orr said, however, that Lazier would play only basketball as a Wolverine.

CREWMAN HUGS GUTHRIE

Janet Aces Rookie Test

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "The serious work begins now," said Janet Guthrie, "getting up to qualifying speed."

Miss Guthrie, a 36-year-old physicist from New York City, received historic approval Monday to make a qualification attempt this weekend for the May 30 Indianapolis 500 — a goal she probably never really had in mind when she started racing sports cars 13 years ago.

"I'm not making any concrete plans for any particular speeds. We know what the goal is, and we're going to get working up to it," Miss Guthrie said happily after completing the final half of her 100-mile rookie test.

It was all very smooth, no particular problems. Miss Guthrie advised after the run on a cold, wind-blown afternoon at Indianapolis Motor Speedway. "The car has some particular handling characteristics that will be corrected," Dick Simon says so, and he hasn't been wrong about anything yet.

But we're relying on Dick's expertise with chassis settings and suspension adjustments to help sort that out.

Miss Guthrie credited Simon, a 44-year-old journeyman who is now her teammate, with helping get as far as she is.

"Dick certainly has done more for me than could be expected or asked from any normal teammate," she said.

Simon, who has already qualified the front-line Volsted team machine in the 33-car field, predicted Miss Guthrie could get the car up to qualifying speed if the crew gets enough time to work with the chassis before the final weekend of qualifying.

So far, rain has washed out major parts of three different practice days.

Miss Guthrie, who provided the only interest in an otherwise light day at the track, said she felt a great deal of the pressure she has been under is now over, although she concedes qualifying will be the most difficult task.

Rolla Vollstedt, her car owner, agreed.

"Back when we first got involved in this project, I was pretty sure we would have no problems getting going, and going right on up through the rookie test," he said. "We'll just have to wait and see what happens now."

The four veteran drivers who supervised her test, Gary Bettenhausen, Tom Bigelow, Al Loquasto and Graham McRae, reported Miss Guthrie performed steadily and impressively.

RON LEFLORE

Tigers' LeFlore Streaking

DETROIT (AP) — According to baseball's pre-season buildup last year, Ron LeFlore was a budding superstar. He was going to bat .300, drive in 80 runs and steal 60 bases.

What the Detroit Tiger centerfielder did was bat .258, drive in 37 runs and steal 28 bases, with only a couple of thefts coming after the All-Star break.

And he struck out 139 times — just two short of a Tiger record.

He picked up in spring training this year where he left off, striking out an average of once a game. When the season opened April 10 in Cleveland, Tiger Manager Ralph Houk had LeFlore on the bench and Ben Ogilvie in center field.

That lasted a few games, then LeFlore got back in the lineup.

Nobody's going to dislodge him now.

LeFlore is among the American League leaders with a .378 batting average. He has stolen 11 bases and his eighth-inning single in Detroit's 7-0 loss Monday to Boston extended his hitting streak to 20 games. He has connected in every game he has batted.

That's the best Detroit streak since Al Kaline hit safely in 22 straight games in 1961, but it's along way from the club record of 40 consecutive games set by the faded Ty Cobb in 1911.

"I think I was always confident, but I didn't know if I'd do the things I was supposed to do," said LeFlore, who has had to play over the burden of the tragic homicide of his brother a few weeks ago.

The solution of his hitting troubles sounds simple: "I wait for the ball to get there, and I swing. Before, I was taking my eye off the ball."

This is only the second full season for LeFlore. He wasn't a rookie last year because he joined the team in August of 1974 — just 13 months after signing a Tiger contract and being paroled from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, where he had been serving a sentence for armed robbery.

He never played organized baseball as a Detroit prep, but jumped from Class A MINOR LEAGUE BALL TO THE Tigers in just over a year.

Perhaps because of his inexperience, fielding was a problem for the muscular 27-year-old — who's listed in the press guide as being 23, printed before evidence surfaced last winter that he was really four years older.

He had 20 errors in his first one-and-a-half seasons but this year looks much improved, although he did drop two fly balls in a recent game.

"I'm pleased, but not 100 percent," LeFlore said of his defense. "I still need to find out how I'll do with line drives at me. I haven't had too many."

LeFlore said breaking Kaline's 22-game hit string doesn't really concern him, yet he sounds confident of keeping his own string alive.

"If I don't get a hit the first time up, or the second time, I've still got a third or a fourth," he said. "If I keep making contact, I've got a chance to get a hit."

Champ Punishes Two Sparring Partners Ali Tightens Up Training For Dunn

MUNICH (AP) — Serving as a sparring partner for Muhammad Ali used to be like having his officer's commission in the Swiss Navy: Room, board, good pay and only the motions of war without any of the risk or pain.

Now it's suddenly as if the Russians were advancing on Geneva. For the first time in his career, Ali is firing real bullets at the man he used to pay not so much to get hit but to pound at the places in his body where the admiral felt he needed toning up.

Rick Plangger and George Luther both hurled shutouts to pace Plangger's in two 2-0 verdicts over Barcliff Industries Monday night at cold Plangger's Park.

Plangger fanned 13 batters and allowed only four hits in the opener while Luther struck out six and gave up three hits in the nightcap.

Plangger's scored both of its runs in the opener in the third frame on hits by Ron Manfarina and Jerry Hinman, a walk and ground out RBI's by Nick Shishman and Rick Davis.

The hosts scored in the second game on a RBI single by Hinman and an error. Manfarina and Rick Plangger both slapped two hits in the eight-hit winner at last.

Plangger's, now 11-7, hosts Vandenburg's of Kalamazoo in a twin bill Wednesday starting at 7:30 p.m.

BROOKS ROBINSON

Orioles Bench Robinson And Rusty .165 Bat

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Since he came up to stay during the 1959 All-Star break, Brooks Robinson has played in 2,399 of Baltimore's 2,675 games. Monday night wasn't one of them.

On the night before his 39th birthday, one of baseball's all-time great third basemen was benched because he had developed a rusty .165 bat to go with his perennial Gold Glove.

The new Brooks Robinson is 25-year-old Doug DeCinces, who collected a single and double and played errorless ball at third base as the Orioles rallied for three runs in the ninth and beat the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3.

"The fans will be looking for miracles, but I'm just going out and play," he said.

Manager Earl Weaver said Robinson's benching was "not a permanent thing. I'll let him relax for a while. After we see what the others do, we'll decide how quick he'll be back in."

In other American League action, the Kansas City Royals nipped the Texas Rangers 8-7 in 12 innings, the Boston Red Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers 7-0, the Minnesota Twins edged the Oakland A's 5-4 in 11 innings and the California Angels pounded the Chicago White Sox 10-5. New York and Cleveland were rained out.

With Robinson watching from the bench, the Orioles won the game after Milwaukee reliever Ed Rodriguez walked three batters with one out in the ninth. Tony Muser tied the score with a two-run pinch single and eventually scored the winning run on a wild throw by catcher Darrell Porter trying to complete what would have been an inning-ending double play.

Tom Poquette doubled home the winning run in the 12th inning after Al Cowens drew a two-out walk from Steve Foucault. The Royals had blown a 7-1 lead in the ninth inning as Jeff Burroughs of the Rangers started a six-run rally with a single and later singled home two runs to tie the score.

Steve Brye, who had only three hits in 32 previous at-bats this season, singled home Bob Randall in the bottom of the 11th. Billy Williams and Claudi Washington homered for the A's and Dan Ford for Minnesota while Rod Carew of the Twins stole home for the 14th time in his career. Minnesota relief ace Bill Campbell earned his fifth triumph with three scoreless innings.

Frank Tanana hurled a seven-hitter and Bill Melton, playing against his former teammates for the first time this season, drove in three runs with a triple and a pair of singles to lead the California Angels to victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Tanana, 4-3, didn't issue a walk, struck out eight and retired 13 batters in a row after he allowed a two-out double to Hugh Yancy and an infield single to Bucky Dent in the third inning.

Tanana lost his shutout bid in the eighth when Bill Stein reached first as shortstop Dave Chalk dropped Stein's infield pop fly for an error and Chet Lemon homered.

Melton singled home a run in the first inning, tripled another across in the third, walked and scored in the fifth and singled another run home in the sixth

Coleman Again Belted In Boston Win

DETROIT (AP) — The way Joe Coleman's been pitching, he couldn't be elected dogcatcher in today's Michigan primary.

Detroit Tiger Manager Ralph Houk keeps giving him a vote of confidence, though, even Monday after Coleman was hit hard by Boston.

The Red Sox, behind Luis Tiant's five-hitter, belted Detroit 7-0 for their fifth victory in the last six games.

It was the second straight shutout loss for the Tigers, who fell to third in the American League East, one-half game behind Baltimore. Boston is still last, six games behind leader New York.

However, "I'll promise you this," Manager Darrell Johnson said, "we won't be last too long. But it'll take time to catch up. It won't be done overnight."

"Everything is starting to come together a little more," he said.

Dick Pole (1-1), the pride of Trout Creek in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, is scheduled to start tonight's game for the Red Sox against Detroit's Vern Ruhl, 3-0. It's his first start in Detroit. He said he is leaving "about 30 passes" for friends and relatives.

Five Red Sox drove in runs against Coleman and reliever Bill Laxton, with Carl Yastrzemski knocking in two runs with a wind-aided single in the fourth and Grand Rapids' Rick Miller collecting a pair of RBI.

Coleman, who lasted 2 2-3 innings after having gone just two innings Friday, lost his third straight game in a 2-3 record.

Tiant, meanwhile, is off to his best start with Boston and best overall since 1968 when he was with Cleveland. The herky-jerky right-hander was never in trouble in raising his record to 5-2.

"I thought he had better stuff today than his last time out," Houk said of Coleman. "They were just hitting him."

Last Fall's Buck Kill Was Record

Michigan's 1975 firearm deer season is seen as the most successful ever for buck hunters, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

A record number of bucks — 96,890 — were taken last year, which exceeded the previous season high in 1946 when 89,470 bucks were harvested in Michigan," notes Dave Arnold, DNR specialist. "Although only 10,080 antlerless deer were taken in 1975, the season was obviously one of our better seasons ever."

Based on a DNR postcard survey of more than 26,000 randomly selected hunters who held 1975 deer licenses, last year's total harvest is estimated at 106,970 whitetails.

Arnold says the harvest total betters his "very liberal" pre-season estimate of 100,000 and exceeds last December's post-season preliminary harvest estimate of 87,100 animals (based on traffic counts taken during the two-week firearm season in late November).

Hunter success was high, too, as about one sportsman in seven — or about 15 per cent — brought home venison. The 710,000 firearm deer hunters in 1975 was also a record, bettering the previous high of 637,500 in 1974.

Figures tabulated by the DNR's Office of Surveys and Statistics show that most deer taken in 1975 came from the northern half of the Lower Peninsula, which is also where the most hunters — 414,730 — took to the woods and fields in search of whitetails.

DNR wildlife statistician Louis J. Hawn reports a buck harvest of 61,280 in this area, while the antlerless take was 5,440. Southern Lower Michigan hunters recorded the next best figure by taking 19,480 bucks and 4,460 antlerless deer. In the Upper Peninsula, where hunters could take bucks only, the harvest was 16,130 deer.

Hawn estimates the number of hunters in the southern Lower Peninsula at 193,100 and in the Upper Peninsula at 102,910.

He adds that southern Lower Peninsula hunters set records in both the bucks and antlerless harvests and in hunter numbers. Previous highs were 15,900 bucks in 1974 and 4,320 antlerless deer in 1969, and 182,600 in 1974.

Finding Of Deepwater Lakers Brings Hope

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The southern deepwater lake trout — long believed extinct — has been found alive and that may mean moves to get Lake Michigan trout breeding again will finally be successful, researchers say.

Boss Horrall, a University of Wisconsin zoologist, said Monday that the southern deepwater lake trout may be "extremely important in restoring a naturally reproducing lake trout population of southern Lake Michigan."

The breed accounted for more than half of the trout once caught in Lake Michigan, before the population was decimated in the 1950s by an invasion of the sea lamprey, authorities say.

Since 1965, the lake has been stocked with 25 million trout of other varieties, but they have not been reproducing.

The southern deepwater fish was one of many varieties of trout believed to have been totally destroyed by the parasitic sea lamprey, Horrall said.

The breed spawned primarily on the Milwaukee and Sheboygan reefs, depositing their eggs on the clay bottoms in deep water off the Wisconsin shoreline.

"The Lake Superior and Canadian lake trout we have been using to restock Lake Michigan spawn in shallower water and will probably never be able to reproduce successfully on these reefs," Horrall said.

Several types of lake trout survive in Lake Superior, "but the five major races which once inhabited Lake Michigan were completely eliminated by the lamprey," he said.

Horrall said it appears the genetic makeup of these different types is important in restoring trout to the Great Lakes. However, he said, hatchery and stocking practices have hopelessly mixed the original lake trout gene pool and the majority of breeds are permanently lost.

This was thought to have been the case with the southern deepwater trout, too, until only recently.

Prior to 1965, this variety was stocked in Big Green Lake, in Green Lake County, Wisconsin. Later, eggs from these fish were taken to a hatchery in Marquette, Mich.

Last year, Horrall learned that about 800,000 fingerlings — the last of the Green Lake stock — remained at the hatchery.

As a result, he said, "a large number of these fish will be stocked over one of their traditional spawning areas" this month.

A university spokesman said specialists believe this may offer the best chance yet of restoring naturally reproducing trout to southern Lake Michigan.

Boozer Fishing Contest Leader Blossomtime Derby Has $1,700 In Prizes

Almost $1,700 in prize money was awarded to winners in last Saturday's Blossomtime Sportsfishing Contest.

Winners in the contest, sponsored by the Southwestern Michigan Chapter of the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association, were Thomas Boozer of St. Joseph with a 24-pound chinook; Ron Kimball of LaPorte, Ind., with a 14-pound, 6½-ounce lake trout; Dennis Neidlinger of New Troy with a 7-pound, 7-ounce brown trout; Danny Hendrixson of Benton Harbor with a 6-pound, 8-ounce steelhead; and Don Niebaum of St. Joseph with a 3-pound, 15-ounce coho. Each received $100.

Second place prizes worth $85 went to Gary Heckman of Kalamazoo, Dick Bell of St. Joseph, Ralph Richards of Watervliet, Tim Anstey of Stevensville and Sally Mollhagen of St. Joseph.

Winners of $47.50 third place awards were Casey Clark of Coloma, Roger Huelsberg of St. Joseph, Don Carlson of Stevensville, Jerry Gephart of Stevensville and Jim Doan of Stevensville.

There were 95 boats entered, and prizes totaled $7½ per cent of entry fees. The entry fee was $20 per boat.

The official weigh-in station was Mollhagen Fisheries in St. Joseph. District Department of Natural Resources biologist Ken Dodge verified the identity of all entries.

BIG WINNER: Don Niebaum of St. Joseph won the coho division of last Saturday's Blossomtime Sportsfishing Contest with a 3-pound, 15-ounce salmon. He earned first place money of $100, which means the fish was worth $48.22 per pound.

Gun Show On June 13

A gun show, sponsored by the St. Joseph Valley Arms Collectors Association, will be held at 8 a.m. Sunday, June 13, at the Berrien County Sportsman's Club at Arden.

Persons wishing to reserve a table for displaying their guns should contact August Zielke, 529 E. Snow Rd., Baroda, Mich. 49101. There will be a charge of $4 for Sportsman's Club members and $5 for all others.

The admission fee to the show will be 50 cents, with children 12 and under free. Refreshments will be available.

Fishing Report

Much of the fishing success for trappers out on Lake Michigan has been over 80 to 200 feet of water with lures running 15 to 40 feet deep.

Several chinooks up to 22 pounds have been caught off the southwestern Michigan shore, reports the Department of Natural Resources. Flutterspoons and Andy Reekers are popular baits.

Lake trout running from 12 to 14 pounds have been taken off New Buffalo, and there was a report of a 19-pound laker being taken off St. Joseph.

Elsewhere, the season opened last Saturday for northern pike, muskies and walleyes.

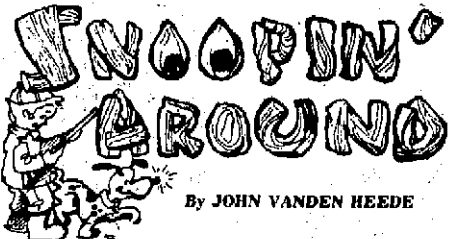

Some of the better waters this year for northerns, according to the DNR, should be Paw Paw Lake and the lower portions of the St. Joseph, Paw Paw and Galien Rivers in Berrien county; Whit Pond, Mill Pond and Diamond Lake in Cass county; Lake of the Woods, Van Aiken Lake and the lower Black River in Van Buren county; and Miner, Swan and Diamond Lakes and the lower Kalamazoo River in Allegan county.

Heading the list for muskies are Osterhout and Dumont Lakes in Allegan county and Round, Bankson and Wolf Lakes in Van Buren county. The only good walleye lake in the area is Diamond in Cass county.

Many panfishermen are also finding that the changing weather is holding up panfish spawning on some southwestern Michigan lakes.

ZOO FACTS

More than 50,000 mammals, representing 850 species, live in North American zoos, according to National Wildlife magazine.

By JOHN VANDEN HEED

St. Joseph River tributaries between Berrien Springs and Buchanan are now producing their first baby steelhead and salmon... thanks to the new fish ladder on the Berrien Springs dam.

The first fish were passed last fall — mostly salmon — and the ladder was opened again this spring to allow upstream passage for between two to three thousand steelhead.

Follow up checks by the Department of Natural Resources found spawning steelhead in two tributaries between Berrien Springs and Buchanan. Young salmon from last fall's spawning run were also found.

It means the ladder is providing a two-fold benefit — natural reproduction which will add to the overall fishery and a new area for salmon and steelhead fishing.

And there shouldn't be a high mortality rate among young fish going over and through the Berrien Springs dam, according to district DNR fisheries biologist Dave Johnson. The fish will be migrating downstream as smolts during the spring runoff period, which means many of the fish would go over the spillways instead of through the turbines.

"I'm not too concerned about them going through the gates," says Johnson. "It would be a hell of a ride and some would be killed, but a great majority of them would live."

The new Berrien Springs-Buchanan fishery is also starting to generate changes for the future. Salmon and steelhead have been found in a small, unnamed stream near Buchanan which isn't even on DNR maps. Naturally, it isn't a designated trout stream and open to fishing year-around. But that soon will be changed to protect the fish while spawning.

Preliminary planning is also underway to provide a walk-in fishing access site on Indiana & Michigan Electric property below the Buchanan dam. It would be on the Buchanan side of the dam and would include a parking lot above, a trail down to the river and some sort of walkway along the water's edge from which anglers would fish.

The DNR also wants to check the existing fish ladder in the Buchanan dam this summer to see if it can be made workable. Once over the Buchanan dam, fish could move on up to Niles and into the Dowagiac River.

'Varmit Shoot' Sunday

The Watervliet Rod and Gun Club will hold the first in a series of monthly "varmit shoots" at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 23.

Each shooter will fire 10 shots — five at a crow silhouette from 100 yards and five at a woodchuck target from 200 yards. There will be a maximum score of 100 in the benchrest match. And trophies will be awarded for the first five places.

Event chairman Taras Poluhanyez says the shoot is geared primarily for accurate target-varmit centerfire rifles equipped with scopes capable of shooting a one-inch group at 100 yards.

Trio Charged With Roberies, Theft

Benton Harbor detectives reported three 17-year-old youths were arrested Monday on two charges of armed robbery and one count of auto theft.

Det. Thomas Schadler said two of the suspects were arrested after they complained of being shot at in an unrelated incident.

Schadler said one robbery charge resulted from the holdup of Hazel Rye and her son, Larry Mix, 13, of Benton Harbor, as they walked on Pipestone street last Friday. Mrs. Rye said her purse was taken by three bandits armed with a handgun.

The second robbery was the reported holdup of Linda Rowenthal, of St. Joseph, as she walked on Empire avenue early Saturday after her car broke down. She reported her purse was taken.

The auto theft charge resulted from the recovery early Sunday of a Volkswagen stolen from Transworld Volkswagen, 178 North Riverview drive.

Booked at Berrien county jail were Duncan Eric Williams, 17, of 178 Bellview; Keith Foster, 17, of 478 Ohio street; and Roncoe Flemming, 17, of 1180 Union street.

Police said Williams and Foster were arrested after they reported that shots were fired at them in the 200 block of Bellview Monday about 3:45 p.m. A 14-year-old boy was to be petitioned to juvenile court in connection with the incident. No one was injured.

Arlington Faces Tax Hike For Disposal Costs

BANGOR — Arlington township officials last night said it will take an extra property tax levy to finance the township's share of a countywide solid waste program for trash and garbage.

Supervisor William Colgren, Jr. told the township board that county authorities have told him Arlington township's share of the overall cost would be $10,600 yearly.

The township allocates $2,500 yearly to operate its own sanitary landfill.

Colgren said the board will have to determine at its next meeting whether to put a millage issue on the ballot and how many mills it would take to pay the township share.

The county road commission is developing a countywide plan of 10 solid waste collection points in the county with a central landfill in Arlington township.

In other areas last night, the board voted to use the estimated $3,314 it will receive in federal revenue sharing funds for the coming fiscal year for road work; hired Harold Johnson of Bangor as zoning administrator at a $5 per hour salary plus 15 cents per mile travel; and voted to accept the county road commission's bid of $4,700 for fixing a 300-foot low road spot on 52nd street near 42nd avenue.

Bangor Man Given Fifty-Day Jail Term

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Bangor man was sentenced yesterday in Van Buren circuit court by Judge Meyer Warshawsky to serve 50 days in jail on a charge of probation violation.

William S. Kempinski, 26, had been placed on two years probation Jan. 20, 1975 as a result of his guilty plea to a charge of larceny over $100. He admitted yesterday that he had violated his probation by pleading guilty to a charge of impaired driving in Kalamazoo circuit court in April.

In arraignments, Grandville Merriweather, 33, formerly of South Haven, pleaded no contest to a charge of attempting to deliver LSD in South Haven in 1972.

When originally arrested, Merriweather was charged with delivering both heroin and LSD. However, he was tried only on the heroin charge and convicted in April, 1973 by a circuit court jury. He was subsequently sentenced to serve from two to 20 years in prison.

The conviction was overturned by the state appeals court later in 1973 and the case remanded back to circuit court.

Bohdy M. Perez, 39, route 2, Hartford, pleaded innocent to a charge of possessing heroin in South Haven township on Feb. 4.

South Haven Teens Accused Of Arson

By TOM RENNER

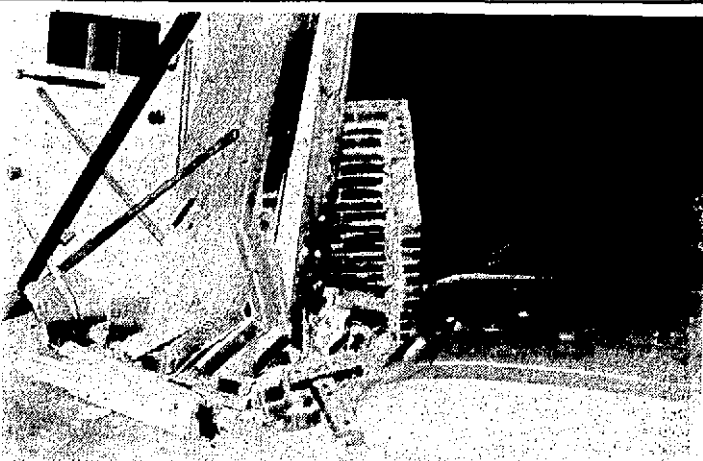

South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — Two teenagers have been charged with arson in connection with a series of fires that destroyed abandoned buildings in the South Haven area last month, according to state police from the South Haven post.

Robert Pike, 17, route 5, South Haven is scheduled to face a preliminary examination Wednesday in 5th district court in Allegan on one count of arson while a 16-year-old boy from South Haven has been petitioned to Van Buren probate court on four counts of arson.

The fires occurred April 11 and 14 in Casco township of Allegan county and Geneva township of Van Buren county. Three abandoned homes, a barn and several out buildings were destroyed in the fires which were within a two mile square area of each other.

Trooper Robert Swartz, who conducted the investigation, said the juvenile confessed to starting the fires because he felt the buildings were unsafe and posed a hazard to children who might play in them.

TRUCK HITS SJ TOWNSHIP HOME: Brake failure on pickup truck was reported cause of this damage to garage door and brick facing of Elwood McDorman residence, 1952 Nash drive, St. Joseph township police said. Driver of truck was Daniel Dean Jacobs, 19, U.S. Coast Guard station, St. Joseph. He had driven into driveway about 10:25 p.m. to visit family member when brakes failed. Damage was estimated at more than $200. No ticket was issued, police said. (Staff photo)

Races Loom In 9 Van Buren Districts

Voters in nine of 11 K-12 school districts in Van Buren county will be deciding races for school board seats on annual school election day, June 14.

Only in Bangor and South Haven are there no formal races, although that could change if write-in campaigns are started.

The deadline for filing candidate petitions was 4 p.m. yesterday, and according to respective school officials, there will be contests in Bloomingdale, Covert, Decatur, Gobles, Hartford, Lawrence, Lawton, Mattawan and Paw Paw.

Hartford has the most candidates, 13 people after four board seats, while in Lawton, no one bothered to file as a candidate for a one-year board vacancy although there are three candidates after two, four-year terms.

Over all, there are 51 school board candidates after 25 school board openings.

In 1975, 52 candidates sought 18 board openings, and in 1974, 58 candidates went after 22 board openings.

Following is a summary, by school district, of school board races in Van Buren county.

Bangor

BANGOR — With a bitter, community-dividing controversy apparently behind it, the Bangor school district is slated to have its quietest school board election in three years on June 14.

Two four-year terms are to be filled in the election, and after yesterday's 4 p.m. filing deadline, only an incumbent and a challenger had filed as candidates.

Filing for the posts were incumbent Harold S. Wright, route 2, Grand Junction, and a challenger, Phillip Wiles, 509 Joy street, Bangor.

Wright was elected to the board in a special March 22 election. Also elected then, but not seeking re-election in June, was George Denny.

Not since 1973, when there were two candidates for a single seat, has there been so few candidates for school board election.

In 1974, and in 1975, there were six candidates for two board seats.

And after five school board members were recalled in a furious controversy in February, there were 10 candidates seeking the five vacancies in a March 22 special election.

Wiles, who was a losing board candidate in March, also was an unsuccessful school board candidate last June.

Bloomingdale

BLOOMINGDALE — Seven people, including one incumbent, filed petitions for election to two, four-year seats on the Bloomingdale school board prior to yesterday's 4 p.m. deadline for candidates to file.

Dr. Donald Drago, superintendent, said incumbent Raymond Melvin, route 1, Bloomingdale, filed petitions but incumbent Nathan Baylor, did not.

Challengers filing petitions were Kenneth R. Matthews, Grand Junction; Mrs. Beverly J. Matthes, Bloomingdale; Mrs. Darlephie Moragne, Pullman; James Muenzer, route 1, Allegan; Gary Verema, Grand Junction; and LeRoy Wolins, Pullman.

The annual school election is June 14.

Covert

COVERT — An incumbent and three challengers will be seeking two, four-year terms on the Covert school board in the June 14 school election.

Filing candidate petitions by yesterday's 4 p.m. deadline were incumbent Harold Bracken, PO box 247; Leroy

Medical School

Payoffs Probed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Student records from four local medical schools have been subpoenaed in an investigation of allegations that certain public officials demanded cash payoffs of up to $25,000 to help applicants gain admission, a special prosecutor says.

The prosecutor, Bernard Siegel, said Monday he subpoenaed admission records from medical schools at Temple University, the University of Pennsylvania, Thomas Jefferson University and Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital.

Morris, PO box 95; and L.C. Berry, Lake street, all of Covert; and Gregory Tishler, route 3, box 167, South Haven, part of the Covert school district.

Incumbent Board Member Ernestine Kahn, who is also the board secretary, is not seeking re-election, school officials said.

Decatur

DECATUR — Two incumbents and two challengers will be seeking two, four-year terms on the Decatur school board in the June 14 school election.

Candidates are incumbents George Kusmack, 42nd avenue; and Frank Kraus, 74th avenue; and challengers James Schoetz, Decatur-Cass road; and Mrs. Emma Jean Stanbeck, route 3, all of Decatur.

Filing deadline for candidate petitions was 4 p.m. yesterday.

Gobles

GOBLES — Five candidates, including one incumbent, have filed for the two, four-year seats on the Gobles school board up for election June 14, according to school officials. The filing deadline was yesterday at 4 p.m.

Incumbent school board President R. Karl Blaha will seek a third term. David Evans, the other board member whose term expires in June, is not seeking re-election.

The four other candidates filing were Mrs. George (Frances) Sage, route 1, Gobles; Ralph Pawley, route 1, Gobles; Floyd Hanger, CR-368 east of Gobles; and Roy Dietrich, 26th avenue.

Hartford

HARTFORD — Thirteen candidates, including three incumbents, filed prior to yesterday's 4 p.m. deadline for election to four Hartford school board seats at stake in the school's election June 14.

Seven candidates, including one incumbent, will be seeking the two, four-year seats up for election. The incumbent seeking another term is Bill Burnette, route 2, Hartford, school board president.

Challenging Burnette are Helen Conklin, route 2, Lawrence; James Keech, route 2, Decatur; Barry Nilson, route 1, Hartford; John Rose, 108 Church street, Hartford; Scott Smith, 114 Beechwood trails, Hartford; and Thomas Smith, 66th avenue, Hartford.

Incumbent Stephen Shafer, route 1, Hartford, is seeking election to the remaining two years of a vacancy he was appointed to last month.

Challenging Shafer for the seat are Frederick Ward, route 1, Hartford; and Jeanette Weber, route 2, Hartford.

Incumbent John Lesch, route 1, Hartford, is seeking election to the remaining one year of the term he was appointed to in March.

Challenging Lesch are Joyce Empton, 430 Oak street, Hartford; and Marion Toney, route 2, Decatur.

Lawrence

LAWRENCE — One challenger will face two incumbents in a three-way race for the two Lawrence school board seats up for election June 14.

Incumbents Rachel Garrod, route 2, Lawrence, and Robert Houser, route 1, Lawrence, both filed petitions prior to yesterday's 4 p.m. deadline, the school announced.

Challenging the incumbents is Sharon Besimone, 64th avenue.

Lawton

LAWTON — Two newcomers and one incumbent will vie for two, four-year terms on the Lawton school board in the June 14 school election.

However, no one filed by yesterday's 4 p.m. deadline for a one-year vacancy on the board.

The four-year positions are currently held by Steven Stozicki and David Stephayn, both of whom are not seeking re-election.

The one-year post is the remainder of the term expiring in 1977 formerly held by Richard Schuessler who resigned last year and was replaced by Kenneth Washburn Jr.

Washburn, route 2, Lawton, and newcomers Michael Chase, route 2, CR-354, Lawton; and Donald Thornton, route 2, CR-358, Lawton, are all seeking four-year terms.

Thus, said Supt. George Dannecker, there are no candidates for the one-year position.

Mattawan

MATTAWAN — Five newcomers filed petitions prior to yesterday's 4 p.m. deadline for two four-year seats on the Mattawan school board.

Filing for the seats in the June 14 school election were Ardith Vandenberg, route 2, Mattawan; Max Lane, route 2, Schoolcraft; John Quinn, 321 McArthur, Mattawan; Howard Farris, route 2, Mattawan; and Mrs. Arlyene Cox, 322 Third street, Mattawan.

Incumbents Harry Moyle, board president, and Mrs. Martha Lam, board secretary, did not file for re-election.

Paw Paw

PAW PAW — Three newcomers will seek two, four-year terms on the Paw Paw school board in the June 14 election.

Filing for office by yesterday's 4 p.m. deadline were Robert D. LaRue, route 1; Kenneth R. Taylor, 309 Miller; and Maufice Wickett, First street, all of Paw Paw.

Board members Reynold Oas and Harold Price are not seeking re-election.

South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN — Two men have filed as candidates for election on June 14 to the two available four-year South Haven school board seats.

School officials identified the two as incumbent David Griffin of route 5, South Haven, and challenger James Palmer of route 1, South Haven.

Incumbent Donald Spencer is not seeking re-election.

The filing deadline was 4 p.m. yesterday.

As wheat has been looked upon as the "staff of life," so apples have been the backbone of a better life in every civilization of the Northern Hemisphere.

In America, the first apple trees were planted at Massachusetts Bay by the Pilgrim Fathers, just nine years after the first colony was established. Then by the middle of the eighteenth century, the Dutch had apple trees growing extensively throughout New York State. As restless settlers pushed the western frontier across the Appalachians, into Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and beyond... they took apples with them. Each family unit usually had its sack of apple seeds. Often, the family orchard was planted before the ground was broken for the home. Often, too, settlers in Ohio and Indiana found a thriving nursery of apple trees awaiting them... carved out of the wilderness and planted by devout, dedicated, friendly Johnstons. Chapman, better known by his legendary name of "Johnny Appleseed," because of his generous spirit and impartial helpfulness.

Apples found their way to Washington State in 1828, via a Hudson's Bay Company sailing vessel. Seeds of a "good luck" apple given to the vessel's Captain Simpson on the eve of his departure from London... were planted at Fort Vancouver, Washington in the spring of 1827. From this beginning, the Washington State Apple Industry has grown to national significance... to a production of about 75 million boxes of apples each season.

This low-calorie fruit continues to be one of nature's beautiful achievements. Today the apple represents hospitality and friendship, health and beauty, and... best of all... good-for-you good eating.

And here at Schneck's, you'll also find hospitality and friendship, and... best of all... good-for-you good eating and savings.

Woodhams, a Cheshire township clerk of eight years, has been a resident of Allegan county for 40 years. He seeks the seat currently held by Vernon Sill of Casco township, incumbent Republican.

NELLIE ZIMMERMAN
Free after 19 years

Nellie's Pleas Unanswered For 19 Years

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Nellie Zimmerman — blind, deaf and with just a year of formal education — recalled that day so many years before.

"I thought I was going to Aultman Hospital for a blood test and then to a home for the blind in Canton," she remembered in sign language, letter by letter, word by word. "But they took me to Massillon and kept me there for 19 years."

Today, in her 70th year, she is free of the mental institution at last, living in a Canton boarding home. Institution officials said she would never have been admitted under current concepts.

Her life has been one of anguish and deprivation: Born in Braddock, Pa., blind and deaf by the time she was 10, with only one year of formal education, she moved to Canton at 13, was shunted aside from relatives' homes to rest homes for the next 40 years, then entered Massillon State Hospital.

Her long white hair pulled back, her serene face hiding the bitterness inside her, she clasped the hands of James Schneek, who spelled into her palms the sign language she can't see.

Schneek, a University of Akron student who had been visiting with Nellie for three years, formed a group from the school's Advisory Board for the deaf, which successfully obtained her release April 23.

Nellie, who is receiving aid from civic organizations and societies for the deaf, said she faces many problems on the outside. Her companions, she said, don't seem to understand her, but she added, "I am much happier here."

Mrs. Dorothy Demharter, acting superintendent of Massillon, said Nellie was committed because she had been hostile and aggressive during her stays in the rest homes, striking out at attendants and other patients.

She said that kind of behavior carried over into the state hospital for a time.

But Mrs. Demharter said it was out of frustration over not being able to communicate.

"She couldn't communicate with us and we couldn't communicate with her," Mrs. Demharter said. "Nineteen years ago, people admitted to state institutions stayed. Massillon then was a long-term care institution. We had one social worker then for 2,500 patients. Today we have 21 social workers and the population has been reduced to below 1,300.

"At the time of her admission, I would consider it a correct admission," she said. "Under the concept 19 years ago she was mentally ill because of behavior problems. The same type of behavior today, with more professionals in the field, would not be determined as such but rather an adjustment problem due to her handicap."

Unable to communicate with anyone in the hospital, Nellie turned to reading the Bible in braille and said that she learned the New Testament by heart.

Viet MIAs Still A Bubbling Issue

By JOHN LENGEL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The status of 816 Americans still listed as missing in the Indochina war has become a lingering, bitter issue, complicated by intense personal feelings and big money.

On one side is the Pentagon, wishing to close the books as it did a year after the Korean War and World War II by declaring the missing to be presumed dead and paying death benefits to the heirs.

On the other side are some of the families of the missing, represented chiefly by the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia.

At the war's end, there were more than 1,300 missing men. Since then, about 500 have been declared by the Pentagon to be presumed dead.

The league is propelled by a feeling that the men may still be alive, despite being on the missing list an average of nine years; or a feeling the Pentagon has somehow kept back some critical clue to the men's fate; or a desire for a final international accounting of the missing.

Then, there are charges that the men's relatives are striving to keep them in the missing category only to keep open the money pipeline — an estimated $30 million annually in money and services to the men's survivors.

Persons designated by the missing man draw his annual pay and allowances, tax free, and will continue to do so until his status is changed. Since most of the men were pilots and officers, the individual annual sums can be as high as $35,000.

Recipients can deposit and draw on the war-era savings program which pays 10 per cent interest. Air Force recipients have 90 accounts, in excess of $100,000; one Marine account stands at $289,000. There are low-cost housing and commissary privileges, free household goods storage, housing loan assistance, and one free trip each year on military aircraft to Washington for the league's meeting.

Before you let Congress break up the oil companies, consider the cost.

Soon Congress will vote on a bill that would force the dismemberment of each of America's largest oil companies — breaking them up into several smaller companies.

Each of these smaller units would be responsible for only one phase of the business. Drilling for oil, for example. Or the refining or transporting of it.

The Senators behind the bill argue that the vertically integrated major oil companies are "monopolistic" — that they control too much of the industry and make it harder for smaller companies to compete. Divestiture, say these Senators, will make the industry more competitive.

Standard believes there are some things you should know before you allow them to pass this bill.

First, divestiture of major oil companies has been a subject for debate for years, and the courts have never ruled vertical integration unlawful. In fact, the issue is always open to review in the courts. What no one needs now is for Congress to rule vertical integration unlawful in the oil industry by making a legislative end-run around the normal judicial process.

Second, the idea that the oil industry is monopolistic is simply not true. Why? Because only 35% of our domestic crude oil is produced by the top five oil companies. And over the past ten years, the share of gasoline sales of unbranded marketers has grown from 18% to 30%.

"The sheer statistics," concedes a top Justice Department official, "suggest that this isn't one of our more concentrated industries."

Still another reason for concern over this bill: It will cause oil and gasoline prices to rise higher and faster. Because it will put more middlemen between the oil wells and the refined products.

Dismemberment will also impede the vast flow of money that the oil companies have been putting into the domestic search for new oil. In 1975, this exceeded 13 billion dollars.

Eventually this will make America even more dependent on foreign oil — already a serious problem.

Break up America's major oil companies? First consider the facts, then the cost. Then write your Senators and Representative.

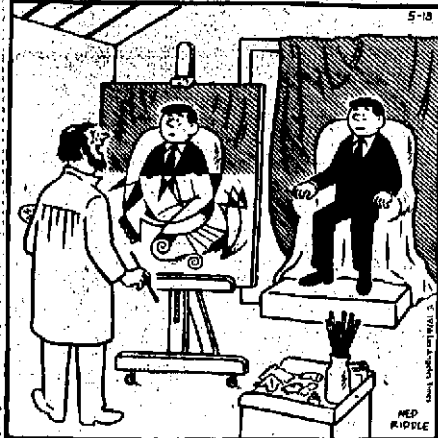

Our job is you.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, May 18th, the 139th day of 1976. There are 227 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1804: Napoleon Bonaparte was proclaimed Emperor of France.

On this date:

In 1890, a Republican convention in Chicago nominated Abraham Lincoln for president.

In 1863, the Civil War siege of Vicksburg, Miss., by Union forces began.

In 1833, the Tennessee Valley Authority was created.

In 1941, in World War II, Italian forces in Ethiopia surrendered to the Allies.

In 1951, the United Nations moved from Lake Success, N.Y., to its new headquarters in Manhattan.

In 1974, India set off its first atomic blast, becoming the world's sixth nuclear power.

Ten years ago: Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara proposed that every young man in the United States give two years of service to his country.

Five years ago: The U.S. Congress ended a nation-wide railroad strike by granting sugarmen a wage increase and ordering their walkout to end until at least the first of October.

One year ago: Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger announced the number of casualties in the U.S. rescue of the merchant ship Mayaguez from Cambodian captors: Three American marines and two airmen killed, 18 other Americans missing and 70 to 80 wounded.

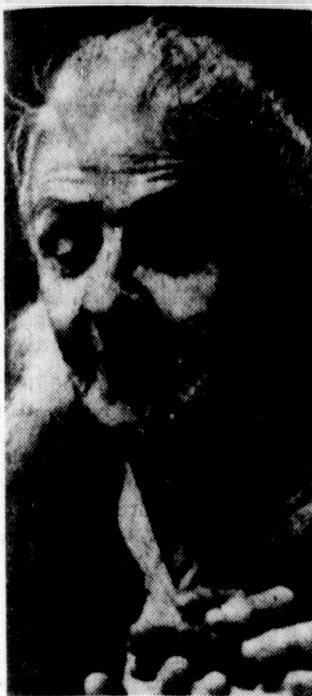

Today's birthdays: Singer, Perry Como is 63, Ballerina Margot Fonteyn is 57.

Thought for today: Napoleon did supremely well many things that it was supremely ill to do — Herbert Samuel, English Liberal leader, 1870-1963.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Gen. John Sullivan wrote to Gen. George Washington from Albany, N.Y., that some Continental officers had applied for pay for military companies which did not exist or were sharply reduced in numbers.

Japanese Question 130

TOKYO (AP) — Justice Minister Osamu Inaba said today that public prosecutors have questioned 130 persons so far in connection with the Lockheed bribery scandal. Inaba told reporters the investigators are not overlooking the possibility of some "big names" being involved, but he declined to say if they might include government officials. Replying to a newsman's question, Inaba said he had not heard of any developments on the ministry's request for U.S. questioning of Americans allegedly connected with the scandal. Lockheed Aircraft Corp. executives told a U.S. Senate committee that the company spent $12 million in Japan to promote sales.

NELLIE ZIMMERMAN

Nellie's Pleas Unanswered For 19 Years

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Nellie Zimmerman — blind, deaf and with just a year of formal education — recalled that day so many years before.

"I thought I was going to Aultman Hospital for a blood test and then to a home for the blind in Canton," she remembered in sign language, letter by letter, word by word. "But they took me to Massillon and kept me there for 19 years."

Today, in her 70th year, she is free of the mental institution at last, living in a Canton boarding home. Institution officials said she would never have been admitted under current concepts.

Her life has been one of anguish and deprivation. Born in Braddock, Pa., blind and deaf by the time she was 10, with only one year of formal education, she moved to Canton at 13, was shunted aside from relatives' homes to rest homes for the next 40 years, then entered Massillon State Hospital.

Her long white hair pulled back, her serene face hiding the bitterness inside her, she clasped the hands of James Schneek, who spelled into her palms the sign language she can't see.

Schneek, a University of Akron student who had been visiting with Nellie for three years, formed a group from the school's Advisory Board for the Deaf which successfully obtained her release April 23.

Nellie, who is receiving aid from civic organizations and societies for the deaf, said she faces many problems on the outside. Her companions, she said, don't seem to understand her, but she added, "I am much happier here."

Claimed Black Panther Gets Prison For Robbery

An alleged member of the Black Panthers was sentenced yesterday in Berrien Circuit court to 15 to 30 years in prison for the armed robbery of a Niles township gun shop.

Judge Julian E. Hughes imposed the sentence on Blair James Anderson, 24, of Chicago, for armed robbery. He was charged with robbing James Kehrer of about $13,000 worth of shotguns, rifles, and handguns and about $1,000 cash with a sawed-off shotgun Dec. 4. Kehrer is the owner of Kehrer Gun shop, at 3405 North Fifth street, Niles township.

In handing out the sentence for armed robbery, which carries a maximum of life imprisonment, Hughes noted a recommendation from the prosecutor's office which cited Anderson's cooperation.

Anderson's counsel, Atty. James Jesse, said Anderson is a member of the Black Panther party and also affiliated with the Chicago street gang "Blackstone Rangers."

Before the sentence was imposed, Anderson told Hughes of growing up in a deprived neighborhood where he was taught to respect pimps, toughs, and gangsters, and had no other goals in life. But he said he has since taught himself to read and felt he could still be "an asset to society," adding he hoped to study sociology in prison to help youngsters who may be going in the same direction he had.

In other sentences by Hughes: Ray A. Bender, 43, of 488 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, was sentenced to 12 to 23 years in prison for assault with intent to murder. He assaulted Elmore Harris with a shotgun Feb. 21 at 104 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor.

Timothy L. Simms, 25, of 1082 Highland avenue, Benton Harbor, drew a three-year probation, with the first three months in jail, for attempted larceny in a building—the attempted theft of 32 cases of pop from the R.C. Cola warehouse at 1202 Territorial, Benton township. Simms was also assessed $250 fine and costs. Ricky A. Welsh, 17, of 220 Huron street, Buchanan, was placed on three years probation, with the first 90 days in jail, and assessed $300 fine and costs for larceny in a building—the theft of a TV, radio, stereo, and camera from the residence of John C. Connors, at 904 Regent street, Niles.

Andy A. Layman, 27, of Eau Claire, was placed on two years probation, with the first 15 weekends in jail, and ordered to pay $600 fine and costs for a no contest plea to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Layman was charged with shooting Roy Hildebrand with a pistol Feb. 8 at the Sportsman's bar in Berrien Springs. In arraignments before Hughes: Brian Shepardsen, of 1857

Ricky E. Britton, 30, of 300 1/2 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to a charge of possession of marijuana, second offense, Feb. 11 in St. Joseph. Jonathan S. Baker, 19, and William B.

Baker, 23, both of Union Pier, both pleaded guilty to receiving and concealing stolen property—an electric heater, lamps, and radio—stolen from a cottage at 15911 Lake avenue, Union Pier, on April 14.

PAW PAW — The Van Buren prosecutor has dropped charges filed against a Kendall man in connection with the reported theft of radios from two vehicles parked in front of a Paw Paw bar March 30.

Charges of breaking and entering a motor vehicle and receiving and concealing stolen property against James Carl Lawson Jr., 34, CR-388, Kendall, were dropped after Lawson took a lie detector test, a spokesman from the prosecutor's office said yesterday.

Lawson was one of three men arrested after radios were taken March 30 from two vehicles outside Mitchell's tavern.

Also arrested, and still awaiting trial, are brothers Johnnie Kennedy, 27, and Loney Kennedy, 24, both of rural Bangor.

They are each charged with two counts of breaking and entering a motor vehicle and receiving and concealing stolen property.

A Stevensville man was sentenced to prison Monday in Berrien Circuit court for a marijuana-related charge. But the prison term wasn't imposed for possession or delivery—it was for stealing the "grass" from another man.

Sentenced to 6 years and 8 months in 10 years in prison by Judge Chester J. Byrnes was Richard L. Hopkins, 24, of 854 Thornton drive. He was sentenced for larceny from a person.

Hopkins on April 18 stole a bag containing about one-half ounce of marijuana from another man at the Lincoln township park. The other man was not charged for possessing the marijuana.

Lie Test Passed; He's Free

PAW PAW — The Van Buren prosecutor has dropped charges filed against a Kendall man in connection with the reported theft of radios from two vehicles parked in front at a Paw Paw bar March 30.

Charges of breaking and entering a motor vehicle and receiving and concealing stolen property against James Carl Lawson Jr., 34, CR-388, Kendall, were dropped after Lawson took a lie detector test, a spokesman from the prosecutor's office said yesterday.

Lawson was one of three men arrested after radios were taken March 30 from two vehicles outside Mitchell's tavern.

Also arrested, and still awaiting trial, are brothers Johnnie Kennedy, 27, and Loney Kennedy, 24, both of rural Bangor.

They are each charged with two counts of breaking and entering a motor vehicle and receiving and concealing stolen property.

Prison For Pot Thief

A Stevensville man was sentenced to prison Monday in Berrien Circuit court for a marijuana-related charge. But the prison term wasn't imposed for possession or delivery—it was for stealing the "grass" from another man.

Sentenced to 6 years and 8 months to 10 years in prison by Judge Chester J. Byrns was Richard L. Hopkins, 24, of 854 Thornton drive. He was sentenced for larceny from a person.

Hopkins on April 18 stole a bag containing about one-half ounce of marijuana from another man at the Lincoln township park. The other man was not charged for possessing the marijuana.

Assassination Files

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate intelligence committee is asking the Justice Department for FBI "assassination files" that may shed more light on American attempts to assassinate Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., a committee member, said Sunday that staff members discovered the file's existence "in just the last week or 10 days." "Atty. Gen. (Edward D.) Levi has been written, asking that those files be produced, and also asking why on earth we were not told about them," Mondale said on CBS' "Face the Nation." Committee staff members said later that they have seen an index to the files, but not the files themselves. The index reveals that the FBI knew about CIA plots against Castro, they said.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Heading Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed higher today in some cautious buying after a week of declines.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks gained a fraction in the early going, and advances outnumbered declines by about a 5-4 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was moderate. Brokers noted that bargain hunters had begun to move tentatively into the market at mid-day Monday.

They said it appeared a good many investors were sitting tight today, awaiting the results of the presidential primary elections in Maryland and Michigan.

Today's early prices included Teledyne, up 1/2 at 56 3/4; Alcoa, unchanged at 53; Continental Oil, ahead 1/8 at 68 3/4; and Franklin Mint, down 1/4 at 32 1/2.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 4.96 loss to 987.64, extending its decline over the past five sessions to nearly 20 points.

The Dow was down more than 7 points at midday before staging its late upswing.

Losers held a 5-3 edge on gainers in the daily tally of NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index slipped 17 to 53.84.

Big Board volume, at 14.72 million shares, was the third lightest of the year.

The American Stock Exchange market value index fell 50 to 104.31.

Food Seminar Scheduled

A seminar for food service owners and managers in Berrien county will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the auditorium, Room D-202, at Lake Michigan college.

V. Harry Adrounie, director of environmental health for the Berrien county health department, said the seminar will provide food service operators with information on various governmental agencies and their relationships to food service operations.

Representatives from the Michigan Department of Public Health, including its Michigan Industrial Occupational Safety and Health Agency (MIOSHA), the Michigan Department of Labor, the Michigan Department of Agriculture, the Michigan Restaurant association and the Berrien County Health department will be attending to help clarify their relationships and regulations with the food service industries in Berrien county.

All food services owners and managers are invited to attend. The seminar is jointly sponsored by Lake Michigan college and the Berrien County Health department.

Public Still Won't Know

WASHINGTON (AP) — Creation of a new Senate committee to monitor U.S. intelligence activities may not ensure that the public will be kept fully informed about what U.S. spy agencies are doing.

During debate Monday on the proposal to create a new intelligence committee, the Senate diluted a provision that would have required publication of unclassified versions of annual reports from the intelligence agencies.

GALIEN SCHOOLS

Service Employees Get Pay Increases

GALIEN — The Galien school board last night ratified a contract with the school bus drivers, cooks and custodians calling for a 5.5 per cent wage increase and board-paid retirement.

The contract with Local 586, Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO, is retroactive to July 1, 1975.

The contract was ratified by the school board following a lengthy executive session last night.

Here's a breakdown of the new contract:

Maintenance custodians who were making $3.02 per hour to start, will now make $3.19 to start.

Fennville Has Five Hopefuls

FENNVILLE — Three people have filed as candidates for election to two, four-year Fennville school board terms while two others are candidates for a one-year board term.

Incumbents Hesche and Mrs. Schermer, and challenger Edholm are all seeking the two, four-year terms, while Kelly and Nye will be vying for the one-year term, according to school officials.

Board Member Barbara Comeau is not seeking re-election.

Merger Rejection Elicits Suit

CLEVELAND (AP) — White Motor Corp., the heavy-duty truck maker whose bid to wed its fortunes with those of White Consolidated Industries, Inc. was called off at the altar, says it will sue the firm it once looked to for financial aid.

The planned action against White Consolidated, along with plans to reduce costs for the financially ailing firm, were revealed Monday at a stockholder's meeting by White Motor chairman and chief executive officer, Semon E. Knudsen.

White Consolidated rejected the merger on May 3. The company said it was canceling merger plans because it was concerned about the financing of White Motor's debt and about possible antitrust action by the U.S. Justice Department. A 1971 attempt to merge the companies was blocked by the Justice Department.

Although White Motor officials would not detail the charges or in what court the suit will be filed, Knudsen said White Consolidated "had no valid reason to call off our deal."

He said he did not believe the Justice Department made any threats to block the merger. He said the agreement with White Consolidated allowed the deal to be called off only if the Justice Department threatened to block the deal.

As for the financing of White Motor's debt, Knudsen said that Consolidated negotiated commitments from 23 banks for a total of $214,975,000 in loans to White Motor — "over $69 million more than our existing bank lines."

A spokesman for White Consolidated retorted that he believes the suit was unfounded. He added that Consolidated was willing to discuss the matter before White Motor commits itself to "prolonged and costly fruitless litigation" which could be followed by a countersuit.

Knudsen said that the planned cutbacks will result in reduced operating costs of $2 million a year and an additional $23 million annual reduction will be in effect by midyear. The company also is studying a $15 million cutback in the future, he said.

At the end of 1975, White Motor had $131 million in long-term debt. The company was hit hard by the business slowdown last year, reporting a net loss of $69.4 million.

Knudsen said, however, that White Motor was profitable in April, with preliminary net income of $3.9 million on sales of $125 million. "This performance indicates to me that the second quarter will be profitable."

He explained that the $23 million cost reduction plan involved "a hard and painful decision...It means the loss of jobs and perhaps the loss of market potential, but we must do it to rationalize our drive for working capital and profits."

Last week, the company announced other cost-saving steps: the moving of its corporate headquarters from downtown Cleveland to a suburb and the closing of its Research Center at Farmington Hills, Mich.

Expert Claims Interest Too High

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — John Wright, the investment advisor, is aware that the economy has made a substantial recovery from the depths of a year ago and he rejoices in the improved living conditions this has meant for Americans.

But he is outraged too. He is appalled at the complacency with which some officials accept a 7.5 per cent jobless rate. He is mystified why some Americans, including perhaps the chairman of the Federal Reserve, feel interest rates have sunk very low.

Overall, he is angry that some officials are beginning to fear the economy has advanced so far that it is time to raise interest rates and begin putting on the brakes. This he views as insanity.

"Interest rates," he commented a few days ago, "are in fact actually at or above the levels which caused all of the prior post-war recessions: in 1960-61, 1957-58, 1953-54 and 1948-49."

As he views the economy, the mystery "is not the 'low' level of interest rates, but rather the unprecedented sluggishness of a 'recovery' which has not yet reduced unemployment significantly below even the highest level recorded before the 1974-75 recession."

He notes also that the recovery "has not yet restored utilization of productive capacity to even those levels which, in the past, marked the lowest rate of productivity during recessionary periods."

Wright operates Wright Bankers' Service, highly regarded by managers of bank trusts and other institutional portfolios who, in all, handle many hundreds of millions of dollars of investment funds.

Contrary to the widely held belief that high interest rates curtail an economy that is growing too fast, Wright maintains that high interest rates are themselves a cause of inflation and economic destruction.

"Just how high this barrier has become is clear enough to the citizen who finds that it costs him 50 per cent more to pay for a house with a 30-year, $35,000 mortgage at 9 per cent than at 5 per cent," he commented in a report to clients this week.

The difference between the monthly payments of $282 and $188 adds up to almost another $35,000 for total mortgage payments, he noted, adding this conclusion:

It could scarcely be more obvious that the high cost of money is by far the most serious impediment to economic recovery and the greatest inflationary element in our economy today.

Wright argues that our concepts about monetary policy are old-fashioned and incorrect. "Clear thinking and modern knowledge should be applied," he said. "We need good thinking to accomplish our national goals."

The Federal Reserve is said to be thinking of nudging interest rates higher in fears that the recovery will get out of hand and lead to more inflation. And that, Wright preaches, is precisely wrong.

He maintains that the money supply shouldn't be manipulated to control short-term interest rates, thus changing the course of the economy, but should be maintained at a stable level sufficient to encourage expansion.

WARNINGS ON RENTAL CAR INSURANCE

If you are among the millions who will be renting a car this summer, or anytime in the future, do you know what types of insurance are provided under your rental car contract? Whether your insurance is adequate for you? Have you read the terms of your rental agreement, plus the fine print on the contract's reverse side?

The three basic types of financial protection, you, the driver of a rented car, need were outlined in yesterday's column, plus the options you have as a regular renter or an occasional one.

To continue, if there is more than one driver of a rented car or if additional passengers are to be traveling in your rented car, you would be wise to check that all are covered for accidental injury. Such coverage may be available under the auto liability policy or under the special accident insurance which the rental agency makes available for an extra charge.

WARNING: The insurance provided by the rental car company may be only secondary coverage, with your personal automobile insurance policy serving as primary coverage. This means that if you're in an accident, your personal policy would be exhausted before any benefits would be available under the rental car company's insurance.

This arrangement is not common among the larger, nationwide rental companies, but check it out, particularly if you're not familiar with the company you are dealing with.

Even though the rental contract and its insurance provisions give you entirely adequate coverage both for liability and your own injuries, there are special restrictions on the use of the car which could invalidate the coverage.

For instance, most contracts require that all persons driving the car be currently licensed and at least 21 years old. Also, if any persons other than the renter plan to drive the vehicle, these additional drivers should be listed on the rental contract.

WARNING: Under a few contracts, insurance could be invalidated if even a parking-lot attendant handles the car.

Another factor which might affect the insurance coverage under a rental car contract is your destination. Other common restrictions prohibit the use of the rented car for hire, either to transport persons or property, or in any race or speed contest. Propelling, pushing or towing other vehicles often is forbidden, as is any illegal use of the auto.

WARNING: Read the restrictions listed on the reverse of the contract. For example, would your coverage be canceled if you drove the car over a state line?

It is essential that you return the car to the rental agency on or before the time indicated on the contract. Some companies may allow up to 48 hours "grace," but after that time, the car is considered stolen property and you are flouting with arrest. For practical purposes the insurance coverage provided in the rental contract may be considered void if you keep it beyond the return date.

WARNING: If you must keep the car longer than the contract return date, contact the agency to make special arrangements.

If you are traveling to foreign countries, you will meet special problems. A driver involved in an accident in Canada may face arrest unless he can show his auto insurance is adequate. Most insurance representatives can provide you with a card to show Canadian officials that you have adequate coverage. You need similar proof, usually furnished by the rental company.

Agent's Troubles Pile Up In Court

An insurance agent, accused of two criminal charges of converting policy payments to his own use, also faces three civil suits in Berrien Fifth District court over insurance policies.

Joseph K. Weimann, 30, of 2917 West Marquette Woods road, Stevensville, demanded examinations Monday on two counts of larceny by conversion over $100. He was freed on bonds of $4,000.

Weimann is accused in warrants of accepting money for auto insurance policies and not turning the money over to the insurance company.

Complainants in the criminal case are Diane Watts, St. Joseph, and Julius Borah, Benton Harbor.

Plaintiffs in the civil suits filed yesterday against Weimann are:

John and Virginia Harris, of 147 Washington, Hartford, who seek $80 which they charge was paid to Weimann for a policy payment. They claim the policy was cancelled later because of nonpayment.

Kenneth and Alice Leonard, of 438 Packard, Benton Harbor, seek $100. They claim that they purchased insurance for their car but found that the insurance was for a motorcycle, according to the suit.

Teddy Perkey, of 558 Midway drive, Benton township, is suing Weimann for $239 which was allegedly paid to the agent for a policy that was never received.

Dowagiac School Races Attract 6

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac school district residents will have six candidates to choose from in the annual June 14 election to fill three school board seats.

To be filed are two, four-year terms and a single two-year term, according to school officials.

Filing candidate petitions before yesterday's 4 p.m. deadline were incumbents Wilton W. Wyman Jr., Dutch Settlement street, and Richard Sifford, 519 Main street, both of Dowagiac; Donald Willming, route 3, Dowagiac; James D. Foch, route 2, Eau Claire; Ned Sutherland, 403 Main street, Dowagiac; and Antoinette Morrison, route 7, Dowagiac.

School officials said incumbent Kirby Dean Smith did not file for re-election.

Three of the candidates filed petitions as candidates for both two-year and four-year terms. They were Wyman, Sutherland and Sifford, school officials said.

Those three candidates will have until 4 p.m. Thursday to withdraw one set of petitions and declare themselves in the running for either a two-year or four-year term.

If a candidate fails to make a decision by the deadline, school officials said in quoting state election commission authorities, his candidacy for any of the board seats will be declared null and void.

Of the other candidates, Willming is seeking a two-year term, and Foch and Mrs. Morrison, four-year terms.

This newspaper inadvertently spelled the name of Foch as Fouch in Saturday editions.

Burglars Get Over $1,000 At BH Elks Club

More than $1,000 in cash was reported stolen from a wall safe Monday at Benton Harbor Elks Lodge 544, Kerlikowski road, Hagar township, state police of the Benton Harbor just said. Troopers said a door to the lodge was forced open and the door pried off the safe. Also reported stolen in addition to the $1,251.17 were two books of lottery tickets and a $30 calculator.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said an investigation into a burglary reported at a Pipestone township golf course resulted in the arrest of a young Maine man.

Bruce Dustin, owner of the Pipestone Creek Golf course, 6788 Naomi road, Pipestone township, discovered the break in about 8 a.m. Deputies said food items, men's socks, beer and soda pop and $19.93 in cash were reported stolen after a door was forced open.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Robert Louis Levasseur, 18, Auburn, Maine. Deputies said he was reportedly staying with friends in the Twin Cities area.

Benton township police said they discovered a break-in early today at the Joker's Club, Paw

Paw avenue and Riverside road, when they responded to a silent burglar alarm.

It was undetermined if anything was stolen, police reported. The alarm was reported at about 1:25 a.m. Police said the front door to the club was pried open.

Township police said a CB radio, valued at $85, was reported stolen Monday from the pickup of Gary Sherwood, 479 Kiblick drive, parked in his driveway.

Two young Benton Harbor men were arrested by city police Monday on charges of attempted breaking and entering after a woman reported three youths were trying to break into the home of her neighbor.

Booked at the Berrien county jail were Andrew Dean Henderson, 17, of 728 Pearl street, and Eric Randolph Sanders, Jr., 17, of 362 Britain avenue. The attempted burglary was reported shortly before 1 p.m. at the home of Hannah Grams, 741 Payne street. Police said it appeared that the door locking was broken in the effort to gain entry.

Benton Harbor police said two men's suits were reported stolen from the J.C. Penney store, 184 East Main street, by a man who ran from the store after first inquiring about a layaway.

Robert Scaletta, store manager, told police he chased the man for several blocks but lost him after the man threw the suits away. Police said the suits were not found.

Scaletta said the incident occurred about 3:15 p.m. and the suits were valued at $95 each. Police said a second man who appeared to be waiting by the door was detained by store employees, but broke free and fled, breaking glass in a front door.

State police of the Benton Harbor post reported they went across the street from their post to the Ramada Inn to arrest two men after receiving a complaint that glass had been broken in the front door of the inn.

Booked on a charge of vandalism was Dale Duane Spitzer, 26, of 5610 Dennis street, Stevensville. Booked on a charge of drunk and disorderly was David Waincoat, 18, of 4862 Michigan avenue, Stevensville. The police post is at 787 Ferguson drive, Benton township. Ramada Inn is across the street.

Buchananite Asks Hearing In Court

NILES.—Terry Pettie, 22, of 304 Arctic street, Buchanan, demanded preliminary examination when arraigned in Fifth District court here yesterday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Pettie, arrested Sunday at his home in Buchanan, was charged in connection with a May 1 scuffle in the parking lot of a Niles department store in which two employees said they received minor injuries after attempting to stop an alleged shoplifter.

Judge John Iwanuk set examination for Pettie for Tuesday, May 25, at 8 a.m. He was released after posting a $2,000 bond. Robert Griffith, manager, and Lee Cox, a security guard at the Wonderland department store, 402 North Front street, Niles, told police they received minor cuts while scuffling in the store parking lot on May 1 with a man who had allegedly walked from the store with an auto antenna without paying for it. The two employees said the man fled on foot after the fight.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Burglars Get Over $1,000 At BH Elks Club

More than $1,000 in cash was reported stolen from a wall safe Monday at Benton Harbor Elks Lodge 544, Kerlikowske road, Hagar township, state police of the Benton Harbor post said. Troopers said a door to the lodge was forced open and the door pried off the safe. Also reported stolen in addition to the $1,251.17 were two books of lottery tickets and a $30 calculator.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said investigation into a burglary reported at a Pipestone township golf course resulted in the arrest of a young Maine man.

Bruce* Dustin, owner of the Pipestone Creek Golf course, 6788 Naomi road, Pipestone township, discovered the break-in about 8 a.m. Deputies said food items, men's socks, beer and soda pop and $19.93 in cash were reported stolen after a door was forced open.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Robert Louis Leveseur, 18, Auburn, Maine. Deputies said he was reportedly staying with friends in the Twin Cities area.

Benton township police said they discovered a break-in early today at the Joker's Club, Paw

Paw avenue and Riverside road, when they responded to a silent burglar alarm. It was undetermined if anything was stolen, police reported. The alarm was reported at about 1:25 a.m. Police said the front door to the club was pried open.

Township police said a CB radio, valued at $85, was reported stolen Monday from the pickup of Gary Sherwood, 478 Kublick drive, parked in his driveway.

Two young Benton Harbor men were arrested by city police Monday on charges of attempted breaking and entering after a woman reported three youths were trying to break into the home of her neighbor.

Booked at the Berrien county jail were Andrew Dean Henderson, 17, of 728 Pearl street, and Proc Randolph Sanders, Jr., 17, of 352 Britain avenue. The attempted burglary was reported shortly before 1 p.m. at the home of Hannah Grams, 741 Pavone street. Police said it appeared that the door molding was broken in the effort to gain entry.

Benton Harbor police said two men's suits were reported stolen from the J.C. Penney store, 164 East Main street, by a man who ran from the store after first inquiring about a lay-away.

Robert Scaletta, store manager, told police he chased the man for several blocks but lost him after the man threw the suits away. Police said the suits were not found.

Scaletta said the incident occurred about 3:15 p.m. and the suits were valued at $95 each. Police said a second man who appeared to be waiting by the door was detained by store employees, but broke free and fled, breaking glass in a front door.

State police of the Benton Harbor post reported they went across the street from their post to the Ramada Inn to arrest two men after receiving a complaint that glass had been broken in the front door of the inn.

Booked on a charge of vandalism was Dale Duane Spitzer, 20, of 5610 Dennis street, Stevensville. Booked on a charge of drunk and disorderly was David Wainwright, 19, of 4862 Michigan avenue, Stevensville. The police post is at 797 Ferguson drive, Benton township. Ramada Inn is across the street.

Hobbyists Turn To Computers

By RHONDA SEEGAL
Associated Press Writer
BURLINGTON, Mass. (AP) — "One day at school I saw this funny-looking thing with blinking lights," said 17-year-old Roger Walker of his first encounter with the nation's newest hobby: the digital computer.

"I dropped in to see what it was, then I just kept coming back. I really got hooked on it," added Walker.

Computers — for a long time highly sophisticated and vastly expensive machines requiring platoons of technicians, programmers, mathematicians and engineers to run — now are being sold and used by amateurs. It's happening just the way ham radios and high-fidelity sets passed into the hands of hobbyists of earlier generations.

The nation's first electronic computer, developed at the University of Pennsylvania's Moore school in the 1940s, took several years to build and cost close to $20 million. But technological developments have made it possible to build an equivalent computer for as little as $700.

The advance which makes possible hobby computers is the "microprocessor," a device which does everything the room-sized original at the University of Pennsylvania could do — yet fits on the area of a fingernail and is only millimeters thick.

"This hobby didn't exist five years ago," said Douglas Callahan, 35, a network radio technician in Boston. "Except for the very wealthy, no one had them in his house."

"We used to consider ourselves fortunate when freshmen had calculus. Now we are getting students who have already built their own computers," said Peter Jessel, a computer scientist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge.

These small, inexpensive and versatile computers can be used for many things, from playing games to solving very technical problems.

"You can connect the computers to your television to play video games, like ping-pong, or you can connect it to a speaker to play music," Jessel explained.

Walker uses his to grade students' tests.

Geoffrey Feldman, 24, a freelance engineer from Amherst, says he's pursuing more sophisticated goals.

"I dropped out of school, and I'm using the computer to educate myself. I'm getting about 10 times the education for the cost," Feldman says.

"Electronic music is getting very involved, and the computer can take over some of the work," he explains. "I had known people were making microprocessors, and I knew it was just a matter of time before the prices began to drop."

Until recently, inexpensive computer equipment was not readily available to the general public. But now Massachusetts hobbyists have their own specialty shop, "The Computer Store," here.

Sidney Halligan, 45, and Dick Brown, 43, are owners of the store, one of about a dozen computer hobbyshops in the nation.

"With the low cost and the availability of these computers, they are going to be as much a part of everyday life as the toaster," Halligan believes. "The younger people are going to be in the computer age whether they like it or not."

"Now that there are low-cost computers, the pressure is mounting to develop programs to do domestic tasks," said Dr. Steve Ward, an MIT professor.

"They have become cheap enough so that we can expect them to have a serious impact on household management within the next decade."

Halligan's customers, ranging from age 10 to 65, can buy all kinds of computer parts, including the processing unit, the memory, and connections to hook computers to items already in the home. Halligan says an entire system runs from $700 to $1,200. When completed it looks like a small box and can sit on a table.

"The 'biggies' are starting to catch up to this thing," Feldman adds, referring to the computer "kits" being sold by large computer firms, including Intel, Signetics and MOS Technology.

"It's an exploding marketplace," says a spokesman for Intel, the nation's largest producer of microprocessors. Intel's sales last year totaled $137 million.

Intel sells two kinds of kits with various parts and instructions needed to build a home computer. One, minus a power supply, costs $350; the other $495.

Halligan and Brown also sell the computer hobbyist magazine, BYTE, and display information about the New England Computer Society, a hobbyists' club.
